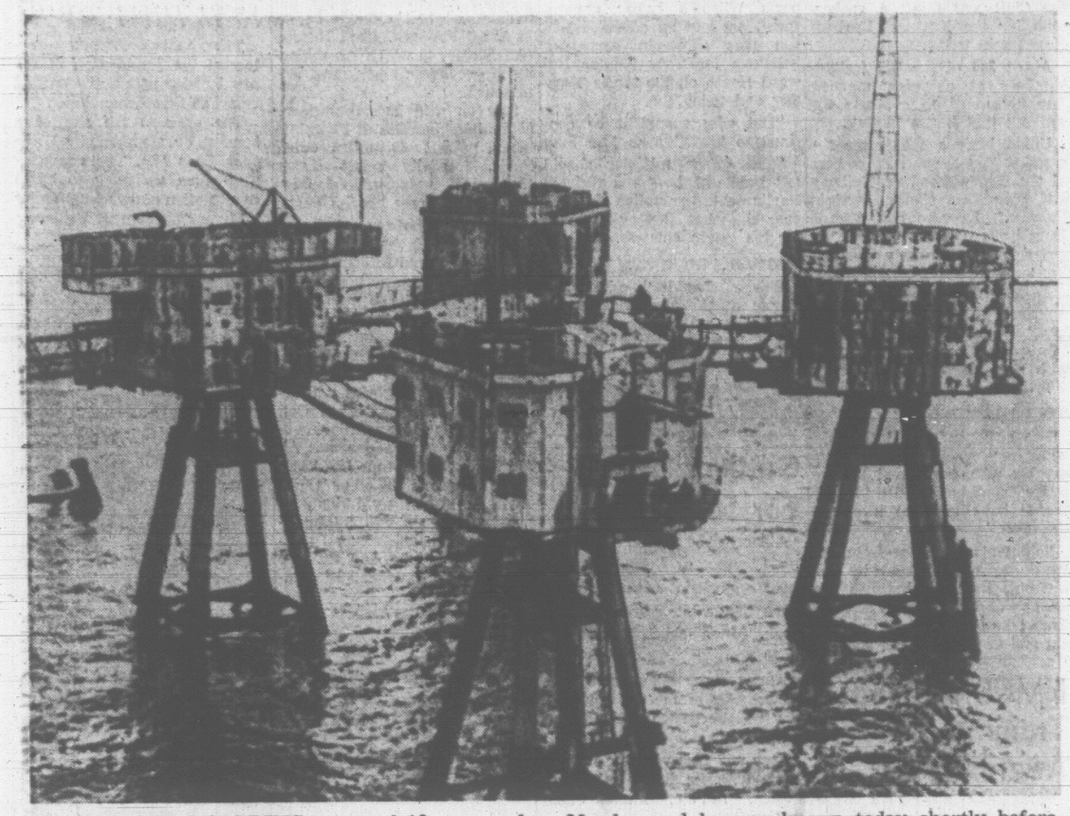
Raiders Seize Radio; Owner Shot



MYSTERIOUS BOARDING party of 10 men and a woman seized this pirate station, Radio City, which operates from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, in the Thames estuary, 12 miles off the British coast. The incident occured Monday and became known today shortly before its owner, Reg Calvert, was found slain at the home of another pirate station owner, Maj. William Smedley, who has been charged with murder. (AP Wirephoto.)

U.K. Businessman Charged in Murder

LONDON (AP)—A leading British politician-businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice-president of the Liberal party and a private radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Smedley, 54, is chairman of Project Atlanta, an organization associated with the pirate radios which broadcast from just outside British waters to evade the government ban on commercial radio broadcasting.

A few hours before police announced Calvert's death, it was learned that a boarding party of 10 men and a girl had taken over his station Monday and were still holding it.

The raiders and the station's seven-man staff stood on the deck of the fort early today and talked to reporters in a tug below. Said one bearded raider:

"We were hired to do a job and we are doing it. After that ask the bosses."

Paul Elvey, electrical engineer in charge of the station, said:

"I was awakened by their torches (flashlights) flashing. I got up and asked 'What the hell is going on?' It looked all set for a right old punch up.

"The raiders had grappling irons and rocket lines. They looked as though they were ready to take us apart.

"There was nothing we could do. They were a tough-looking crowd and it's frightening to have men running all over the place when you don't know what it's all about.

"One of the pirates pushed me, saying, 'We're in charge now.'

"They took the crystals out of the transmitters and we haven't been able to send out a bleep since."

The raiders were believed to have been sent by a businessman claiming to have supplied transmitting equipment to the station.

Calvert bought the station from Screaming Lord Sutch, a pop singer who started it more than a year ago. It was supposed to merge next month with station UKGM (United Kingdom Good Music).

Hanoi Rejects New Viet Peace Drives

NEW YORK (AP)—The Times says today that North Viet Nam is reported to have rejected a U.S. proposal to open peace talks while both sides reduce military activities in Viet Nam.

Communist officials have told foreign diplomats in Hanoi that the U.S. bid was another "peace offensive fraud" perpetrated by the Johnson administration, the newspaper says in a dispatch from Hong Kong.

The Times dispatch, which quotes reliable reports reaching American sources in Hong Kong, said:

As prerequisite to negotiations, Hanoi is demanding that the United States unconditionally stop bombing North Viet Nam, but the Communist regime is not prepared to commit itself to diminish the number of troops and supplies it sends to the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

HOPE FOR COLLAPSE

"The impression of diplomats stationed in Hanoi is that the North Vietnamese are still determined to prosecute the war, in the hope that the Saigon government will collapse politically or that President Johnson's administration will be compelled to withdraw U.S. troops under pressure from public opinion at home."

The Times says the U.S. offer was conveyed to North Viet Nam through the ambassadorial talks in Warsaw between the United States and China, through Eastern European channels, and presumably, by Chester Ronning, the special Canadian envoy who recently had three days of talks with North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh in Hanoi.

Ronning returned to Ottawa during the weekend and Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy flew to the Canadian capital Tuesday, presumably to be briefed on Ronning's report.

Canadian officials said Bundy met with External Affairs ...n

No Progress In Ottawa Says U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. state department made clear today that recent peace overtures to Hanoi—including one by Canada—have made no progress.

A spokesman said as far as the U.S. government is aware, North Viet Nam's attitude continues to be the harsh line expressed last Jan. 24 in a letter from President Ho Chi Minh to various world leaders.

This discouraging statement was issued by the department after William P. Bundy, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far East affairs, returned from talks with Canadian officials in Ottawa.

Buddhist Chief Ends Fasting

SAIGON (UPI) — South Viet Nam's political crisis took a sharp turn for the better today.

Militant Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang ended his 15-day-old hunger strike, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky temporarily lifted his four-day siege of the Vie Hoa Dao Pagoda and Tri Quang made up with moderate Buddhist leader Thich Tam Chau in a sea of smiles.

NEW CHIEF of Canadian defence staff as of July 16 will be Lt.-Gen. Jean Victor Allard, 53, left, it was announced in Ottawa today. He will succeed Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, 58, right, head of the defence staff since it was integrated Aug. 1, 1964, who will retire. Gen. Allard, a native of Quebec, will be the first French-speaking defence chief in Canada's history. He will be promoted to general when he takes over command.

National Crisis Stage in Britain

LONDON (CP) — Britain's maritime strike has brought the country to a state of national crisis, Prime Minister Wilson told Parliament today. The strike is in its 38th day.

Wilson was explaining the government's use of emergency powers in 12 major ports to relieve congestion and keep exports moving.

At the same time, he promised to back up, in a statement to the House of Commons next week, his charges Monday that an exclusive group is putting pressure on leaders of the National Union of Seamen to keep the strike going. It has been assumed almost universally that Wilson was pointing the finger at British Communists.

The government took its first action under emergency powers today by setting up emergency committees at 12 ports to ensure the movement of essential supplies.

The committees' powers initially will be confined to diversion of ships from one port to another to ease growing congestion caused by the seamen's strike.

The emergency powers, assumed by the government a month ago to deal with effects of the strike, expire at midnight tonight. But Prime Minister Wilson has announced he will seek their extension today, with slight technical modifications.

RCMP Raid SIU Offices

MONTREAL (UPI) — RCMP investigators, armed with a court order, today entered Montreal offices of the Seafarers International Union, seizing records and searching other union papers.

Superintendent J. R. R. Carriere said the dozen plainclothsmen "were making an investigation into a certain matter" of the union. He refused to elaborate, but indicated other SIU locals also may be involved in the probe.

Florida City Hit By Negro Rioters

Police Stoned; Windows Smashed

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Another mob of about 600 Negroes stormed into the streets of Pompano Beach again today, renewing the riots that broke out here during the night.

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes rioted early today, throwing rocks and bottles at police, stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set afire and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the over-all damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were three reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes.

The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10 - year - old Negro boy. The store owner, Arthur M. Marks, 42, was charged with assault and battery and released on $50 bond. The boy was unidentified.

IN COURT BEFORE DAWN

Municipal Judge Harry Fischer, called out of bed, held court at 3:30 a.m. for the 24 arrested Negroes and the store owner, Marks. He increased Marks' bond to $500 and ordered him to appear in court next Monday for arraignment on charges of assault and battery.

Twenty-two Negroes charged with unlawful assembly and disorderly conduct were released on bonds of $80 for married men and $160 for single men.

Another Negro, who identified himself as Rev. Ernest Thomas, was released on his own recognizance after claiming to be a part-time preacher. Thomas, a full-time laborer, said he was awakened by the noise of the riot, went outside to investigate and was arrested.

There has been occasional rock throwing in this area, but the riot was the first serious trouble. There are huge vegetable farms in the vicinity and Negro laborers make up a large percentage of the population.

Muttering crowds gathered at the store at closing time and the owner asked for police protection. Civic leaders asked the Negroes to leave. Most did, only to return later.

The crowd grew to 600 late in the evening and the mood worsened as the number of police grew.

Teen - agers jeered officers, cracked jokes and swigged soft drinks, pitching the bottles at passing cars when they finished.

By midnight, a six-block section of the main street, Hammondville Road, was solid with patrol cars, their red and blue lights flashing.

Reinforcements from the highway patrol, the sheriff's office and the Fort Lauderdale riot squad built the police force to 100.

The serious trouble began when the officers were given the order to break up the crowds.

"Go home before you get hurt," officers yelled from beneath the plastic face masks on their riot helmets.

As police moved in with billy clubs and tear gas guns ready, the Negroes disappeared into the shadows of the dimly lit street. Then a shower of rocks and bottles sailed out of the darkness.

Viet Withdrawal Not Vital to Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government said today it is not insistent on the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam as a precondition for an agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons' ownership.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the Soviet Union has never made an American troop withdrawal a prerequisite for an agreement.

It said American news agencies had put such an interpretation on a speech made in Geneva, Switzerland, June 4 by the chief Soviet delegate to the disarmament conference, Alexei Roshchin.

N.B. DOUBLES SALES TAX

FREDERICTON (CP)—A bill doubling New Brunswick's sales tax to six per cent from three per cent received third reading in the legislature Tuesday amid a bellow of nay votes from the Progressive Conservative opposition.

"The people will not swallow this $18,000,000 tax pill," declared Opposition Leader C. B. Sherwood as the opposition voted against final reading for the bill, an amendment to the Social Services and Education Tax Act. It is expected to receive royal assent today.

Premier Louis J. Robichaud said earlier the tax increase will go into effect Jan. 1, along with other major phases of the Liberal government's municipal reform program.

The province raised an estimated $14,500,000 from the three per cent sales tax last year. The six per cent tax is expected to bring in $18,000,000 to $32,000,000.

The tax will be applied to children's clothing and footwear for the first time and the government will pay a rebate of at least $4 a year for each child up to the age of 18 eligible for family allowances.

Two in Helicopter Down in North B.C.

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—RCAF planes from Winnipeg and Comox searched today for a helicopter with two men aboard in northeastern B.C. The two-passenger Hiller Helicopter, owned by Okanagan Helicopters, was reported overdue Tuesday night on a two-hour, 15-minute flight from here to a camp 180 miles northeast.

On board were pilot Paul Csupor of Toronto and engineer Wally Boyle of Burnaby, B.C.

CO-OPERATION IN SPACE

France, Russia to Sign Agreements

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP)—France and the Soviet Union will sign two agreements next week for co-operation in space and in other scientific fields, high French sources said today.

They said the agreements will be signed by Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Maurice Couve de Murville of France. The decision to sign the two agreements was taken today at a meeting between President Charles de Gaulle and top Soviet leaders.

The French president arrived here Monday and began formal talks in the Kremlin Tuesday.

The French sources said one agreement refers to co-operation in space and the other to scientific and technical co-operation in other fields. They gave no details and refused to say whether the space agreement would involve the launching of a French rocket from a Soviet pad.

It was understood that the two sides in their talks today noted their convergence of views on Vietnamese problems.

Informants said de Gaulle was critical of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, while Soviet Communist chief Leonid Brezhnev accused the United States of savage aggression.

Earlier French sources said differing viewpoints had slowed up the opening round Tuesday.

Today's talks are the last before de Gaulle leaves Thurs-

Negro Area Closed Off After White Man Wounded

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) A small Negro neighborhood where Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire Tuesday night remained closed to outsiders today.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price said the area was closed to the press and other non-residents. Price said it was uncertain how long the restriction would continue. First reports had been that the off-limits restriction would be lifted at daybreak today.

"We're not going to have any more of this shooting on either side," Price said.

Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the headquarters of the Freedom Democratic party, a Negro organization.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital and sent home.

Negroes inside the headquarters relayed a report to their offices that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them. They said they returned the fire and thought they hit at least two cars.

At Yazoo City, Dr. Martin Luther King said he would lead the Mississippi civil rights marchers back to Philadelphia armed with "the ammunition of justice . . . the armor of righteousness." A King aide said they probably would return to Philadelphia Thursday.

A hostile crowd of cursing whites hurled firecrackers and insults at King Tuesday when he stood on the Neshoba County courthouse steps here.

It was to commemorate the second anniversary of the slayings of civil rights workers James Chaney, Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner that King came to Philadelphia Tuesday with a contingent from the group continuing the march through Mississippi begun by James H. Meredith.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price—one of the 17 men the federal government claims participated in the slayings of Chaney, Goodman and Schwerner June 21, 1964—tried to block King from mounting the courthouse steps.

"I'm not afraid of any man," King shouted as the heckling and disorder mounted. "Before I will be a slave, I will be dead in my grave."

"We'll help you," screamed several white men.

NEW YORK—They say you can judge a woman by the company she keeps. And for that reason, Zsa Zsa Gabor is glad she was snubbed by the social register.

ZSA ZSA

"I'm delighted they didn't include me," the Hungarian-born actress said when informed she received the cold shoulder in the summer edition of the publication.

"If people knew some of the things I know about women in the social register," she said, "they wouldn't be listed either.

"At least I marry the men I have love affairs with. Some of the social females in the register don't bother to marry their lovers."

The summer edition of the register took no notice of Miss Gabor's recent marriage to Joshua Cosden, a listee in the New York edition of the register who now lives in Dallas.

The summer register normally lists all marriages of listees during the preceding six months. Failure to take note of such marriages usually means the couple will not receive a future listing.

VANCOUVER — The first male residence at the multi-million dollar Simon Fraser University, which opened only last September, has been stolen.

Donald Koenig, a first-year science student, reported the loss of his tent Tuesday.

Koenig said he had been living in the tent hidden in the bushes near the university, built atop nearby Burnaby Mountain.

He "had a ball" living in the bush and attending classes, he said. He estimated the cost of his living at about $1 a day, including meals.

"I definitely recommend camping for students. I hope we can get a regular camp going."

MOSCOW—A Russian dog has survived two and a half years with a transplanted hind leg, it was announced today.

But the leg is furless and too weak to stand on, due to "biological incompatibility of tissues," scientists said. They added, however, that it is still "alive," with blood circulation and nerve sensitivity.

The dog, Bratik (little brother), is believed to have lived longer with a transplanted limb than any other being.

Although scientists stressed that the experiment cannot be tried on humans yet, its partial success appeared to bring closer the day when human transplants can be made.

HALIFAX — Alan Ruffman, an oceanographer who used the ocean to find a wife, said Tuesday he was surprised his novel way of proposing succeeded—but he's going ahead with the marriage anyway.

Alan, a 26-year-old Richmond Hill, Ont., native studying at Dalhousie University, dropped four bottles into the sea last year while working aboard a ship in Hudson Bay.

All contained letters proposing marriage to Linda Christiansen of Mamaroneck, N.Y., working toward a doctorate in sociology at Columbia University in New York.

One of the bottles turned up 11 months later at Cornwall in England, where it was found by Elizabeth Singleton, wife of a Birmingham architect. She passed it on to Linda and received letters June 13 from Alan and Linda saying they were to be married.

NEW CONCORD, Ohio — The mail brought relief, a smile, and tears for Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Boetcher.

The couple, who live near here, received a letter Tuesday from their son, Marine Lance Cpl. Harold E. Boetcher, 19, stationed in Viet Nam.

"I'll be going on an operation," he told them. "It's a pretty good one."

Another letter was from his local draft board, asking his whereabouts and saying he was suspected of dodging induction.

Later, the couple was notified by the defence department that Boetcher had been killed Monday at Chu Lai.

TOKYO—A search by a Honolulu organization for eligible brides has turned up a virtual bonanza in Hiroshima.

James C. Nishi, a prominent Honolulu businessman, contacted Hiroshima officials earlier this month in an attempt to find brides for bachelor members of a Japanese-American organization in Hawaii.

The city officials turned the assignment over to the Hiroshima tourist bureau and the bureau has been swamped with calls, letters and telegrams from eager females ever since.

ARLINGTON, Va.—Bathroom windows in the public health service's rented quarters here are supposed to let those inside look out but keep outsiders from looking in. Employees were embarrassed to discover Tuesday the one-way glass had been installed backwards.

ALDERMAN ASKS STUDY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alderman Reg Atherton said Tuesday there is "feather-bedding" among civic outside workers staff. He recommended a study be made of the efficiency of the 1,500-member staff as well as a review of city services like garbage collecting and street cleaning. His comments came the day the workers returned to their jobs after a 44-day strike.

Murder, Kidnapping Charge in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—A race-track worker was arraigned Tuesday on first-degree murder and kidnapping charges in the shooting death in Renton of Glen S. McDonald, 42, of Port Angeles and Renton, a Longacres owner-trainer.

The worker, Jay T. Elkins, 23, Bothell, was arrested shortly after the Monday shooting. Elkins is charged with McDonald's death and kidnapping Lawrence Verle Frantz, a cab driver.

New Ferry Staff Association Stays Silent

The newly-formed B.C. Ferry Authority Employees Association held a three-hour meeting in Victoria Tuesday.

The only statement issued afterwards said another meeting will be held in Vancouver later today.

Thirty-three representatives of the 500 unlicensed personnel aboard B.C. Ferries attended the meeting, sparked by the employees' rejection of a report last week recommending improved working conditions.

The report was accepted by the cabinet but there has been no comment on the employees' rejection and their call for full collective bargaining rights.

Dominicans Seek Troop Withdrawal

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—The Dominican government is seeking an urgent meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers to set the date for the inter-American peace force to start leaving.

Official sources said Foreign Minister Carlos Federico Perez summoned the Latin American diplomatic corps Tuesday night to ask for a meeting in Washington Friday for the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic sources expressed doubt the ministers could or would meet on such short notice. They believed that Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy knew this but wanted to put his effort on the record.

The decision by the provisional government was believed to have the approval of President-elect Joaquin Balaguer.

The six-nation peace force was created in May, 1965, by the foreign ministers of the OAS after the United States sent 18,000 troops to the Dominican Republic to stop the April, 1965, rebellion. The United States has about 6,800 men in the force, and there are about 1,200 Latin Americans.

It is known that Balaguer is not anxious for full immediate withdrawal of the force.

Rotary Giving Cardioscope To Royal Jubilee

A $1,066 cheque to purchase a cardioscope unit for Royal Jubilee Hospital will be presented to hospital administrator George Masters Thursday by Victoria Rotary Club.

The money, to be turned over at the club's annual installation meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel ballroom, was raised as one of several club projects this year.

At the same meeting the club gavel will be presented to incoming president Dr. Carron Jameson by this year's president Jack Housez. Dr. Jameson takes office July 1.

ister Paul Martin Tuesday night, but would not say what was discussed or who else attended the meeting.

Martin told the House of Commons Tuesday that Canada is involved in Ottawa "and elsewhere" in discussions with other governments on the Viet Nam situation. In a message to a convention in Honey Harbour, Ont., he said that his government was carrying out "quiet soundings" to find a basis for a negotiated peace.

WON'T STATE STAND

Martin declined to say whether Canada supports proposals by UN Secretary-General U Thant that bombing raids be scaled down toward a ceasefire and that all sides actually fighting agree to enter into direct discussions.

He said he discussed these proposals with Thant two weeks ago but felt that it would not help current diplomatic efforts if Canada took a public position on them.

Canada, with India and Poland, is a member of the International Control Commission assigned to Viet Nam by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina.

Meanwhile, it was announced in New York that Thant plans to visit Moscow this summer, probably before the general assembly meets Sept. 20. The Viet Nam war is one of the topics he is expected to discuss with Soviet leaders.

day on a week's tour of four Soviet cities. He will meet once more with the Kremlin leaders in formal talks after returning to Moscow June 29.

The French informant said of Tuesday's conference, "When we talked about detente, they talked about security."

This was understood to apply to de Gaulle's suggestion that other West European states, notably West Germany, hold bilateral talks with the Russians to ease East-West tension in Europe.

The Russians replied that East bloc security was the paramount consideration for them.

HEADS TEAM

Once again today the Russian team was headed by Communist Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev.

The French source said, "when they talk to us about a European conference we reply that this must be an end, not a beginning."

This was a reference to a proposal by Gromyko in April in Rome. He called for a conference of states of Eastern and Western Europe on security questions. His proposed parley would exclude the United States.

It has been opposed in the West, notably in West Germany, because of this exclusion.

The French have said they favor such a conference but have left the question of U.S. participation vague, saying the United States should play its proper role.

There is also a problem of what voice East Germany should have in such a conference. The Russians are expected to insist on a full vote for East Germany.

The French have said East Germany should be included, but not with a full vote.

Cargo Workers 'Pray Out' Pay Dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — Movement of cargo in Montreal harbor has been "seriously affected" by a walkout of 600 freight - handlers employed by the CNR and CPR, a spokesman for the National Harbors Board said today.

About 300 of the 400 freight-handlers at a union meeting Tuesday voted to continue the walkout that began Friday.

Union leaders said after the meeting that the men, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees (CLC), are not on strike, but are merely conducting "study sessions."

Another spokesman said the men are holding "prayer meetings" "and are prepared to "pray it out" until their dispute with the railways concerning overtime pay is resolved.

SHEDS FILLING UP

The spokesman said that the waterfront sheds are filling up quickly with cargo and "if the strike continues much longer they'll have to store it out in the open."

Shipments of wheat from the West are not affected by the walkout, he said, because the wheat was being moved directly from lake ships to grain elevators and then into ocean vessels.

$100 Fine Levied For Carelessness In Fatal Mishap

Gordon Wright, 2854 Peatt Rd., was fined $100 in central court Tuesday for careless driving in a case that involved an accident in which his wife was fatally injured.

In passing sentence Magistrate Ostler emphasized that the conviction and sentence related only to "the nature and quality of the driving" in the mishap, "not the tragic result."

Mr. Wright's wife, Rose, a passenger in the car, died after the auto rammed the rear of another car stopped to make a left turn on the Old Island Highway near Colwood March 26.

U.K. Press Demands PM Name Names

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson today received a curt invitation from British newspapers to name the men he says are behind the seamen's strike.

The Sun, which generally supports Wilson's Labor government, says in an editorial Wilson was right in arranging briefings for Tory Leader Edward Heath on the strike Tuesday and today.

"But why should it be confined to him?" asks The Sun.

"The prime minister should tell Parliament — and through Parliament, the nation and the seamen—what the evidence is for his grave charges.

SHOULD POINT

Wilson should "point the finger at the men he has in mind," says the Conservative Daily Express.

"If, on reflection, he finds that the testimony falls short of proof, then he should say so."

NATO COMMANDS

France Withdraws 1,700 Personnel

PARIS (Reuters)—More than 1,700 French military personnel already are withdrawing from NATO commands in France in line with France's decision to quit the alliance's integrated military system July 1.

NATO sources said today the withdrawal had already begun in Allied Forces Central Europe (AFCENT), to which the majority of the French personnel are attached.

Sources said French officers at the headquarters at Fontainebleau, about 40 miles from Paris, formally eased duties Monday in preparation for returning to purely French posts.

AFCENT, whose responsibility until July 1 includes France's 70,000 troops and 60 combat aircraft stationed in West Germany, has hitherto had 1,700 French military out of a total strength of about 5,000.

Under agreement with France, however, about 30 French personnel of all categories will remain with AFCENT until Oct. 1 to assist in the transition.

At Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE) 60 officers and 70 other ranks formally cease their duties July 1, when France will automatically be excluded from all military planning and training within the integrated commands.

Countries represented in AFCENT are Canada, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Britain and the United States.

AERIAL VIEW shows where several houses on northeast Toronto street lost their gardens Tuesday in slide that took life of one man. At the time of the slide workers were reinforcing the hill to prevent such a mishap. (CP Wirephoto.)

ONE KILLED

Yards Crash Into Ravine

TORONTO (CP)—Five houses stand today precariously at the edge of a 60-foot ravine in east-end Toronto.

Their backyards are a jumbled mass of earth, rock, fence and lawn chairs at the bottom of the ravine.

One man was killed when the backyards broke away Tuesday and slipped into the gorge. Leonard May, 58, was buried under a tree trunk and eight feet of earth.

Five parks employees, working to reinforce the bottom of the slope, were warned by a minor slide and escaped before the backyards came tumbling down. An eight - ton bulldozer was carried 50 yards and a truck was buried to its roof.

TORN FROM EACH OTHER

Maurice Wrightman, 28, a construction foreman, rode the landslide for about 75 yards holding Mr. May before the two men were torn from each others arms by the heaving earth. Mr. Wrightman managed to save himself.

He said the ground collapsed beneath Mr. May as his backyard let go, and he came down the slope riding a section of lawn like a surfboard.

Mr. Wrightman ran over the tumbling earth and managed to grab Mr. May.

"I had him and was holding on to him. Rocks and trees and earth were going down beside us. Then something hit me and we were torn apart."

The ravine, Taylor Creek, is near O'Connor Drive and St. Clair Avenue East. The street running along the ravine, Notley Place, was closed to traffic by police who ordered 10 houses evacuated.

Later, residents of five houses farthest away from the ravine lip were allowed to move back.

VALUED AT $25,000 EACH

The houses were valued at about $25,000 each. John Jenkins, one of the homeowners, said: "My house was worth $25,000 yesterday. Now I doubt if it's worth 20 cents."

The ravine is a conservation area under the Metropolitan Toronto Parks department's authority.

Parks Commissioner T. W. Thompson said Tuesday night it was impossible to say what caused the slide or where responsibility for it lay.

The houses now in the most precarious position, in addition to Mr. May's are those owned by Mr. Jenkins, Sydney Howe and Wilfred Gillard.

Safety officials said the four houses likely will be a total loss. All showed cracks and another slide could tumble them into the ravine.

House Heads For Recess In Two Weeks

OTTAWA (CP) — With the Commons going full blast, MPs on both sides of the House now hope they can start their summer recess in a week or two.

About 20 priority bills remain to be passed before adjournment, but most are non-controversial. Another 35 bills were passed earlier in the session.

The only measures likely to stir up extended debate are medical care insurance and the Bank Act revision, both to be introduced in the next few days.

The bank legislation, expected to abolish the six-per-cent interest ceiling on big loans, is slated to be referred to the finance committee.

The government hopes to pass the medical care bill before the recess, but if a prolonged battle develops, debate will be adjourned until the fall.

The legislation will authorize Ottawa to pay half the cost of provincial insurance plans starting July 1, 1967, and set out minimum standards.

A government informant said the recess likely will last until early September.

Bills earmarked for passage before the recess are:

Social legislation—The Canada Assistance Plan, expansion of the student loan fund, a $500,000,000 fund for medical training facilities and the Company of Young Canadians.

Agricultural — Expansion of the federal-provincial crop insurance program, and creation of a Canadian dairy commission and a feed grain distribution agency.

Financial — Implementation of tax and tariff changes announced in the budget, addition of $50,000,000 to the Atlantic Development Board's fund and integration of civil service pension plans with the Canada Pension Plan.

Cultural—Creation of Crown corporations to assist the feature film industry and operate the National Arts Centre in Ottawa.

Transport — Creation of a commission to study ways of improving efficiency in seaports, the annual CNR financing bill and approval of four railway branch lines to new mines.

Big Tractor Blockade Of Roads Threatened

TORONTO (CP) — A breakdown in talks between the Ontario Farmers' Union and the provincial government set off a chain reaction of discontent among milk producers Tuesday that could lead to a massive tractor blockade of Ontario's highways.

Agriculture Minister William Stewart, after a three - hour meeting with OFU delegates, rejected their demands for a provincial milk subsidy.

Earlier, he told the legislature that the granting of the subsidies "would interfere with federal policy." He said the federal government should be solely responsible for payment of subsidies "because all Canada benefits from them."

After the rejection, John Dolmer, OFU president, warned the tractor demonstrations, started last week to back the producers' demands for higher milk prices, will be expanded an continued on a province-wide basis.

Meanwhile, about 300 farmers at meetings in Warwick and St. Marys voted overwhelmingly to man their tractors again on roads and highways in southwestern Ontario.

About 200 at the St. Marys meeting agreed to start the demonstration today by riding their tractors between London and Thamesford, about 15 miles.

PASS MOTION

The Warwick meeting passed a motion suggesting demonstrations be held between July 1 and 10. A committee, formed to organize the parades, was instructed to ask as many other OFU locals as possible to join them.

OFU delegates who met with Mr. Stewart declined to say what effect a demonstration would have in Ontario but Mr. Dolmer said the union's membership extends through 30 counties in the southern and central part of the province.

Another delegate, Stanley Down of Woodstock, estimated 20,000 tractors could take part in a large - scale provincial blockade.

WHAT'S A "TOBY"?

On every bottle of Toby beer, you'll see the Toby emblem: a little man in a cocked hat. Since he is hollow, with a handle on his back, he serves admirably as a mug or jug. English pubs often set particular Toby jugs aside for the exclusive use of regular customers.

You can drink Toby from a glass, of course. Charrington Toby Beer is superb in any kind of vessel from which you choose to drink. Try a Toby!

Troller Shoots At Russian Boat

SEATTLE (AP)—An American fisherman reportedly emptied a .22-calibre rifle at a Russian ship Saturday.

Tom Cook, manager of the West Coast Trollers' Association, said Tuesday the fisherman, who he declined to identify, got mad when Russian ships forced him off his tack two or three times.

Cook said the irate fisherman was about 300 yards away when he opened fire.

"Apparently the Russians didn't even know he was shooting at them," he said.

Cook said the Russian fleet is operating so close to LaPush he was able to count the lights of 17 boats Monday night. Eight American ships reported the Russians are 4¼ to 5½ miles offshore, he said.

"The feeling against the Russians is running very high," Cook said.

Fork in the Road

THE FULL SIGNIFICANCE OF the speech by Prime Minister Pearson in Springfield, Illinois, ten days ago is gradually being recognized at home and abroad.

This was a prepared address to an American audience in which the Canadian government leader, for the first time, took sharp issue with United States policy as regards Europe and placed Canada in line with much of the new thinking on NATO and its role which General de Gaulle has been presenting.

The pronounced divergence of Canadian and American concepts was perhaps the most immediately striking feature of Mr. Pearson's address. It has long been Canadian policy, where a matter of moral principle is not involved, to give general acquiescence to Washington's stand on international matters. But at Springfield the line was clearly drawn.

Mr. Pearson agreed with President de Gaulle that Europe must run its affairs without United States domination, that a new look must be taken at NATO and its concepts of 1949, and that the nuclear deterrent of a great power could not be depended upon if actual use of the weapon could mean the nuclear destruction of the protector. This strikes directly at the very basis of United States policy on defence of Europe.

Mr. Pearson also took occasion to stress his thesis that the problems of the world cannot be adequately met on a national basis.

"If there is anything that has been made crystal clear by the grim experience of half a century," he said, "it is that neither peace nor security nor prosperity can be achieved or maintained by national action alone — or by national policy alone."

No country was named, yet it is hard to read such a statement outside the context of United States foreign policy today. At the same time it criticizes President de Gaulle in his efforts to move France ahead on a unilateral basis, without the close co-operation of its Western allies. Mr. Pearson wants a new orientation for NATO, but achieved in concert, not by individuals at cross purposes.

Several years ago Mr. Pearson was one of "three wise men" appointed by NATO to survey its accomplishments and future course. In this capacity he made a strong plea for implementation of those clauses in the NATO agreement which go beyond the military pact to call for political, cultural and trade association among the members. Those recommendations have never been carried out, but Mr. Pearson has not ceased to advocate them and at Springfield he broadened the concept.

We must solve NATO's present difficulties, he said. "But we must not stop there. We must move . . . toward an international community with common political institutions, which covers more than a single continent, and spans the Atlantic."

"An alliance for defence only," he added, "is an anachronism in 1966 . . ."

Here was the idea of the Atlantic community, the congregation of the nations of the whole Atlantic basin and others who might wish to be associated, in a vast alliance of mutual help in every field of international contacts — not only military but economic, financial, cultural, commercial, developmental. And even this would be only an approach to the one-world concept, which ultimately must prevail if the planet is not to be continually at war or on guard against potential aggression.

This is thinking on a big scale, beyond the petty limitations of political advantage. It may be that Mr. Pearson is ahead of his times. But the times have a habit of catching up — not only to those who call for advances into new situations but also to those who ignore the warnings.

To the Reserve

THE MAJOR CENTRAL BANKS, including Canada's, have launched another rescue effort for the British pound, less than eight months after the salvage job which was supposed to give Britain breathing room to get its financial affairs in order.

The arrangement agreed upon in Basle last week gives Britain another three months' extension on the billion-dollar credit granted last fall and, significantly, France this time has come into the operation with a separate 90-day credit line. The speculation is that the French, who refused help last time, have come to realize that devaluation of the pound would not be to their advantage either in terms of competitiveness for world markets or in availability of export markets in Britain.

The immediate cause of fresh attacks on the pound by international speculators is the troubled state of the British economy resulting from the crippling maritime strike. Last week the pound dropped below its official rate of $2.80 (U.S.) in international trading and the government was forced to dip heavily into its reserves to defend it. Now the central bankers, along with the International Bank for Settlements, have proclaimed their backing for the pound and the rate can be expected to hold for several months at least.

However, there is some doubt as to the long-term ability of even the central bankers and other allied institutions to prop the pound up if there is not a sharp improvement in the British domestic situation, including settlement of the seamen's strike and an indication that productivity and export earnings will be increased. The rescue operation on the pound is largely a psychological one; the bankers are declaring their confidence that sterling need not be devalued. But events could prove them wrong.

What Prime Minister Wilson will do to convince the bankers that he can set domestic economic matters straight — settlement of the strike is first in line, of course — is hard to say. The most effective move would be a straight freeze on wages and profits, but that is not a politically likely course. Other deflationary measures, such as tightening credit further, cutting overseas spending commitments for defence and aid, limiting imports and travel abroad—all these are possibilities but they are poor substitutes for increased productivity and stronger export earnings.

Whatever Mr. Wilson decides, it will have to be done swiftly and effectively, for another stopgap rescue operation three months from now seems unlikely unless there is great improvement in the picture.

We May Disagree in Canader, But . . .

VISCOUNT CHANDOS, PRESIdent of the English association and apparently something of a Professor Higgins in his mother tongue, considers proper Bostonians perhaps the last bastion of English as it should be spoken.

His opinion has roused the criticism that might have been expected. Few English - speaking people agree on the site of the best English diction and pronunciation.

But the viscount probably has basic logic on his side. Good speech usually comes from good associations, or at least associations conveying a sense of impeccability. And, as it will be recalled, good old Boston, the home of the bean and the cod, has the Lowells talking to the Cabots and the Cabots only to God.

Which gives the vote to Boston, by divine right.

EVANGELIST AND SCEPTICS

By MARTIN DEWEY

Billy vs London and Vice-Versa

A MONTH-long confrontation between the world's most switched-on city and the world's most switched-on evangelist can't help being an exciting event —even, if you will, an electrifying one. And so it has proved for the first half of Billy Graham's return bout against the forces of evil in the sin-city of London. Throughout June, the American evangelist plans to lambaste the nation's capital from a spotlit pulpit in the 20,000-seat exhibition hall at Earl's Court (a district of London which is by way of being something of a sin-centre in its own right).

Dewey

And for a similar period, judging on present form, the nation's capital plans to give as good as it gets. London's more telling counter-swipes are being aimed at the glittering figure of Mr. Graham from editorial pulpits along Fleet Street, where city editors have been setting their most sceptical and bloody-minded reporters on the American evangelist and where tongue-in-cheek has become preferred style for reporting the nightly doings at Earl's Court.

For Mr. Graham, of course, the fulminations of the sceptical are a familiar occupational hazard. But one gathers that there is something particularly sinister in Fleet Street's challenge. As he himself has put it, naming no names, "The opposition is more intelligent, sophisticated, sharper and far more cynical."

Devil's Disciple

Assuming that Mr. Graham was thinking about the British press when he said this, one can't help feeling that if he were to name names he would single out as leader of the opposition — as the Devil's Disciple, perhaps — that (usually) most liberal and tolerant of British newspapers, The Guardian.

The first Guardian article on the current London Crusade appeared under a large picture in which the evangelist was seen clutching an out-sized Bible in one hand and extending the other in a gesture which suggested that the forces of evil were about to be throttled physically. It began: "Some prophets have travelled by donkey and others have been moved on their own two feet, but Billy Graham returned to London yesterday in a suite aboard the Queen Mary and two reserved carriages on the 11:15 from Southampton."

The writer's tongue almost drove clear through his cheek as he said of Mr. Graham — now merely Billy —that his "deepest concern was for the rot and decay that he knew to be lurking around the corner. Like he told us 12 years ago, this world we live in is in greater need . . ." There was more about alleged high-living, about "Billy's" custom-built Ford and pricey hotel accommodation ("On, brothers and sisters, to the Waldorf!"), and a closing reference to the fact that the whole show was being provided "for only a fifth of what they paid Elizabeth Taylor to play Cleopatra."

This high acid level was maintained in subsequent newspage reports, but The Guardian wasn't through. In a long, prominently featured article on the editorial page, a writer described his own adolescent conversion to Billy Graham 12 years ago and his immediate and bitter disillusionment. For as long as it lasted, apparently, the conversion derived from a mixture of fantasy, with the evangelist as a Christ-figure, and a kind of homosexual puppy-love (the inevitable consequence of British single-sex education, huffed one letter to the editor).

Not the Same As Love

The article ended with a denunciation of Graham-style instant religion: "I have to get it on record that a brilliant ability to exploit human response in love is not the same as love itself: it is a deadly and destructive genius."

The Observer, a respected Sunday newspaper, dwelt heavily on the immense cost of the London Crusade. The over-all bill for the month-long visit of Mr. Graham and his State-side helpers was given as $10.5 million. Of this according to The Observer, $900,000 will cover the activities at Earl's Court and the rest will go on publicity—including "millions" of leaflets—and such things as color video-tapes to be sent to the United States.

This part of The Observer's report has since been challenged by the Crusade committee, which claims that the newspaper grossly exaggerated the costs. But potentially more damaging was The Observer's suggestion that the Graham organization is, in effect, packing the attendance figures. Of the nightly audiences averaging 20,000, it reported, some 4,500 are stewards, counsellors and choir members and not fewer than 12,000 are what Mr. Graham would call already-churched people brought to Earl's Court by the busload from "friendly" churches and youth clubs.

The obvious implication is that the evangelist is left to cast his spell over relatively few genuine, convertible sinners.

For its part, The Times of London doesn't quite know what to make of this dynamic southerner, coming so soon on the heels of "another religiously conscious American in London recently"—which could only have been Cassius Clay-Muhammad Ali. In news-page reports of Mr. Graham's activities, a generally serious approach occasionally gives way to gentle mockery: "His huge publicity machine is ready to work full revs and he is personally heaven-bent, like Amos in the novel, to set his brethren quivering."

But on the editorial page, the treatment is thoughtful. Perhaps the crusade approach is vulgar, but the Church of England's experiments with pop services and the like leave it in no position to cast stones. Perhaps Mr. Graham is retailing an exceedingly emotional brand of revivalism, but so did Wesley and Whitehead. The one question The Times doesn't try to answer for itself is whether the popularization of old-time fundamentalism might be undermining the efforts of reformers to re-establish the influence of the church by modernizing the Christian message.

And so it goes. In letters to the editor, Mr. Graham is attacked for providing unstable people with "an irrational defence mechanism, inaccessible to the intellect," and praised as an apostle of faith and hope. One writer wonders why he and his entourage couldn't have stayed at cheaper hotels and donated the difference to charity. Another condemns him as a cult-figure who lacks the courage to speak out on touchy issues such as Viet Nam. But yet another says she won't go to the current Crusade for fear of depriving someone else of Mr. Graham's message.

Some defenders, but many many critics. Wicked old London is not going down without a fight.

Piracy in the North

THE remarkable affair of the confidential Lewis memorandum throws an interesting light on the division of labor within the federal Conservative party. While Mr. Diefenbaker is likely to remain the unchallenged master of the hidden report, Mr. Erik Nielsen of the Yukon has broken new political ground by his bold exploitation of the smuggled or pirated report. While there are a few marginal differences between Mr. Laing's version of this revealing incident and Mr. Nielsen's, there seems to be agreement as to the essential facts.

Western

A report marked "restricted" and containing various recommendations for economic development in the Northwest Territories was presented last spring to a closed session of civil servants at the department's "northern conference." Mr. Nielsen, having obtained this document by undisclosed means, presented it with certain other material to the Yukon council on an "all my own work" basis.

Mr. Nielsen, a vigorous critic of federal policies in the Yukon, advised the council that he had "developed in some detail economic thoughts as to what I feel our future policies and directions should be." The development seems to have been largely a matter of orientation, involving such minor changes as the substitution of "north" for "Northwest Territories." To pirate, according to the concise Oxford, is to "reproduce: (book, etc.) without leave for one's own profit." The profit in this case was clearly political.

A Sort of Raffles

Versatility is the quality which most distinguishes Mr. Nielsen. As the Raffles of the opposition, he has emphasized by this bizarre exploit the reality of his earlier warnings about the vulnerability of government to penetration from the outside. He is also known as an exponent of ethics in government. On this subject, his views are evidently less restrictive than earlier speeches had led the public to assume. Commenting on his own use of the restricted document, Mr. Nielsen has explained that it is Mr. Laing's "own tough luck."

This bland explanation may satisfy Mr. Diefenbaker but it can scarcely be expected to lessen the sense of outrage in Northern Affairs. There are various ways of obtaining documents and it may be that Mr. Nielsen's coup was a simple stroke of extra-parliamentary enterprise.

His use of the Lewis document is another matter.

Mr. Laing did not assume office as minister of northern affairs with a cut-and-dried program for the development of the vast territories which are his responsibility. Well aware of the inherent difficulties of the problems facing government in diverse and geographically handicapped regions, he engaged in open-minded search for constructive ideas. To this end he has encouraged officials, in his own words, "to give their ideas and to dream" in these northern conferences.

This whole approach is plainly threatened if ideas set out in confidential documents can be pirated and publicly paraded for political purposes.

Tension

The Yukon Territory is now in a very difficult phase of transition from dependence to self-government. There is bound to be a certain tension between people living in the area and even the most sympathetic government in distant Ottawa. Local grievances naturally loom large in struggles between rival political groups. But politics can degenerate into simple mischief-making, to the detriment of the territory, if programs merely in the stage of confidential discussions are to be smuggled into the council of the Yukon as proposals of the Conservative caucus.

Mr. Laing's expose of Mr. Nielsen occurred at the very time when the member for the Yukon was set to launch his annual attack on the minister in the standing committee, which deals with northern affairs. By a curious reversal the prosecutor found himself in the role of defendant. This, of course, is one of the hazards of life as a professional parliamentary prosecutor. It was doubtless a case, to paraphrase the words of the member for the Yukon, of Mr. Nielsen's "own tough luck."

Seed Ground For Trouble

By JOSEPH ALSOP
From Washington

WHAT will it be like when many, perhaps most, of the great cities of America have become huge Negro ghettoes, with no more than a dwindling majority of white residents who have not fled to the dormitory suburbs? Data on the Negro immigration into the city centres and white emigration to the suburbs has been negligently collected. No one can list all the great cities that are on their way to full-ghetto status. But the fragmentary available figures plainly predict that even cities that hardly know they have a problem are much farther down the road than their people imagine.

Alsop

With only about 15 per cent of Negroes in its population, for example, Boston is never thought of as a potential ghetto-city. But in the elementary school population, there are already about 30 per cent of Negro children.

A mere decade can raise the Negro proportion of Boston's elementary school pupils to above 50 per cent, as has already happened in Chicago, Philadelphia and elsewhere. And after that, Boston's future ghetto-status will be pretty well assured, as matters stand.

Thus the question about the future of our cities is as desperately urgent as it is desperately important. The political answer to the question is quite obvious. If the existing urban ghettoes are flaccidly allowed to expand, as is now happening, until they almost reach the cities' limits, the cities will almost unavoidably choose municipal governments of the extreme, black nationalist type.

"Black Power"

That is already foreshadowed by the more far-out civil rights leaders, who are chanting "Black power, black power" on the Mississippi march. Nor will the Negro people be to blame for turning to extremist leaders, if they are left to rot in urban ghettoes, where they must live a jungle life almost outside normal American society.

The embittered Negroes who shout "Get Whitey," and join the burgeoning black nationalist groups, are as yet a small though strongly symptomatic minority. The vast majority wish simply to escape from the ghetto-predicament to which race prejudice and educational discrimination have condemned them.

Looking forward, however, anyone can foresee that bitterness and extremism will gain ground continuously among urban Negroes, if the ghetto-situation is not swiftly and radically remedied. And what then will be the result, in the cities where the black nationalists are installed in city hall?

That, surely is an easy question to answer. Morally, no doubt, the answer should be different. But practically, it is certain that the kind of Negro municipal governments that can now be foreseen in a good many great cities will cause the white suburban emigration to become almost total.

The cities will tend to lose their present role, as centres of business and industry, finance and trade, where the suburb-dwellers gain their livings and purchase many of their necessities. Trade-emigration to the suburbs is already well advanced. Finance, business and industry will emigrate too.

Catastrophic Loss

In hard economic terms, the gigantic American investment in the city centres will suffer thereby a catastrophic loss of value. And endless billions will be laid out to reproduce that investment beyond the limits of each ghetto-city. In hard economic terms, therefore, it is justifiable to invest public funds on a huge scale, in order to avert this kind of result.

Above all, this is justifiable, however, for the sake of the social future of the United States of America. The real choice is between integration and "black power." As the "New Republic" pointed out last week in an editorial on this subject, the aims of integration and "black power" are in fact inconsistent.

"Black power" does not mean the election of Negroes like the wholly admirable Edward Brooke, who will probably be sent to the U.S. Senate from Massachusetts with many hundreds of thousands of white votes. The kind of "black power" that can be foreseen in the ghetto-cities of the future will instead mean intensification of race feelings, perpetuation, even deterioration, of the ghetto-situation, and hideously mounting tensions between America's white majority and Negro minority.

At all costs, then, the aim of integration, which is still the true aim of the Negro people, must be pursued with greater vigor and by more imaginative measures. A report on this subject will conclude this grim series.

FREEDOM IN OPPOSITION

It is a sign of healthy political system that when a government is overthrown, the ministers and members of Parliament of the party concerned should be able to regard the future not with fear of what might happen to them physically, but with pleasant anticipation of the greater personal and intellectual freedom which a spell in Opposition affords.

Educator and Critic Can the Press Be Both?

By DOUGLAS FISHER

OTTAWA—This spring, the Learned Societies held their annual gathering at the University of Sherbrooke. I go as an observer to these meetings with eagerness and some confidence, particularly to the ones where the political scientists, historians and economists are giving papers and debating. Then I trail away with an inferior feeling that I am not learned enough and never can be.

Fisher

Despite this personal reaction, none of us who act as a popularizer can downgrade the seriousness or the depth of analysis which many of the academics achieves.

The mood of the Learned Societies is a mix of the hiring hall, the trading post, the convivial, the politely argumentative in large groups, a fierce dissent in small groups, all with an overlay of tweediness, unshowy purpose, and well-bred sophistication.

The press does not view the Learned Societies deliberations as an exciting event on the calendar. The copy filed tends to be voluminous, largely extracts from papers which touch on more controversial problems.

★ ★ ★

Except for the major papers, only snippets are publicized; thus the impact of the annual academic circles is minor. Later, slowly, eventually, some of the ideas work their way into the attitudes and beliefs of politicians.

I am new enough in the newspaper game to have found a major enchantment at Sherbrooke from a paper given by a Prof. E. R. Black of the University of British Columbia. It was titled in the big-think mode: Canadian Public Policy and the Mass Media.

The press and TV and radio are recurrently under attack for inadequacies. I would like all publishers and politicians to read Prof. Black's paper because it shakes a number of myths.

"The relative freedom of the press is believed a reasonable indicator of the free or open society . . . In such a world the press is charged with furthering the widest possible circulation of news and opinions about public affairs. By presenting all forms of evidence to the test of the free marketplace of ideas, the mass media promote the discovery of truth and interest all citizens in their government.

"In this philosophy, belief in competition and the self-righting processes of the marketplace are translated into the most effective method for discovery of public truths. Untruth will, of course, be published but such is the preference of right-minded citizens for truth, that lies will be discredited before much harm can result."

After setting out this "libertarian" philosophy of the press (you must have met it in many editorials), the professor outlines an extension of it which he calls the theory of social responsibility. That is, "in exchange for its privileges, the press must not be so selfish as to promote only its own opinions.

"Instead it must act in the public interest, promote wide discussion and knowledge of all viewpoints, and consciously prod the public to seek truth and responsible public conduct.

"In Canada . . . the press is expected to perform in at least two different political capacities: that of educator-informant of a responsible citizenry and that of independent critics of the government." Sounds wonderful, eh?

Then Black goes on to analyze the privileges the media enjoy from government and the people because everyone sincerely believes these theories. "In practice, the press gets far more respect and attention from public officials than most citizens can command without special status."

But in theory the press has the same privileges as a private citizen and no more. Yet the privileges go far beyond just the respect and attention of public officials. As Black puts it:

★ ★ ★

"The press . . . enjoys more particular benefits from government, benefits of a sort that editors call subsidies when applied to other industries, benefits which make a sad joke of publishers who thunder about their newspaper being free from favor of anyone."

Black lists the subsidies, favors and privileges, including sales tax exemptions, provision of free, valuable office space, inordinately cheap postal rates and advertising and printing contracts. All levels of government provide these privileges which the private citizen and, indeed, most other businesses cannot.

"This network of myriad favors, subsidies and special privileges has grown almost willynilly and does not reflect an explicit policy decision anywhere. The situation is ideal for any would-be regulator of the mass media."

The Plaster Was Cracked And— Well, One Thing Led to Another

By ART STOTT

JOE took his sawhorses away yesterday, having finished the carpentry work. So Pat and I sat on the new plywood of the kitchen floor and admired the gleaming random panelling, prefinished, and the snow white new ceiling, freshly painted, that has given the upper sections of the room youth and beauty.

Stott

"Lovely," she mused. "Just lovely. And when we have the new floor covering down and when we have painted the cupboards a sort of turquoise it will be magnificent. It was a good idea, also, to lower the chimney hole for the stove pipe. I'm pleased. Don't lean back against that new panelling, your sweatshirt's unlaundered."

I leaned forward, not complaining about the discomfort to the lower and aft part of my pelvis that comes from resting on well-nailed plywood, but wondering what we were going to do about kitchen furniture. Nothing we have goes with the elegance, or the approaching elegance of the new room.

"What," I asked, "are we going to do about that brickwork where the stove pipe enters the wall? You say the tile man doesn't think his ceramic will stand the heat."

"I don't know yet. But there'll be a way to handle that. Isn't the room lovely?"

I told her it was, that Joe had done a good job, that Wes's window was a great improvement, since we could now open it and yell out to people on the street, that the ceiling had never looked better and never before, in my memory, been without cracks.

"Just think," I remarked, "if the plaster hadn't been all bunged up and threatening to fall, we might never have renovated the kitchen."

"Well," she answered, "I dunno. I was tired of the old V-joint panelling. I was tired of the way the stove pipe claimed the optical focus in the room. I was tired of the old floor covering. I was tired of the way the paint kept peeling from the part of the centre light that was screwed to the ceiling."

"Yes," I said. "One thing just led to another, didn't it."

"It did," she agreed, "and it's going to keep on doing it. When we get the new floor covering down, it would be unsuitable to move back the old table and chairs. We'll need something that conforms and isn't built so it will jam against the random panelling. Can't have that scratched up. And I guess we'll need new counter-topping, too. Formica, I'd say."

"Look," I said, "I don't want to be cheeseparing about this. And I certainly agree that you should have the kitchen you want. You spend a lot of time in it. But do you think, maybe, that we ought to pause a bit now, sort of catch our breaths and maybe catch up on the bills?"

"Don't let it worry you," she replied. "I've already sent a cheque to Horace for the electrical work. Albie usually waits six months to two years before he submits his account. And anyhow your friend Eric is still sheriff, isn't he? You won't go to debtor's prison."

I said that I thought Eric was still sheriff and I hoped he was still my friend, but that it wasn't wise to push things on the basis of friendship.

"You have the wrong attitude," she said. "You should learn to get things while you can enjoy them. You know what inflation's doing to your savings. They won't be worth much by the time you're ready to cash in—I mean cash in on your savings.

"Now, as I see it," she continued, "we'll soon have a new kitchen, properly furnished, of course. And the bathroom will be okay now the tiling job's done—or the room will be fine when you paint it again. So I'm thinking of the hall. We have a new light fixture there and it shows up a few flaws the old one left in obscurity. We'll get this work cleaned up and paid for and then we'll go on. You always said you wanted me to have a home I'd be proud of. Anyhow, what's money for?"

So I said sure, decided not to deliver a lecture on money, and asked her to help me up. My joints stiffen, sitting on the floor.

Swiss Study UN Help

By M. S. WILDE

The United Nations has received an encouraging sign of support for its peacekeeping operations from an unexpected quarter — Switzerland.

R. J. Keller, newly-appointed head of the Permanent Mission of Switzerland to the United Nations in Geneva, has announced that the federal government in Berne is actively studying a proposal to make a Swiss military contingent available to the UN. And a well-known Swiss international lawyer, Max Habicht, has added that as many as 10,000 Swiss soldiers might be made available.

This is all the more remarkable as Switzerland is not even a member of the United Nations, although she belongs to most of its specialized agencies and also takes an active part in their work.

●

Questioned on this seeming paradox, Mr. Keller told me in an exclusive interview: "The proposal to make Swiss soldiers available to the United Nations, even when carried into effect, would not in my view prejudice the 'permanent neutrality' of Switzerland, which is the cornerstone of her foreign policy.

"It has always been felt in Berne that this might in theory conflict with obligations required of member-states under Chapter VI of the UN Charter, dealing with 'action with respect to threats to the peace, breaches of the peace, and acts of aggression.' It is for this juridical reason that Switzerland has never joined the United Nations, and there is certainly no present intention of doing so.

"On the other hand, the objectives of Swiss policy and those of the United Nations are identical — to maintain peace and security — and for this reason there should be no objection to Swiss troops taking part in UN operations aimed at this objective."

●

There are enough soldiers available in Switzerland for the purpose even if duty with the UN should be on a purely voluntarily basis — as definitely will be the case. The Swiss Army is based on the militia system, with universal conscription for all able-bodied men.

Men are called up for a basic training period of four months at the age of 20, and attend compulsory training for three weeks every year up to the age of 32. After that there is training every third year up to the age of 40.

Although Switzerland's population is less than 5,000,000 — not counting almost 1,000,000 foreigners — the country was able to mobilize 500,000 troops during the Second World War under this universal system of citizen soldiery.

Few Answers, Many Questions

Will Daniel Johnson Again Confound the Prophets?

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Correspondent

QUEBEC CITY—Late in the reign of Maurice Duplessis, cartoonist Robert Lapalme, of Le Devoir, pictured the old chief as a medieval king upon a throne. At his feet, in cap and bells, sat Daniel Johnson as the king's fool.

The man who is Quebec's new premier had entered the legislature, at the age of 31 in a 1946 by-election, with a running start on the way up. As a student at the University of Montreal, and as a young lawyer, he had started the career as a joiner—that gives him the longest biography in the Quebec section of the Parliamentary Guide.

And where he joined he soon led: president of the students' society of the university and of the Canadian Federation of Catholic Students, treasurer and vice-president of the Catholic Association of French-Canadian youth, councillor of the Montreal Junior Bar, and so on through a procession of councils, chambers and associations.

Fiery young men on their way to the top, used to being hailed as leadership potential, had some adapting to do when they entered the assembly chamber at Quebec as Daniel Johnson did in 1946.

McDowell

The top was occupied. Duplessis was in the market for followers, not leaders. And he taught his followers patience.

"Young man, you show promise," the chief used to say to Maurice Bellemare who is now one of Mr. Johnson's lieutenants.

"For 15 years I showed promise," says Mr. Bellemare.

Daniel Johnson adapted and became so promising a follower that in 1954, eight years after his election, Duplessis chose him as his parliamentary assistant and, two years after that, as his deputy speaker. He entered the cabinet, as minister of hydraulic resources, in 1958.

A cartoonist might draw him in cap and bells, but in the Duplessis days a man who won in the scramble for sitting space at the master's feet was nobody's fool.

But had he been too clever by half? Had he been too close to Duplessis in those last scandal-filled years?

Spiritual Heir

So it seemed in 1961 when, after the death of Duplessis and that of his successor, Paul Sauve, after the token premiership of Antonio Barrette, the first convention of the Union-Nationale became a contest between Daniel Johnson and Jean-Jacques Bertrand.

In that contest Mr. Bertrand was seen as the man to go on with the reforms that Paul Sauve would have made had he lived, and Mr. Johnson was seen as the spiritual heir of Duplessis.

Mr. Bertrand is, as he expresses it, "a man more attached to ideas than interested in what men hold the positions provided that these men furnish honest guarantees that the ideas will make their way."

It was Mr. Johnson who won the position of leadership in the discredited and divided party. But it was Mr. Bertrand's ideas that made their way. In the public mind Mr. Bertrand, who gave the new leader only qualified support at first, became the conscience of Mr. Johnson and the Union Nationale.

When, at a party congress in 1965, Mr. Bertrand gave Mr. Johnson his wholehearted approval and support, that was the sign that the new leader had faithfully carried out his guarantee to reform the party.

Daniel Johnson had adapted again to the demands of the times. Being Duplessis' man had given him his start toward the leadership. Being the old guard's man had given him the title. Being Jean-Jacques Bertrand's man had given him a renewed party to lead.

Adapted Too Well

But again it seemed he had adapted too well. Daniel Johnson was witty, amiable, unassuming and approachable. But as he and his party turned away from the chiefism of Duplessis, had he not gone to the opposite extreme? How could he compete with the serene self-confidence of a Jean Lesage?

He couldn't compete with it but he could and did exploit it. The quiet revolution had aroused great excitement and enthusiasm. It had aroused discontent too: among farmers, taxpayers, school boards, businessmen, some churchmen, among all who felt that the Quiet Revolution was passing them by, undermining their privileges, challenging their traditions and raising their taxes.

Came on Undertow

It was their man that Mr. Johnson must be to gain power and, confounding all the prophets who had him pegged as the perfect leader of the opposition, he rode into office, not on a wave but on an undertow.

The waves still run the other way. Being the man of the discontented and the old guard among the voters gave Mr. Johnson the title of premier as, five years before, being the man of the old guard of his party had given him the title of leader.

But public opinion was on the side of the new men then, and it was their ideas that won. And this time a full 55 per cent of the voters endorsed the forces of change: the Liberals, Independent Liberals and the even more impatient Rassemblement pour L'Independance Nationale.

Mr. Johnson has proven his ability to adapt to the demands of the time, and, in the long run, he has proven sharper than his critics in diagnosing the adaptation that the times impose.

The Second Mile

But, although he calls himself a pragmatist, and has shown himself supple, he is not an admirer of compromise. When an accommodation has been essential he has gone the second mile. But, in opposition, he unceasingly denounced the Lesage government for compromising, improvising and bargaining.

On most matters of broad policy related to Quebec's internal affairs, Mr. Johnson has voiced highly abstract general principles that leave a choice of courses open in the real bread-and-butter world.

But where Daniel Johnson has never wavered is in his French-Canadian nationalism, to which he shows a true convert's devotion. Son of an Irish — not, he insists, English — father and a French-Canadian mother he had his choice of the two nations and his commitment to it is absolute.

Humiliating

Out of this commitment arise his constitutional ideas which he has spelled out in speech after speech, from Chicoutimi to Couchiching: Canada's two nations must be equal or independent.

The style of a Jean Lesage, who seemed a hard enough bargainer in Ottawa, was humiliating to Daniel Johnson. He has vowed never to go begging to Ottawa. He will not plead Quebec's needs, but claim Quebec's right, he insists. He will not ask for powers, but exercise them.

Daniel Johnson's record until now has combined great flexibility in action with unshakeable devotion to a few cherished principles.

As premier of Quebec he is now in a position where these principles must either dictate his action or be compromised by them.

That is a new situation. And Daniel Johnson, in each new situation so far, has confounded the prophets and the critics. That is why in the political gossip around the Ancien Capital this month there are few answers but many questions.

WILLIAM (BILLY) BARKER

Founders Of B.C.

"I'm English Bill,
"Never worked and never will;
"Get away girls,
"Or I'll tousle your curls."

That was the song of miner William "Billy" Barker who made a big strike on Williams Creek in 1862, creating a town of 10,000 people within a year — the town of Barkerville.

He was a Cornishman, a pottery worker who had gone to sea. It was thought he had deserted his ship at Victoria during the early days of the Fraser gold rush, in 1858. That was about all anyone knew about him.

He was digging on Williams Creek in the Cariboo in 1861 and mining records show that he recorded six claims that year and eight the next, with various partners helping with the finances. He was just about disheartened.

One report says the famous Judge Matthew Baillie Begbie loaned him money at one point because it was less expensive to help him than to pay his way out. Then Billy Barker struck it rich. His share of the strike is said to have been worth $600,000.

Barker took his money and went to Victoria to winter. He met and married a widow and was soon back in Cariboo. But his new wife liked a good time. To hold her Barker felt he had to be a big spender and he was known in all the saloons. The result was his money and his wife were soon both gone.

His claim ran out of gold. He was reduced to working as a cook. He developed cancer. Dame Fortune loved him briefly and departed leaving him to die in poverty in 1894 in an old man's home in Victoria, when he was 75.

ECONOMIC CHANGES DUE IN CHINA?

A Cautious 'Great Leap Forward'

By STANLEY KARNOW

HONG KONG—The political convulsions currently sweeping Communist China are believed to foreshadow changes in Peking's approach to economic development.

In the opinion of analysts here, the present purges of alleged "bourgeois" and "revisionist" elements reflect plans by the Chinese Communist leaders to revive some of the spirit of the "great leap forward," Peking's abortive attempt in 1958 at rapid modernization.

It is thought, however, that this return to a "great leap" style is likely to be carried out more modestly—perhaps more realistically—than it was eight years ago, when China was virtually turned upside down in gigantic collective projects.

A primary area of change may be in the agricultural sector. Reports from the mainland indicate that peasants in some regions are being discouraged from such private pursuits as growing vegetables, breeding livestock and manufacturing handicrafts for sale at free markets.

According to information available here, peasants in northeastern Shantung and southern Kwangtung provinces have been deprived of the private gardens accorded them five or six years ago in order to stimulate food output.

Recent Chinese statements have also begun to place more stress on agricultural "brigades" as the groups responsible for farm management. Reference to these groups, which comprise about 250 families, suggests renewed emphasis on collective production methods. Until lately the basic farming units have been more flexible "teams" of some 30 families, which largely resembled cooperatives.

In the industrial sector, meanwhile, a good deal of attention has recently been focused on iron and steel production as well as the increase of electric power. It is believed that this accent on heavy industry may augur a reduction in the output of consumer merchandise.

A further hint of possible changes in China's economic strategy lies in the almost total lack of economic policy declarations out of Peking within recent months. In early January, the Chinese Communists announced that their third five-year plan would begin in 1966. The silence since then is considered a clue that the plan is still being worked out.

At least one practical reason for a return to greater collectivization in agriculture, experts think, may be China's increased need for wheat, rice and other grains. Production of grain has lagged badly, in part because peasants have reportedly devoted much of their time to more lucrative private crops.

The present stress on heavy industry is thought to be related to China's growing attention to defence due to the proximity of the Viet Nam war.

In the view of China watchers in Hong Kong, these steps reminiscent of the "great leap" probably do not herald a full-scale resurrection of that episodic period. As one expert here put it: "China's economy couldn't survive another adventure like that, and the Chinese leaders wouldn't try it unless their objective is suicide."

What the Chinese leaders may be trying to do, it seems, is tighten controls sufficiently to dampen the relatively liberal mood that has pervaded China within recent years.

Peking itself introduced liberal measures, mainly in the form of incentives to peasants, as a means of stepping up production after dogmatic policies failed. Though they helped to spur output, these measures apparently also contributed to weakening the revolutionary doctrine to which the Chinese leaders are dedicated.

Not only did peasants display "spontaneous tendencies towards capitalism" to use the communist phrase, but writers, students, technicians and even some party officials reportedly welcomed the relaxation of dogma.

Fishing Areas Harmed by Logs

Drive Damage on B.C. River Claimed in Commission Report

VANCOUVER (CP) — A lengthy report saying log driving on the Stellako River is destructive to salmon and trout spawning was issued today by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission.

The report came a day after the provincial government completed a drive of 8,000,000 board feet of timber down a seven-mile stretch of the river, 85 miles west of Prince George.

The survey, prepared by the technical staffs of the commission and the provincial department of recreation and conservation, said observations following a restricted log drive in 1965 proved that jams formed, causing severe gauging and erosion of the gravel stream bed, where the fish spawn.

It said the effects of such erosion will remain for many years.

The report said sockeye salmon produced in the area average a value of $1,188,500 a year. The river provides an important food source to Indians of the central interior, and is also one of the few quality streams for rainbow trout fishing.

When Resources Minister Ray Williston authorized the log drive last week, in direct opposition to the federal fisheries department, he challenged the federal government to provide evidence that the drive would be harmful to spawning grounds.

Calwell Leaves Hospital, Factory Worker Charged

By GORDON TAIT

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Opposition Leader Arthur A. Calwell left hospital under heavy guard today after treatment for facial cuts suffered Tuesday night when a bullet was fired through the window of his car.

Five police cars escorted the 68-year-old Labor party chief's automobile to Sydney Airport, and a government plane flew him home to Melbourne.

Political writers could recall only one other Australian politician who had been the target of a gunman. In 1921 a member of the New South Wales legislative assembly, Percival Brookfield, 41, was killed at a railway station 65 miles from Adelaide. The man who fired the shot was declared insane.

Earlier today Peter Raymond Kogan, a 19-year-old factory hand, was brought into a Sydney court and charged with firing a sawed-off rifle at Calwell "with intent to murder."

First reports had Calwell being wounded by a sawed-off shotgun blast.

Unable to raise bail of $2,240, Kogan was ordered held in custody for another hearing June 30.

There was no known motive for the shooting but Calwell has been an outspoken critic of the use of Australian draftees in the Viet Nam war. He assailed the policy Tuesday night at a labor party rally in suburban Mosman.

There will be a general election late this year and Calwell has said in campaign speeches that if he is victorious Australian draftees will be pulled out of Viet Nam.

Police said that Kogan was not a member of any political association and had never been arrested before.

Calwell at first thought he was shot, but police later found only one fragment of a bullet in the lapel of his coat. The bullet shattered the side window of the car and glass splinters cut the political leader's mouth, jaw and upper lip. He also suffered shock.

GO TO POLLS THURSDAY

New Candidates Seeking To Hold Manitoba Seats

WINNIPEG (CP) — A major suspense ingredient in Manitoba's provincial election Thursday will be the vote-getting appeal of new candidates seeking to retain seats their respective parties held the last time around.

There are new defenders in 12 of the 56 ridings.

For a grabbag of reasons, seven of them belong to Premier Duff Roblin's Progressive Conservative party which, 36 seats strong in the last legislature, is seeking a fourth consecutive term in office.

The New Democratic Party has new men in four of the seven seats it captured in the last election, Dec. 14, 1962, and the Liberals have a new standard bearer in one of their 13 seats.

While there are 57 seats in the legislature, voting has been deferred two weeks to July 7 in northern Churchill riding. The standing at dissolution May 18 was Conservative 36, Liberal 13, NDP five, Social Credit one and vacant two.

Polling hours Thursday will be 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. CDT.

Three members of the Roblin cabinet did not seek re-election. They are Agriculture Minister George Hutton, in Rockwood-Iberville; Provincial Secretary Maitland Steinkopf, in the Winnipeg riding of River Heights, and Minister Without Portfolio Abram Harrison, in Rock Lake.

After an assignment in Turkey with the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, Mr. Hutton will enter the Lutheran ministry. Mr. Steinkopf is leaving politics for personal reasons—he wants more time with his family—and Mr. Harrison, 68, stepped down for reasons of age and health.

Kleth Alexander, 1962's victorious Conservative in Roblin, will study for the United Church ministry. Other Tories going into political retirement are Fred Groves, St. Vital, and George Martin, St. Matthews.

Emil Moeller sought Conservative renomination in Fisher, which he won with an 87-vote plurality in 1962, but was passed over by his constituency organization.

Lost to retirement by the NDP were Arthur Wright, Seven Oaks, and Steve Peters, Elmwood. NDP-held Inkster became vacant with the death of veteran socialist Morris Gray and Brokenhead was vacated by Ed Schreyer who won a Commons seat for the NDP in last November's federal election.

The retirement-bound Liberal is M. N. Hryhorczuk in Ethelbert Plains. He is a former Manitoba attorney-general who won last time with a 554-vote plurality.

Pluralities in the other new-face constituencies were: Rockwood-Iberville, PC 1,338; Rock Lake, PC 429; River Heights, PC 490; Fisher, PC 87; Roblin, PC 625; St. Vital, PC 1,021; St. Matthews, PC 728; Seven Oaks NDP 460; Elmwood, NDP 209; Inkster, NDP 577 and Brokenhead, NDP 596.

15 Planes Aloft In Quebec Search

BAGOTVILLE, Que. (CP)—A spokesman for RCAF search and rescue centre here said Tuesday that 11 aircraft covered a total of 24,500 square miles during the day searching for a missing C-46 cargo aircraft with two men on board.

The C-46 disappeared Monday night on a flight from Montreal to Fort Chimo near Ungava Bay in northern Quebec.

FO Len Dent said the search was to resume today with 15 aircraft. The planes will search both north and south of Chute des Passes, 200 miles north of Quebec City, where the plane was last heard from, he said.

The missing plane belongs to Nordair Ltd. of Montreal.

In Montreal, the operations office of Nordair identified the pilot as Winnipeg - born Gil Mergny, 43, who now lives in Dorval, Que., site of Montreal International Airport.

Identification of his co-pilot was delayed because company officials were unable to communicate with his next-of-kin.

Mergny, father of three, was described as a seasoned northern pilot. He joined Nordair when the company took over the operations of Wheeler Airlines in 1960. He also flew the northern route with Wheeler.

While the search for the missing C-46 continued Tuesday, another ended happily when four Montrealers and their missing light plane were found safe by RCAF search aircraft near Lac de Dix Milles, 216 miles northwest of Montreal.

They were spotted by the pilot of an RCAF plane from the search and rescue centre at Trenton, Ont. The men were on a gravel road apparently trying to hitch a ride.

The Piper Cherokee-180 was slightly damaged in the forced landing in a field, an RCAF spokesman said.

The plane took off Monday on a scheduled five - hour flight from Montreal to Val d'Or, Que., 300 miles northwest of Montreal.

Drug Company Promotion Gifts to Doctors Studied

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons drug prices inquiry moved into the world of drug advertising and promotion Thursday.

Dr. William Howe (NDP—Hamilton South) dumped a bagful of promotion gimmicks on the committee table and said the assortment of letter openers, matches, flashlights, shoe brush, tape measure and other items must represent a cost on the consumer's prescription dollar.

He called them wasted money and an insult to the doctor's intelligence.

Witnesses for the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assoc. were divided about the propriety of this form of promotion but seemed united that they represent about two cents on the prescription dollar.

Peter Howsam, general manager of Warner-Chilcott Laboratories, Toronto, says his company allocates no money for this kind of promotion and he agrees with Dr. Howe.

UPHOLDS PRESENT FORM

E. Clyde Gregory, president of Ayerst Laboratories, Montreal, upheld this form of promotion, saying the items direct the doctor's attention to a drug.

Dr. Peter Briant, an association witness and director of McGill University's school of commerce, estimated that the cost of free-sample promotion amounts to about one cent on the prescription dollar.

Commission Counsel A. M. Laidlaw asked whether the companies could institute a program of voluntary restraint, agreeing to halve promotion costs to the benefit of the consumer.

Association counsel Fred R. Hume said any agreement to do anything affecting price, whether to raise or lower, would violate combines legislation.

IN OTTAWA for talks with Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin is Britain's disarmament minister Lord Chalfont. He arrived Tuesday.

Top Settlements Urged on Unionists

PENTICTON (CP) — "This is the year we go all out to get maximum settlements," W. M. Black, secretary of local 180 the B.C. Hospital Employees Union, told the group's convention Tuesday.

"We make up our minds that we are going whole hog and if necessary, use every trick in the trade union book to do it," he said.

Many hospital workers think their employers are different from employers in private industry, he added, but "they are no more beneficient than the bosses in private industry and at times they can be as ruthless and arrogant as any other employer in the province."

Mr. Black said the fight would be for the same financial considerations as workers in private industry.

He also told the convention application for certification had been made at the New Richmond Hospital, and strong contacts had been made with Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria.

On Trial Again

BREMEN (Reuters)—A former German SS (elite guard) officer, once convicted for war crimes, went on trial again here Monday for his alleged role in the murder of Polish Jews. The trial of former SS lieut. Fritz Hildebrand, 63, is expected to be one of the biggest of its kind, with 360 witnesses being called over an expected duration of nine months.

WAGE WARS BOILING TO A HEAD

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Strikes in the transportation field this summer and fall could tie up shipments of Canada's wheat destined for her customers abroad, forcing the government to again intervene.

The disputes, now boiling to a head, would seriously slow down the massive movement required to fulfill the export of 525,000,000 bushels for the next crop year, government officials said today.

Canada has set an export target of 600,000,000 bushels for the coming crop year. It set that same target for the crop year ending July 31, 1966, but according to Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, the wheat board will fall slightly short of that goal, because of the holdups resulting from the longshoremen's five-week strike.

Several key labor agreements are now under negotiation involving the two major railways. The negotiations have been complicated by the government-directed settlement in the threatened seaway strike. Labor Minister J. R. Nicholson said emphatically that the 30 per cent wage increase over two years, approved by the government in the seaway settlement, was not to be taken as a precedent in other labor disputes in Canada.

Seaway Settlement a Guideline?

But it has been already seized on as a guideline for the settlement of other disputes. Spokesmen for 95,000 railway workers say that the 30 per cent seaway wage raise should be a guideline for the railway disputes applying to railway workers as well as to the seaway workers.

A conciliation board which was on the verge of recommending an increase for the railway workers has found its efforts scuttled by the seaway settlement. The seaway workers got an average wage increase of 72 cents an hour plus another 13 cents in improved fringe benefits. Average rate paid before the settlement was about $2.30 an hour.

The non-operating employees of the railways, seeking wage raises, have pointed out that a 30 per cent increase in their average earnings would mean 66 cents an hour. Just prior to the seaway settlement the conciliation board chairman was considering recommending an increase of about 40 cents an hour if the union nominee on the board would agree.

It has been expected that the negotiating committee for the non-operating railway unions involving the CPR and CNR would have been inclined to accept a settlement about 40 to 45 cents an hour. But the seaway increase put an end to such a prospect. The railway unions are now expected to hold out for higher raises. When the conciliation board finally makes a report the 14 unions concerned will take a strike vote.

CN's Largest Union Votes Strike

Meantime the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers' Union has already taken a strike vote. This is the CNR's biggest union. It has voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action to back up its demands. They are seeking a 90-cent hourly wage increase spread over a two-year contract plus job security. A separate conciliation board was set up for the brotherhood. But it took the strike vote before that board held a meeting. The CBRT board begins hearings in Montreal on Thursday. This is regarded as a legal formality clearing the way for a strike.

While welcoming the announcement Monday of the $800,000,000 three-year wheat deal with Russia, Canadian government officials are keeping their fingers crossed that they will be able to meet the mounting overseas wheat commitments. Commencing Aug. 1, under the new Soviet deal, Canada will be required to ship 112,000,000 bushels for the first crop year of the three-year contract. There are, in addition, the shipments to meet the Chinese contract and the exports to fulfill the needs of Canada's regular wheat customers such as Britain and Japan.

The overseas shipments for them years add up to more than half a billion bushels.

While the threatened railway strikes loom large in the calculations of those who have the responsibility of keeping the wheat shipments moving, there is also the complicated task of marshalling railway and lake shipping equipment at the precise time to serve ocean vessels. Both railways and lake carriers have pointed out to the government that they have other customers to serve.

The railways were consulted before the Canadian government signed the big new deal with Russia.

Longshoremen Work Day and Night

Disruption at the St. Lawrence ports, when the longshoremen were out on strike for five weeks, piled up a backlog of wheat shipments. Canada has about 210,000,000 bushels of wheat from the current crop year still to be delivered. But working day and night the longshoremen at the St. Lawrence ports have cut deeply into the pileup and the movement of grain is again gathering momentum.

Both the CPR and CNR have been adding to their fleet of boxcars and diesels to speed up the grain movement and the transportation of other freight. The CPR has an order for 32 3,000-horsepower diesels for delivery between July and December. Earlier this spring the CPR was testing two specially designed diesel units on the mountain run between Calgary and Vancouver. The heavy shipment of wheat and potash from the Prairies have imposed a heavy burden on the railways.

But they expect to be able to keep the grain moving on schedule providing transportation facilities are not hit by labor strife.

However, labor is entering the picture with ominous overtones.

EATON'S REZONING BID MONDAY

A warehouse and retail store for Eaton's near the Town and Country Shopping Centre will go before a public hearing in Saanich Monday.

The store, which would be supplementary to the downtown one, is planned for the east side of the 800-block Seymour. The application for zoning is being made by the developer, Dominion Construction.

If approved by Saanich, the outlet would also need approval by the highways department because of its proximity to an arterial highway.

'Tougher' Pacts Force Price Up

Tougher union contracts are forcing a tendency for higher and higher shipping rates, the chairman of the Pacific Coast European Conference said Tuesday.

Dave Lindstedt is the head of a group of top management Pacific Coast shipping officials who are meeting in business sessions this week at the Empress Hotel.

This is one of three annual meetings which are called annually to revise freight rates and iron out differences among shippers.

Mr. Lindstedt said one of the major things which forced a recent freight rate increase was a new, tougher, longshoremen's contract.

He said because of this the officials meeting here are attempting to devise methods for economy.

Thirty-five delegates are representing 22 Pacific Coast shipping lines.

They meet in southern California in the winter, northern California in the fall and Victoria in the summer.

RED SALMON RUN DOWN

ANCHORAGE (AP) — Expectations of a Bristol Bay red salmon run of between 24,000,000 and 34,000,000 fish were dashed Tuesday by new prediction figures released by the Alaska Department of Fish and Game.

"A total run of less than 17 million fish is now expected for the state's largest fishery" said Walter Kirkness, commissioner of fish and game.

The sale will be known as bond series X and the bonds will reach maturity in July of 1991.

The bonds will be unconditionally guaranteed by the province and will pay 5¾ per cent per annum interest on the first days of January and July.

Both fully - registered and coupon bonds will be sold in denominations of $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $25,000.

Poor Health Sidelines Founder of Variety Stores

DETROIT (AP) — Sebastian S. Kresge, 98, whose name appears in large letters on 673 variety stores across the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, has resigned from his firm.

The farm boy who at 30 entered the dime-store business with $8,000 left it Tuesday with more than $200,000,000.

The founder of the Detroit-based S. S. Kresge Co. sent a letter to the board of directors announcing his resignation as chairman. The company said H. B. Cunningham would continue as presidet and chief executive officer, a post he has held since 1959.

Kresge also resigned as trustee of the Kresge Foundation, an educational philanthropic organization he established in 1922 with a gift of $1,300,000. The foundation now has a net worth of $175,000,000.

HEALTH IS REASON

"Up until three months ago," Kresge said in his resignation letter, "I thought it would be possible for me to continue my advice and counsel for another year, but my health will not permit."

He was the oldest chairman and the one with the longest tenure, 53 years, of any corporation listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

A short, stocky man of Pennsylvania Dutch ancestry, Kresge moved to Detroit in 1897, less than a year after investing his $8,000 to buy half ownership of a dime store in Memphis, Tenn.

Later he traded his half of the Memphis store and $3,000 for full ownership of a store in Detroit.

The S. S. Kresge Co. now has 40,000 employees. Its sales volume this year totalled volume this year totalled $1,000,000,000.

After nearly 20 years in Victoria, Don, 40, of 3828 Haro, a heating and lighting contractor, is making a permanent move with wife Doris and children Robbie, 9, and Jennifer, 3, to the north part of the Island.

"Campbell River is the second fastest-growing boom town in B.C.," he said, adding that for power contractors, the area is especially attractive.

Now sales manager of Coast Electric in Victoria, he will be vice-president and general manager of Buy-Rite Electric in Campbell River, a firm he and a partner have purchased.

An active Jaycee for seven years, Don was chosen Jaycee of the Year at the provincial convention in Victoria earlier this month.

Russians Push Car Production

MOSCOW (AP)—The automobile civilization seems about to come to the Soviet Union.

Until now the Soviet Union has been getting along on public transportation.

There are 374 cars per 1,000 population in the United States and nearly as high a proportion in Canada. The Soviet Union has only four per 1,000.

During the next five years, auto production is to increase to 800,000 a year from 200,000. Two new plants are to be built. A new small model called the Zima is to be introduced. Cars already being manufactured are to be remodelled. Prices are to be reduced.

There is no doubt that the Soviet public wants cars.

Waiting lists and high prices have not deterred Russians from trying to get them. Nor have difficulties in finding parts and getting repairs made.

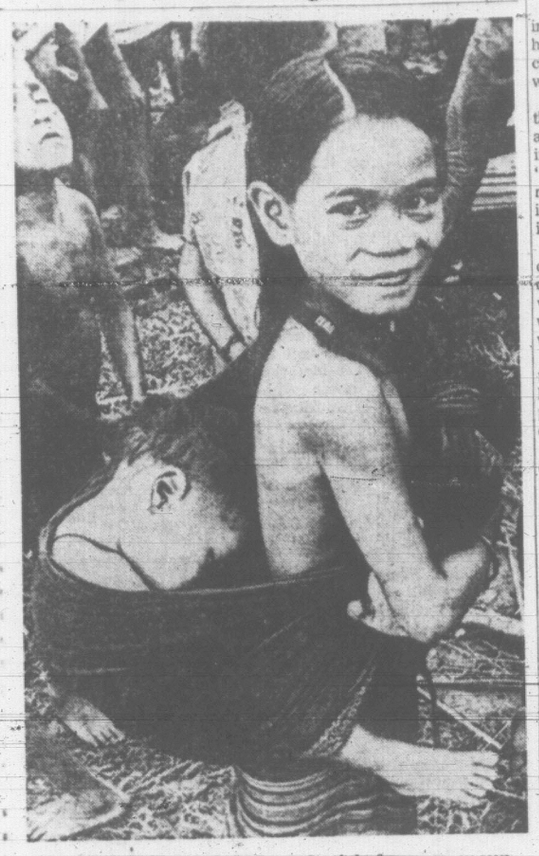
U.K. PROFESSOR

War on Poverty Demeans People Who Need Help



BRIGHT-EYED Montagnard girl from a mountain village in the South Vietnamese highlands continues her baby-watching job, carrying a sleeping sister in a sling, while waiting for treatment by a medical team of the U.S. special forces during a visit to her area, near Dak To, last weekend. (AP Wirephoto.)

VANCOUVER (CP)—A leading British welfare expert says he is not optimistic about the chances of success of the U.S. war on poverty.

Prof. Richard M. Titmuss of the London School of Economics and Political Science said in an interview he has the impression "that in some sectors, the Canadian war on poverty is a pale imitation of the American policy."

Prof. Titmuss, 59, speaks today at the Canadian conference on social welfare on recent developments in United Kingdom welfare legislation — much of which he helped to shape.

Prof. Titmuss said the way the American anti-poverty legislation is drafted, it requires people to admit they are poor in order to qualify for assistance.

"This is an affront to human dignity, especially in a society which believes so strongly in success, work and money."

LED TO FRICTION

He also said distribution of poverty benefits has circumvented government and has led to friction between those in charge of the program and elected officials.

Turning to the Canadian war on poverty, Prof. Titmuss said he wishes the federal government every success in its two-year $500,000,000 attack on depressed areas.

Prof. Titmuss said he believes that full utilization of elected government representatives to "push, prod and encourage the poor to accept social responsibilities" is vital to the success of any large-scale welfare undertaking.

OFFERS A WARNING

The social administration professor also had some words of warning about distribution of poverty funds on the basis of race or color.

"It won't work when discrimination is involved. It's that simple."

One of Canada's major problems, he said, is treatment of the nation's 220,000 Indians.

"I find a reluctance on the part of Canadians to admit that there is a problem," he said. "I'm somewhat dismayed by this because there most assuredly is discrimination involved.

"It reminds me of the self-fulfilling prophecy: If you treat people as second-class citizens long enough, they will eventually come to think of themselves as second-class citizens.

"And then they'll start to break the laws set up by the first-class citizens."

OVER NORTH VIET NAM

Loses Even at One In Jet Dogfight

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. Navy pilot flying a jet fighter damaged by enemy fire and running critically low on fuel shot down a Communist MiG-17 jet over North Viet Nam Tuesday.

One other MiG was damaged and possibly destroyed as four Navy F-8 Crusaders and four MiG-17s tangled 65 miles northeast of Hanoi. But the MiGs shot down one Crusader, and ground fire brought down a navy - reconnaissance plane in the same area.

In all, five American planes were reported lost in the last 24 hours in Viet Nam. The others were an air force F-105 Thunderchief shot down Tuesday 30 miles northeast of Hanoi, an air force F-100 Supersabre hit by Viet Cong groundfire 75 miles southwest of Saigon today and a C-123 transport downed on a defoliation mission over the south Tuesday.

The crews of both planes lost in South Viet Nam were rescued.

In the ground war, U.S. paratroops and air cavalrymen battled a battalion on the eastern flank of South Viet Nam's strategic Central Highlands for the third day, and a spokesman said the enemy toll had risen to 144 killed.

No major action was reported elsewhere in the south. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky eased his political war against his militant Buddhist opponents by briefly lifting the five-day blockade of Saigon's Buddhist Institute. During the hour's respite, 203 persons quit the encircled compound, but several hundred remained behind.

Child-Chasing Car Cossack Lanced by Court

A Belmont woman who became so angry at some school children she chased them about a school yard in her car was fined $40 in traffic court Tuesday when she was convicted of dangerous driving.

Ida Mae Amos, 182 Virago, was also barred from driving anywhere in Canada for the next two years.

Court was told that on May 22 the accused drove her car over the curb near John Stubbs Memorial School behind a fleeing boy. The car was stopped four feet short of a house and the woman then chased the boy on foot.

A short time later she was seen chasing other boys in the school yard with her car.

WHY YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY MORE FOR DAIRY FOODS

Each year, Canada's dairy farmers get a smaller return for their investment and efforts. Increasing costs of operation, equipment and virtually everything a farm needs, plus a very serious shortage of farm labour, are putting dairy farmers out of business at the rate of about 10,000 each year.

Returns to the dairy farmer have not kept pace with increased costs of farm operation.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase to the dairy farmer was only 2 cents per quart for standard homo milk.

Consumer prices of dairy foods have not increased as much as most other food products.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase in home delivered milk (standard homo) was only 5 cents a quart.

Canada's dairy industry is vital to our economic and nutritional health. If dairy foods cost a little more than they used to, they'll still be your best food buy.

Hydro Races Go On

SEATTLE (AP) — While the bodies of hydroplane drivers Ron Musson and Rex Manchester lay at rest in Seattle today, race officials throughout the Pacific Northwest were continuing preparations to carry on the sport the two men loved so well.

The only major race that remained in doubt was the Seafair Trophy race scheduled Aug. 7 on Lake Washington. Powerboat officials met Tuesday, but decided to take no action pending a Friday meeting of Greater Seattle officials, sponsor of the race.

RACE AT KELOWNA

Following word from Detroit that the Gold Cup race would go on as scheduled July 3, British Columbia officials said they planned to go ahead with the first unlimited race in Kelowna.

The Kelowna race July 17 will be the first on the Pacific Northwest circuit. The following week drivers will compete in the Tri-Cities' Atomic Cup race on the Columbia River.

The Diamond Cup race on Lake Coeur d'Alene Aug. 14 winds up the tour in this area.

Musson, 37, three-time national champion, and Manchester, 39, were killed in separate accidents during the President's Cup race in Washington, D.C., Sunday—a race that also took the life of Donnie Wilson of Palm Beach, Fla.

Combined funeral services for the two Seattle drivers will be held here Friday.

Senator Davey Appointed Football's Commissioner

Replacement For Retiring Halter

WINNIPEG (CP)—Senator Keith Davey has been appointed to succeed G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg as Canadian Football League commissioner, CFL president Ted Workman announced today.

Halter is to retire Dec. 31. Senator Davey will work with Halter this fall to familiarize himself with football matters prior to assuming control of the Toronto-based post.

Canada's youngest senator, at age 39, Keith Davey is a former National organizer for the Liberal party. He is married, has two children and is a resident of Toronto.

'SAY HELLO'

Senator Davey was introduced to representatives of all CFL teams at the semi-annual meeting Tuesday.

"He was introduced to our people. He spoke to them. He answered questions," said Hugh McColl of Edmonton, president of the Western Football Conference.

The representatives voted on his appointment today.

Prior to the Senator Davey interview the CFL delegates met behind closed doors to discuss a merger.

In other business Tuesday, CFL President Ted Workman emerged from a three-hour morning session of the Committee of One League and said little progress had been made. After more than three hours in the afternoon, he said "substantial" progress had been made but there were new problems.

WILL MEET AGAIN

Another meeting of the steering committee on COOL will be held here July 25, he said. Financial details were late arriving from several clubs, he said, causing a delay in negotiations.

The COOL report calls for formation of one autonomous league, establishment of a strong central office in Toronto, expansion of the CFL pension plan and an even split of television and gate revenue among all nine clubs.

Apart from the vote today on Davey's application, the largest issue on the agenda appeared to be consideration of Ottawa's bid for the 1967 Grey Cup.

"Personally, I hope the presentation by Ottawa is strong enough to win the support of other members," Mahoney said. "I think Toronto is too blase about the Grey Cup game. As a matter of fact, I would like to see Vancouver awarded the game every second year instead of once every three years."

Mahoney said the classic should be placed in every CFL city by turns.

Rocks Call Up Vickers To Keep 'Rally' Going

A former junior with a flair for floormanship will try to keep Victoria Shamrocks' "rally" alive tonight.

GLEN VICKERS
. . . moving up

Glen Vickers, neither fast nor aggressively brutal but analytic and with a good shot, joins Rocks when they host Coquitlam Adanacs in Memorial Arena at 8 p.m.

The "rally" consists of a victory and a tie in the club's last two starts. The tie was negotiated by New Westminster Salmonbellies 24 seconds before the game ended.

For Victoria, five points out of the third and last playoff berth, the three points gained represent what coach Bert Bertoia hopes will be the start of a drive toward better things in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Vickers missed the 1965 season after undergoing knee surgery. He has played this year with Red Lion of the Senior B League. Now he's in shape and Shamrock officials believe he will be an asset.

Besides Ranjit Dillon, at least two weeks away from suiting up due to a fractured toe, Rocks will be without defenceman Bob Coutts and junior Ron Zilkie.

Coutts suffered a pulled muscle in Monday's practice. Zilkie injured his back at work.

Bertoia is expected to bring up a junior to replace Zilkie.

Meanwhile at Vancouver Tuesday night Sid Warick scored the final four goals of the game — two in overtime — to give Vancouver an 11-9 victory over New Westminster.

The victory moved Vancouver to within one point of league-leading Coquitlam, which plays tonight in Victoria. New Westminster is third, five points behind Vancouver.

Warwick scored twice on passes from Gary Stevens in the fourth quarter to force the overtime.

It took Vancouver just 13 seconds to score the first goal in overtime when Warwick fired a low shot past New Westminster goalie Les Norman. Warwick added the insurance marker at 8:36 of the ten-minute overtime period.

Gord Frederickson scored twice for Vancouver, while Bill Barbour, Bill Robinson, Stevens, Ross McDonald and Bill Chisholm added one goal each for the winners.

MASS DEFECTION

More Cubans Seek Asylum

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—A bus driver today reported that at least seven Cuban athletes he was driving from their camp to the docks jumped out of his vehicle at a traffic stop and asked a policeman to aid them in seeking political asylum.

The driver, Reinaldo Feliciano, said several girls were involved in the mass escape. He said he had 36 passengers on his bus which had been chartered to take the athletes to Isla Grande where they were to be transferred to a tug for removal to a ship lying offshore.

Feliciano said the athletes who escaped ran from one passing car to another begging a lift into town to the U.S. immigration offices where they could seek political asylum.

The team members had been ordered moved from their heavily-guarded shore camp at Olympic Village to a ship lying offshore in an apparent attempt to halt further defections.

THREE TUESDAY

Four Cubans have defected from the team in the past 10 days, three of them Tuesday. They included a girl, Marina Samuels, 18; Hector Rodriguez Cardos, 22; and Francisco Marti Gonzalez, 21. Wrestler Juan P. Vega defected earlier in the week.

A group of 129 Cuban athletes was in the first batch transferred from Olympic Village, in San Juan's suburbs, to the Spanish steamer Cerro Pelado, which brought them here. The delegation numbers nearly 400 persons.

A basketball game the Cubans lost to Puerto Rico Tuesday night erupted into violence.

An unidentified fan tried to haul down the Cuban flag, was attacked by the Cuban players and rescued by other fans. Club-swinging police took 15 minutes to restore order.

Percival Insists On Public Hearing

TORONTO (CP)—Lloyd Percival, coach of the Don Mills Track Club, Tuesday reiterated his willingness to appear at a hearing of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada into charges that he gave his athletes drugs. He has denied the charges.

Percival insisted, however, that the hearing must be public and held by "persons of demonstrated objectivity."

Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., one of the world's best half-milers, made the charge against Percival in a letter to the Central Ontario Track and Field Association March 31.

The COTFA held a closed hearing into the charges April 25 at which Percival was given the opportunity to cross examine witnesses.

Another hearing was held April 26. The COTFA then advised the AAUC of the charges, and requested that the national body make a full investigation, preferably using a judge or magistrate.

Wallace Stinson of Saskatoon, president of the AAUC, said Tuesday the Central Ontario branch of the AAUC is empowered to deal with the matter but he understood the Central Ontario branch planned to refer the matter to the national body.

"Until we have a formal request to move in as a national executive, all we can do is prepare ourselves in the event it might happen," he said.

Stinson said he had written to all branches Saturday asking that the matter be handled quickly and urging that the charges be heard before a judge or magistrate. He noted that M. E. Ferguson of Vancouver, past president of the AAUC, is a magistrate.

Meanwhile, the Percival case sparked a motion of censure against the COFTA board of directors at their meeting Tuesday night.

Art Keay, a veteran walker, made the motion after a financial report showed $1,496 had been spent on "a special hearing and investigation." He said the directors had not given the membership the full circumstances surrounding the allegations against Percival.

The censure motion was defeated 22-4.

COFTA president Fred Foot said transcriptions of the hearing probably will be sold to the AAUC and its Central Ontario branch, covering all expenses.

Profiteers Lurk Behind Every Bush

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — A scarcity of golf balls in New Zealand resulting from recent import restrictions has given young profiteers a golden opportunity.

Boys are running a booming black market in golf balls, and there is little that golf officials can do about it.

What is more, angry golfers are finding that their balls disappear before they lose them. The culprit — a youngster lying in wait behind bushes.

At most golf clubs and sports stores, players are rationed to buying only one or two balls a day.

California Sloop Leads Bermuda Run

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Kialoa II, a big California aluminum sloop owned by John B. Kilroy of Los Angeles, was reported less than 100 miles off Bermuda Tuesday night and appeared likely to be the first to finish the 635-mile ocean yacht race from Newport, R.I., to Bermuda.

The Kilroy sloop, which won Class A honors last year in the Los Angeles to Honolulu race, was spotted by the coast guard cutter Campbell.

Some 20 miles behind Kialoa in calm seas, were Good News, Paiawan, Germania VII and Bolero. Audacious, and Tara also were reported among the leaders.

The U.S. Naval Academy yawl Royono reported she was leaking badly forward and the Campbell went to her assistance.

Big Toy, reported adrift Monday because of a lost rudder, and Tango, which developed a bad leak in her bow, were reported under power.

CONCUSSION START OF TROUBLE . . . . . CLAIMS BILL WARWICK

Grant in for Some Rough Days

EDMONTON (CP) — A 1943 head injury was the start of the trouble that put Grant Warwick in a British Columbia jail cell last week, his brother Bill suggests.

The younger Warwick said Grant was never the same after suffering a fractured skull when he struck his head on the ice while playing for New York Rangers at Detroit Olympia.

"He was unconscious for hours. He got out of hospital in about 10 days but he was through with hockey for that season."

Grant, who had been the National Hockey League's rookie-of-the-year the previous season, changed rapidly after the injury, said Bill, an Edmonton resident who also played with the Rangers and later joined Grant and their brother Dick in winning the world hockey title with Penticton Vs in 1955.

Grant was jailed in New Westminster last week for failure to pay for a $2.35 restaurant meal.

"The day he came out of hospital he began to change," Bill Warwick said. "Bryan Hextall, who played with us, told me one of his doctor friends warned him "that young Grant Warwick is in for one hell of a life."

Previously a perfect player to handle, Grant began talking back to coaches and managers. He went from the Rangers to Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens and eventually drifted into the minors.

"Stresses set him off emotionally and he was great during them, as he was against Russia in 1955," Bill said. "But fits of depression followed and he'd take a drink — not because he was a drunk but to avoid asking for the help he really needed.

"He never drank enough to be a drunk."

B.C. members of the NHL Benevolent Association had helped him financially as had NHL President Clarence Campbell. Friends had offered him jobs.

But money wasn't the problem.

"Grant ducked the real trouble by walking away from it and blaming liquor instead. Just this winter he admitted the old head injury might have something to do with it. When his depressions came about every three months, he'd take a few drinks so people would think the liquor made him wingy, not the head injury."

Fielder Sidelined By Broken Ankle

Red Lions of the Senior Men's Softball League have probably lost the services of left fielder Ben Price for the rest of the season. Price broke his ankle while attempting to slide home during a third-inning rally against McLarens Tuesday night at Heywood Avenue Park.

It was a bad night all around for the Red Lions. They lost, 5-4 to McLarens and dropped out of first place. Red Lions are now tied with McLarens for the third spot, half a game behind Carlings and Sooke.

McLarens showed plenty of power, scoring all their runs on extra base hits.

They banged home four runs in the opening frame to jump to a quick lead. Ron Brousseau brought in Jim Wilson and George Wilmot with a double to set the stage for Keith Hunter's two-run homer off Lions' starter Don Lyon.

Jim Place belted a Lyon delivery to right-centre for a solo home run to provide McLarens with the winning run in the fourth.

Red Lions fought back for two runs in the bottom of the third and scored twice more in the fifth on doubles by Roy St. Dennis, Stan Stewart and Bob Haklane.

RARELY WITHOUT COMPANY

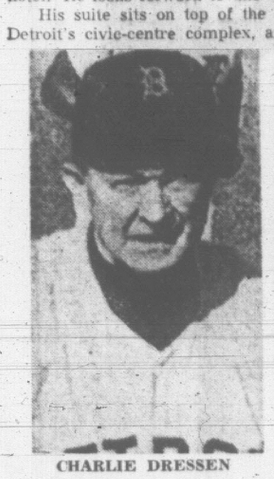
Tigers' Dressen 'Like a Sparrow In a Cage . . .'

By BOB ADDIE

DETROIT — Charlie Dressen, a sparrow in a cage, walks restlessly around his 19th floor suite in Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac hotel. The 67-year-old absentee manager of the Tigers is recovering from his second heart attack and he has a nurse in attendance at all times.

He dresses only to take a walk around the corridors of the hotel. He looks forward to this "walk around the yard."

His suite sits on top of the city. He can see Cobo Hall, Detroit's civic-centre complex, and the Detroit River, a busy avenue of boats. Beyond lies Windsor.



CHARLIE DRESSEN

Dressen also can see the lights of Tiger Stadium and on a clear day he can see beyond that — to the scrawny little kid of 45 years ago from Decatur, Ill., who played second base for Peoria in the Three-Eye League in the summer, and quarterback in the fall for a Decatur football team named the Staleys.

George Halas played end for the Staleys on the same team. The Staleys became the Chicago Bears without Dressen who chose a baseball career. Dressen was pleased to know that Halas had been asking for him.

"A lot of people have contacted me," shrugged Dressen. "Look at this room. I don't have half the junk here. I keep all the cards and I'm trying to answer all the mail and telegrams."

Some people sent Dressen huge cards which make his room look like the display exhibits of one of those sporting goods conventions. The cards have a similar theme: "Get well, pal. We miss you. Get out of bed, Goldbrick."

Hodges, Walker, Smith Drop in . . .

Dressen is rarely without company. There is a stream of visitors in his room, mostly baseball people. Those are the ones Dressen prefers because they talk his language.

Gil Hodges and Rube Walker, two of Dressen's boys when he managed the Brooklyn Dodgers, came up to see him several times. Mayo Smith, the New York Yankees' scout-at-large, was there. He is an effervescent man, full of gossip and opinion. The nurse had to chase him out.

Bob Swift, the caretaker manager of the Tigers, sees Dressen almost every day the club is in town. The Detroit coaches come and Jim Campbell, the Tigers' general manager, is another constant visitor.

Then there are the telephone calls from all over the country. "It's a busy day," said his nurse. "Mr. Dressen never stops talking. He won't quit. He'll talk with his friends all day. He must get his rest."

The best time of the day for Dressen is in the quiet of the evening or when the Tigers are playing. "It's nice at night," he confessed. "I can look down at the city and I can see the lights of Tiger Stadium and I know what they're doing out there. I listen and I call the play and it happens that way, too."

Bob Swift Could Stay as Manager

The suspicion is that Dressen will manage no more. When he is well again, he probably will be given a job in the front office as a roving vice-president.

Swift and the rest of the Tiger organization refuse to discuss the future. Swift still is the "acting" manager, a role he seems destined to fill all his baseball life. But this time it could be different.

It was Swift who took over the Kansas City Athletics in 1959 when manager Harry Craft became ill. Under Swift, the A's won 11 in a row. When he turned the club back to Craft, Swift had a record of 11-2. And yet, at the end of the year Swift was fired along with Craft.

Is Dressen really directing the Tigers from his hotel room? "Not really," says Swift. "Of course, I listen to Charlie's strategy and ideas when I visit him. He's one of the greatest baseball men I've ever known. But I'm strictly on my own right now."

Half an Inning Goes 36 Minutes

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The doubleheader in Denver Tuesday night started out looking like one of the longest twin bills in Pacific Coast League baseball history.

It took 36 minutes to play the first half of the first inning of the first game. No wonder. Phoenix scored 14 runs. Then Denver followed up with three in the same frame, and that's all the scoring there was in the opener. Phoenix also won the nightcap 7-5.

In other league games, Seattle downed Spokane 10-5, San Diego bested Portland 12-2, Oklahoma City edged Indianapolis 5-4, Tulsa beat Tacoma 5-3 and Vancouver beat Hawaii 8-2.

Hawaii's Buster Narum had a one-hitter until the seventh inning, when the visiting Mounties broke loose. Ramon Webster's seventh-inning homer was followed by three runs in the eighth on a homer by John Donaldson, two singles and a three-base error. Donaldson homered again for three runs in the ninth.

LOVELY TO LOOK AT

Possibly indicative of better days ahead, Victoria visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buck of Eugene, Ore., display 30-pound salmon caught Sunday in Oak Bay waters. Mr. Bucks' "first-ever" salmon was caught while fishing off charter boat Lakewood. Signs of good fishing were also displayed in Becher Bay, where numerous anglers landed springs between 11 to 32-pound range. (Robin Clarke photo.)

'Catch of the Year'. . . Any Way You Look at It

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore Orioles made Frank Robinson the catch of the year. Now Robinson has made the catch of the year for the Orioles.

The American League's top slugger turned spectacular outfielder Tuesday night, making a great ninth-inning catch in right field that saved a 7-5 victory for Baltimore over New York Yankees in the first game of a doubleheader.

Robinson, who has sparked the Orioles to the top of the league since they acquired him from Cincinnati Reds this past winter, became the most unpopular person in Yankee Stadium and was the target of all sorts of debris during the second game which the Yankees won 8-3.

The controversial catch came with two Yankees on base and two out. Roy White lofted a fly to deep right field, Robinson raced back to the 3½-foot fence, leaped high into the air, caught the ball and toppled backward into the box seats in the stands.

Umpire Hank Soar waited a few seconds, then signaled the out, which ended the game.

HOUK PROTESTS GAME

Yankee manager Ralph Houk argued in vain, then announced he was protesting the game.

"I don't know what chance I've got with the protest," said Houk, "but I just hope I can find somebody who has a picture of him Robinson) lying there without the ball."

Said Robinson, who ended up with only part of his legs visible from the field:

"I caught it in the webbing of my glove. When I fell into the seats, the fans tried to pull the ball out. They were on top of me, and I had to wrestle to get loose. But the ball never left my glove."

The second game was delayed three other times as refuse, firecracker and other items directed at Robinson were cleared away.

INDIANS EDGE BOSOX

In other AL games, Cleveland Idians edged Boston Red Sox 2-1, Detroit Tigers defeated Washington Senators 5-2, Kansas City Athletics nipped Chicago White Sox 9-8 and California Angels downed Minnesota Twins 10-7.

Before his controversial fly ball, White made two errors that led to five Baltimore runs in the second inning and hit a two-run homer in the sixth. Eddie Watt pitched 3 2-3 innings of hitless relief until the Yankees had their short-lived rally in the ninth.

The second game was tied 3-3 until the seventh when the Yankees erupted for five runs. Hal Reniff ignited the rally with a single, scored the tie-breaking run and allowed only one hit in 5 2-3 innings of relief.

SMOKE SIGNALS?

It's been 20 years or so since Pittsburgh was bothered by train smoke but it was just like old times for a few minutes in Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Midway through the first inning of the Reds' 11-8 victory over the Pirates, trains and a breeze combined to float a cloud of black smoke into Crosley Field.

The Pirates grabbed a 3-0 first-inning lead before the smoke from neighboring Union Station began blowing into Crosley Field.

The cloud caused a delay of four minutes while it floated down the first base line, over to the mound and on out to the outfield. The players could hardly see each other.

When play resumed, the Reds hopped on Woody Fryman for four runs and a lead they never relinquished. Deron Johnson hammered a three-run homer in the second, climaxing a five-run Reds' rally that built a 9-3 lead. Johnson later added a double and scored two runs.

Elsewhere, New York Mets shaded St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 on Bob Shaw's four-hitter, Atlanta Braves dropped Philadelphia 4-1, Houston Astros whipped Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4 and San Francisco Giants downed Chicago Cubs 9-7.

Alertness Helps Workers Sink Hapless Kings

Transport Workers came from behind to push ahead of Kings 4-2 at Hampton Park Tuesday night in Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League game.

Transports trailed 2-1 going into the bottom of the fifth before Art Worth evened things on the scoreboard.

Credit Worth's tying run in the fifth to alertness. The veteran first baseman led off the inning with a looping double to left, but he didn't stay long at second base.

Realizing Kings' righthander John Knowles' tendency to break his low curve off into the dirt, Worth charged far down the baseline with every pitch in anticipation of a passed ball. Knowles' third pitch got past catcher Al Cuthbert and Worth advanced alertly to third, sliding neatly under Cuthbert's throw.

Knowles fanned the next two batters but Worth refused to be left stranded. He broke for home on the first pitch to George Fuller and scored with a slide.

WINNING MARKER

Fuller then walked and advanced to second on a wild pitch before scoring the winning run on a sharp single by John McKeachie.

Brent Siddons threw a strong three-hitter and struck out 13 Kings batters on the way to the win. Siddons allowed two runs in the top of the first but shut Kings out from then on.

Dave Woodley drove in Kings' first run with a double and scored the second on a single by Gerry McAdam.

Barry Harvey, who drove in John Yankoski with Transports' first run early in the game, smacked his second hit of the night to give the winners a big insurance run in the sixth.

MADE A DIFFERENCE

The insurance run made a difference. It kept Kings from stealing or bunting home what would otherwise have been the tying run after Tony Cosier led off the final inning with a three-bagger.

Trailing by two runs, Kings had to swing away at the plate and Siddons retired the side on a ground ball to third and two key strikeouts.

Knowles struck out 14 in six innings and allowed only four hits in a losing cause.

Milwaukee To Be Back In Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Star says the National League is ready to expand to a 12-team circuit next season, putting Milwaukee back into baseball and adding Oakland.

The American League would expand to 12 teams during 1968 with Seattle, New Orleans, San Diego and Dallas as prominent choices, wrote columnist Morrie Siegel Tuesday.

"It has been talked about, it will be dealt with at length at the owners' meeting at the All-Star game in St. Louis next month," Siegel wrote, quoting an unidentified baseball source.

Siegel's source said the Oakland franchise would go to Charles O. Finley, now owner of Kansas City Athletics. He said Finley would sell the A's to a local group in Kansas City.

England, Indies Finish in Draw

LONDON (Reuters)—Maiden centuries by David Holford for the West Indies and by Colin Milburn for England highlighted an interesting final day's play in the second cricket test between the two countries at Lords Tuesday, but their efforts were in vain. The match ended in a draw.

Milburn's innings was the more timely, however, for England was in dire straits with four wickets down for 67 after it had been set to score 284 in 240 minutes, following the West Indies declaration 40 minutes before lunch.

He and Tom Graveney were England's salvation and, they still were together at the close of play, when England had scored a respectable 194 for 4.

Milburn's share was a masterly 126. He and Graveney put on 130 in two hours and when stumps were drawn, the extra half - hour not being claimed, England was 87 runs short of its target.

Milburn made few mistakes in his innings and he aroused the crowd of 12,000 with a mighty pull for six off David Holford. When he reached 69, he became the first English cricketer to score 1,000 runs this season.

Holford, who was 71 overnight and the West Indies 288 for 5, reached his century in five hours and 20 minutes and included five 4s.

Comox Pilot Didn't Have Chance—Probe

OTTAWA—Flight Lieutenant Peter Jsemak, of Comox, "didn't have a chance" to prevent a crash April 23 when his plane smashed into a mountainside killing himself and four other crewmen.

This was the finding of an investigating team into the loss of the Comox-based RCAF Albatross nine miles east of Hope, B.C.

An armed forces spokesman said today the weather unpredictably closed in on the search and rescue aircraft on a training flight to Williams Lake.

★ ★ ★

When the plane took off, the weather forecast was reasonable.

The crew was taking the plane up a narrow mountain valley without the use of radar when fog suddenly descended.

Killed when they struck the unnamed mountain were: Sqdn. Ldr. James Braiden, on loan from Trenton, Ont.; Flt. Lt. Jsemak; Flt. Lt. P. L. Montgomery, second pilot; FO C. J. Cormier, radio officer, and LAC R. E. McNaughton, crewman, all of Comox.

A sixth crewman, FO Robert S. Reed, 25, also of Comox, miraculously survived, but was badly burned.

He was found shortly after the crash staggering towards the nearby highway by an RCMP officer.

PORT ALBERNI—A group of Alberni Valley housewives, alarmed at rising costs, have formed the Consumers Research and Action Group.

Organizer Mrs. Valerie Hill claims a membership of about 60 housewives who feel they are "paying more and getting less."

Smooth Sailing For Cowichan Zoning Bylaw

NORTH COWICHAN—No serious opposition is anticipated tonight when a public hearing is held into the proposed new municipal zoning bylaw.

Reeve Donald Morton said this morning: "There has been considerable interest in the plan drawn up by Vancouver consultant John Maitland-Carter but no one has voiced any protest."

Reeve Morton said the plan includes several new zoning designations such as recreational-commercial and marina-commercial.

An intensive development zone is proposed along the length of the Trans-Canada Highway from Drinkwater Road to Mays Road.

SHOP PLAZAS

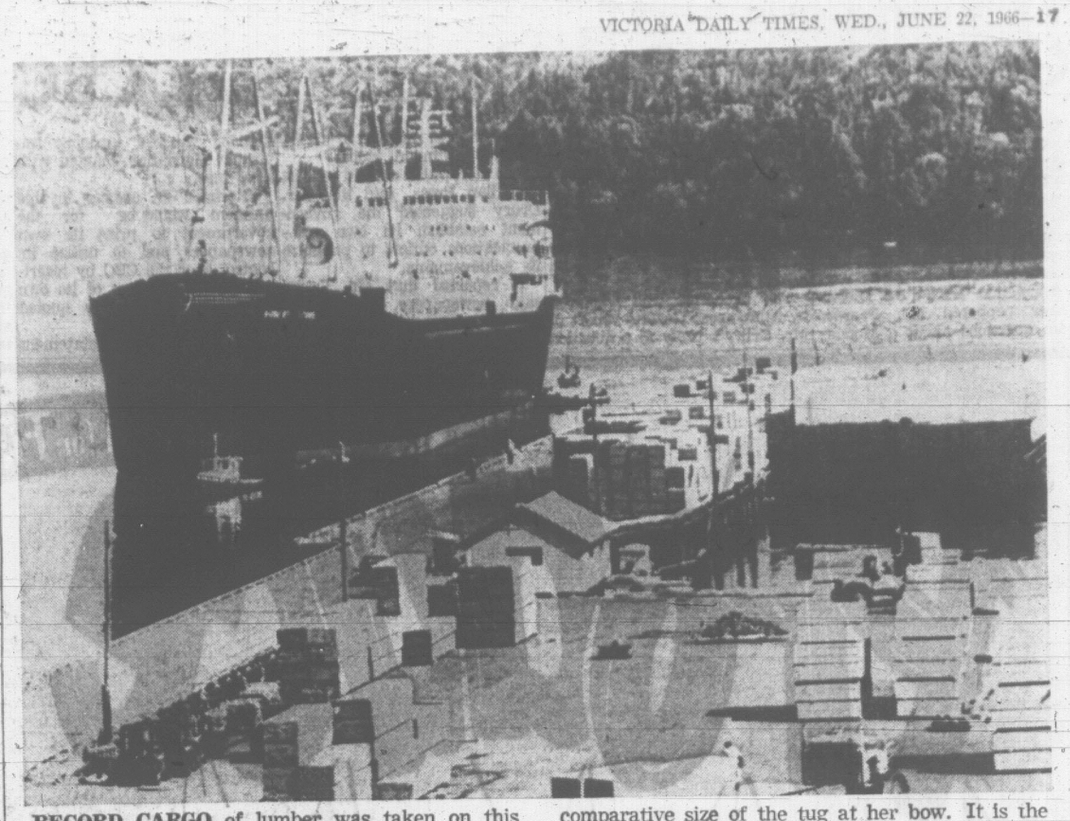
This is a three-mile stretch immediately north of Duncan.

Reeve Morton said it might be the site of future suburban shopping plazas.

It adjoins the site of the proposed new municipal hall.

The plan has been in the making the past six months.

The members of council will sit tonight as the hearing board.



RECORD CARGO of lumber was taken on this week by the giant freighter, Robert Stove, at Harmac and Port Alberni. Size of the 644-foot ship from Oslo, Norway, is illustrated at Crofton by the comparative size of the tug at her bow. It is the largest load of lumber ever loaded anywhere in the world, 17.5 million board feet. It is destined for the U.S. eastern seaboard. (Jay Powley photo.)

A SURVEYOR naturally has an eye for good lines and Jim Green is no exception. Here he admires the lines of Gerry Wellburn's 1911 Mitchell. Both were present when the Victoria Vintage Car Club visited Cowichan Valley Forest Museum at the weekend. The Mitchell, driven by John Morford of Duncan, will be one of the cars in the centennial tour of the province July 2 to 14. Also in the tour will be a Stanley Steamer driven by George Herbert, Duncan. Mr. Wellburn, director of the museum, will be in the tour at the wheel of his favorite 1921 model T roadster. Five teams—the Kinsmen Club, Canadian Legion, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, Sidney Junior Chamber of Commerce and firemen—will take part in a tug-of-war contest.

The day's events will be rounded off with a challenge baseball game between Sidney Scavengers, captained by Don Norbury, and a team from RCN VU 33 Squadron at Patricia Bay.

At 5 p.m. Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will turn the sod to mark the start in the construction of the Sidney centennial library.

Government-Run Newspapers, CBC Control Hint Stirs Commons Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—Neither the government nor Industry Minister Drury has any intention of setting up government-run newspapers or intervening with the CBC to improve the government's image, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Tuesday.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker peppered Mr. Pearson with questions about a Monday night speech in Montreal by Mr. Drury. He asked whether the government planned to utilize control of the CBC "so the Canadian people will see what the government believes they should see and hear what the government feels they should hear."

The exchange was triggered by a Montreal Gazette report of Mr. Drury's reply to a question at the Liberal meeting in his St. Antoine-Westmount riding.

The story, also carried by The Canadian Press, said that Mr. Drury suggested the government establish its own communications outlets to publicize its achievements.

It reported that Mr. Drury said newspapers, radio and television concentrate on issues which cause argument in Parliament while ignoring important legislation enacted with little fuss.

"Perhaps an answer to this problem would be for the government to print its own newspapers and to utilize its control over the CBC by inserting a few programs of its own as well," the Gazette quoted him as saying.

In a prepared statement Tuesday, Mr. Drury said the quotation was inaccurate, out of context and did not represent his views or those of the government.

He said he did state that the government should improve its methods of bringing its achievements to the attention of the public through better use of such media as newspapers and television.

"At no time did I advocate that the government misuse public ownership of the CBC by inserting government programs, as the news report suggests. In fact, I have been consistently on record as opposing any government intervention in CBC programming or management."

RAISED QUESTION

In the Commons, Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether the government plans to print newspapers and direct or control the CBC in order to give the government "that image it apparently has not got today . . ."

Neither the government . . . nor the minister . . . has any such intention," the prime minister replied.

R. G. L. Fairweather (PC Royal) asked Mr. Drury whether he could assure the Commons that he did not mean what he said to the riding meeting.

Barry Mather (NDP, New Westminster) asked whether the government would agree to pay for an opposition newspaper with public funds if it is to have its own newspaper.

Both were ruled out of order by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

Tijuana Brass Craze Worth $30 Million

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There seems to be no limit to the phenomenon of Herb Alpert and his Tijuana Brass. Latest evidence:

Of the top five albums on the selling charts, three are Alpert's. And all six of his albums are listed in the top 50, an unprecedented feat.

His latest single record, Work Song, sold 500,000 copies in one week. The Tijuana Brass recently drew $54,000 for a single performance in Baltimore.

Even the modest trumpeter-tycoon is amazed at his good fortune.

"Almost every hour of every day I have to stop and make sure that it's all happening," he says. "This year our take from the whole enterprise — the brass, records, the music publishing company, the Baja Marimba band and our new Latin band, Brazil 66 — will be, estimating conservatively, $30,000,000."

The 27-year-old Alpert strives constantly to improve the Brass's sound.

"That was my intention when I started the band: to continue to explore new kinds of music," he says. "For instance, our new record, Work Song, is actualy a jazz tune; it was written by the brother of Cannonball Adderly. Jazz is such a rich vein of musical expression that it should be put into form that is appreciated by the entire public, not just the jazz fancier."

The Tijuana Brass puts on its own concerts without other acts and Alpert is constantly adding patter, humor and special bits. The emphasis is on enjoyment, on both sides of the bandstand.

"I think that may be one reason for our success," he said. "Ours is happy music. It was welcomed by the public after the flood of protest songs."

Rolling Stones Hostile

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rolling stones, as every schoolboy knows, gather no moss. Now it turns out they even have trouble finding a suitable place to bed down for the night.

That at least was the complaint Tuesday of the British rock 'n' roll group known as the Rolling Stones. They sued 14 elite New York hotels for $5 million in damages because they were refused overnight lodging last week.

The shaggy-haired quintet, Britain's latest contribution to musical culture, contended their civil rights had been violated.

They said the hotels told their agent they "did not desire to lodge the plaintiffs and that they must go elsewhere."

The five youths said this refusal discriminated against them on "account of their national origin."

Out-of-Court Settlement For $1,242,500

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Samuel Goldwyn won a $1,242,500 out-of-court settlement Tuesday at the finish of a 16-year legal battle against 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. and major theatre chains.

Goldwyn, an independent film producer, started the action for damages under anti-trust laws in 1950.

Joseph P. Alioto, Goldwyn's lawyer, said earlier awards plus the latest settlement made about $1,900,000 total recovery.

ANOTHER OP'NIN, ANOTHER SHOW, for these young performers who will appear in dance review of that name, 8 p.m. Friday, at St. Martin's Church Hall, 550 Obed. All pupils of the Marge Lindley School of Dance, they are (back row, from left): Willow Planes, 15; Deborah Pearson, 13; Sharon Ray, 10; with (front) Tony Townsend, 6, and Tiny Marnie Chalk, 4. Eighty dancers aged 3 to 23 will enliven show's outer space theme, along with accordion and vocal numbers, and appearance of Sooke guitarists, The Rogues.

Rural Lavatory ...Historic Spot?

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Take a bus trip to an historic rural lavatory—that's the guidebook advice offered to German visitors for next month's World Cup soccer tournament in England.

It is, says German journalist Kurt Hopfinger, one of many translation mistakes in 50,000 German-language World Cup guides just off the press here.

What the guidebooks mean is "beauty spot"—but, says Hopfinger who lives near Birmingham, the word used in translation is "ortchen" meaning "lavatory."

Alderman Sir Frank Price, chairman of Birmingham's World Cup committee, promised an investigation, but said:

"It 's too late to do anything. All the copies have been printed and some are on their way to Germany. We cannot afford to recall them."

TOP ARTIST

'Teaching Proved Too Interesting

VANCOUVER (CP) — Artist Jack Shadbolt is quitting teaching because he likes it too much.

The 57-year-old man, one of Canada's best-known painters, says he is going to devote his time to his art.

Mr. Shadbolt, who has taught at the Vancouver School of Art for 35 years, says:

"I'm not quitting teaching because I don't like it, but because I like it too much.

"The constant discussion of ideas while teaching is too deflecting. I just want to look the door and concentrate."

He says he has been the beneficiary of years as a teacher — "everything I've learned about art has been by teaching it."

Teaching was part of a deliberately - planned pattern Mr. Shadbolt set for himself years ago. Through it he earned enough to be able to paint without the "chaos" of worrying about money.

"I decided there was enough chaos in the ideas of art and I wanted a steady pattern for my life."

UNIONIST WARNS

CBC Faces Strike Possibility in Fall

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian director of a CBC union warned Tuesday the corporation faces the possibility of a strike at the opening of the fall radio and television season.

Timothy O'Sullivan, Canadian director of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (CLC), said the cause would be the break down of negotiations for a new contract.

The union and two others are moving to conciliation in their wage and contract disputes with the CBC.

The other unions are the Canadian Wire Services Guild, representing about 200 editors and reporters in radio and television news and the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees.

The technicians' dispute will be heard by a conciliation board in Ottawa beginning July 13.

The union is asking for a wage increase of 35 per cent in a two-year agreement. The CBC has made no wage offer.

Teen-Agers Anti-Social In Victoria? Come Off It!

By ELIZABETH FORBES

We hear so much of delinquency and the anti-social attitudes of teen-age boys and girls, it comes as a heart-warming experience to find a story that shows the other side of the picture.

Forbes

It happened to me last Saturday when I attended official opening of Woodwyn School on the Elford Street property of the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded.

Among those present was Harriet Gordon, supervisor of junior and high school Red Cross for Vancouver Island. With her was some of the boys and girls who belong to these groups in the Victoria area.

★ ★ ★

They were at the opening because they were interested in the work of the new school. And they were interested because they had earned money in their various groups to supply some of the needed equipment.

When we went through the school after the opening ceremonies, this equipment was all in place and ready for use.

The Red Cross group at Esquimalt Senior High had given cots and blankets for the nursery. A refrigerator to hold baby formulas was the gift of Mt. View High. A group in S. J. Willis Junior High presented the drapes. (I heard a pretty young thing exclaim how "nice" they looked "now that they are in place.")

★ ★ ★

Members from Oak Bay Junior High brought a gift-wrapped box, to the opening ceremonies filled with dishes for the small kitchen. Norfolk House girls had supplied pictures for classroom walls.

Boys in occupational classes at Central Junior High did their part by making equipment for play and classrooms. They worked from pictures in a catalogue that listed the toys needed to encourage co-ordination and concentration.

"We could never have afforded these toys at this time," said Winnifred Clark, executive director of the association. "We are extremely grateful to these boys and to all the young people who have given so generously to help those less fortunate than themselves.

★ ★ ★

Opening of the school is a "dream come true" for Mrs. Clark. From the day, in 1959, when the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded took over the big rambling house on the Elford Street property for a children and adult centre, she has had her eye on the second lot that went with it.

It took time to accomplish but when the school was officially opened on that lot, last Saturday, it was just as Mrs. Clark had dreamed.

The modern building with its airy windows and sunny interior was made possible in a number of ways, some rather miraculous and others due to the generosity of sympathetic men and women.

Start of the fund was in "dribs and drabs" as Mrs. Clark puts it. These were mostly from donors who wanted their money earmarked for "something special." A sum of $4,500 was gathered in this way.

★ ★ ★

Then came a windfall. An elderly gentleman who wasn't even known to Mrs. Clark or the association, left them a legacy of $12,000. It went into the building account.

A donation came from the Williamson foundation in Vancouver. Mrs. W. C. Woodward of "Woodwyn Farm" in Saanich gave a large cash donation. The Douglas Rotary Club and the Optimists helped and the United Commercial Travellers underwrote the cost of all the plumbing. The Opti-Mrs. pledged themselves to be continuing sponsors of the kindergarten.

And so "Woodwyn" School was born.

Right now, Mrs. Clark and her kindergarten and day nursery supervisors, Miss Eileen Edgar and Mrs. Joan Hooper, are busy moving in. But even so, the nursery already has its quota of crib cases and the kindergarten room is full every day.

A volunteer staff of unselfish women help with the work. But with the opening of the new school, others are needed.

"The more voluntary assistance we get the more we can do for the retarded," Mrs. Clark points out.

Special Team To Draw Up Garbage Plan

A special committee will be established to study ways to dispose of garbage in the Greater Victoria area.

The Intermunicipal Committee at its regular meeting Tuesday agreed that a special committee comprised of senior medical health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread and municipal engineers should be formed immediately.

Formation of the committee follows the release several weeks ago of a special garbage disposal report prepared by the Greater Victoria Board of Health.

In the report Dr. Whitbread outlined the two major methods of garbage disposal: incineration and sanitary landfill.

The various municipalities are expected to decide which of the methods the area can afford.

The cost of an incinerator has been estimated at $2.5 million and would require a staff of 20 men to operate on a three-shift basis.

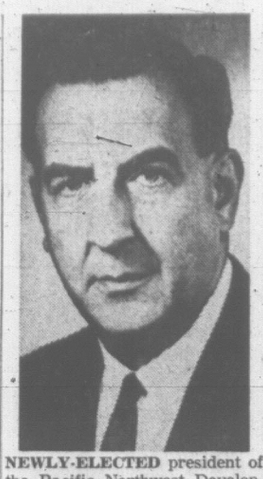
1,030 Adults Attend School

DUNCAN — During the past season 61 adult education courses were operated by Cowichan School Board.

Fred Cunnings, director, reported Tuesday there was a total registration of 1,030.

"A plateau seems to have been reached which would seem to require a full time director to maintain and further expand," he said.

Mr. Cunnings said it had been difficult to maintain at one in three the ratio of vocational to non-vocational courses.



NEWLY-ELECTED president of the Pacific Northwest Development Council is J. D. King, industrial development agent for B.C. Hydro. Mr. King is first B.C. president of the council, succeeding C. J. Crocker of the Spokane Industrial Park. The council will hold its 1967 annual meeting in Vancouver next spring.

CALLED IT SABOTAGE

"Sabotage" acquired its meaning from the fact that in the early days of industry in France, workmen who wanted to rest would often kick their sabots, or wooden shoes, into the machinery to stop it.

Healthy Leaves Not Always Green

By HILDA BEASTALL

Most of us think of green as being the color of healthy foliage for our plants, and any deviation from green is likely to cause consternation.

Hilda

On shrubs, new growth is likely to deviate from mature branches not only in shape of the leaves but also in the color.

If we look carefully at the new leaves now appearing on camellias for instance, we notice that instead of being thick in texture and dark green in color, they are silky, thin, and of bronze tint.

This is quite normal, and as they develop in size, the leaves gradually become darker green and almost leathery in texture.

Camellias are not the only shrubs to display this difference in appearance of young leaves. It is easily noticeable on shrubs of others in the broad-leaf evergreen group.

The pierises (lily-of-the-valley bush), some of the rhododendrons, the interesting coral-stemmed drymis of New Zealand and also the photinias, all these are shrubs of winter beauty which are now making much new growth displaying bronze tints.

A lesson to be learned from observing these tender new shoots, is, that if the season was September or October instead of June, a frost would surely take its toll.

While it is a foolish thought to mention frost while we are in June, the warning is that if these shrubs receive any additional fertilizer from now on, they are likely to make additional new growth later in summer.

These would have no chance of ripening in sunshine as those seen now will do, and resulting damage could be serious enough to prevent flowering in the following spring.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1966—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

The strong man of France is up to something in Russia, and like most of President Charles de Gaulle's moves, this one will bear close watching.

As usual, the old general marches like a hero. His announced intent is to break the "harmful spell" which has kept East and West in Europe eyeing each other distrustfully these many years.

"Long Live Russia!" cries de Gaulle; and while it is not reported that his hard-headed hosts returned the sentiment, his welcome has been reasonably warm.

What will come of the embrace remains to be seen, and in these troubled times, it's nice to learn of friendly exchanges between nations.

However, I doubt that Charles de Gaulle's presence at the Kremlin will be cheered in London and Washington, and hope we are not trading one harmful spell for another.

Cultural exchanges are to be courted; but a Franco-Russian power bloc is something else again, and would pose new problems for the West.

★

De Gaulle, the bitterly-proud, autocratic old man who made himself virtual dictator of France, has walked a long road since he emerged as a professional soldier from St. Cyr Military Academy.

He led one of the few successful French counter-attacks against the Nazi panzers of 1940. France fell, but he scorned surrender, and in London raised the double-barred cross of Lorraine as a rallying symbol for his countrymen.

Winston Churchill, whom the prickly Free French leader irritated profoundly, did not regard him as a friend of England, and noted in him the qualities which were later to emerge very strongly.

These included utter arrogance, towering ego, and a fanatical devotion to his country. His declared mission was and is "to serve the higher interests of France", and this he has done with an iron hand. He has kept the democratic shell, but within it, he rules alone.

This is de Gaulle at 75, as he attempts in his Russian adventure to expand his role. By charming the Soviets, he will fulfil his dream of making a restored France the spokesman for non-communist Europe.

It's a neat trick if he can bring it off. At this distance, however, it seems highly doubtful that he will achieve the purpose to which he committed himself after his exclusion from the Teheran and Yalta conference of an earlier era.

★

To de Gaulle—vain, humorless and dedicated—those affronts were unforgivable. They undoubtedly shaped his attitude toward and his future relations with Britain and the United States.

We have the exclusion of Britain from the Common Market in 1963, and the determined coolness toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which has culminated in his demand that the United States give up her bases on French soil.

The counterpoint of de Gaulle's love for France is the dislike (hatred might not be too strong a word) which he holds for the U.S.

So we have here an astute leader of considerable power who has turned his back on Britain and has now made what may prove to be a new move in his attempt to force the U.S. out of Europe.

He is unlikely to succeed, and I find it equally improbable that de Gaulle's France will become the agent by which the long East-West confrontation is ended.

That calls for a peace-making between great powers. Despite the general's efforts, France is not included among these.

No one can deny that this extraordinary man has served his country well in the past. But today he may be leading her into dangers from which she can save herself only by a renewed entente with the West from which Charles de Gaulle seeks to separate her.

RETIRING SYMPHONY SOCIETY PRESIDENT IS GOOD LISTENER

Victoria's Own Music Man Has Never Played a Note

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Fifty years ago, in Yorkshire, England, a young lad, the son of a Yorkshire farmer, made his way into the nearby town of Middlesbrough.

In his pocket were some carefully hoarded coins and in his heart was curiosity and anticipation as he headed for the town's main concert hall.

He was about to hear his first symphony concert and while he didn't think of it that way at the time, he was also to take the first step on what would become a lifelong interest.

That boy was Jack Barraclough.

At tonight's annual meeting of Victoria Symphony Society he will retire from the office of president which he has held for 10 years, but he has no intention of ceasing to work for the organization.

As past president he remains a member of the board and plans to concentrate on fund-raising activity for the Symphony Foundation and School of Music.

Jack has never played an instrument or studied music but he has always been a good listener and believed in the power and importance of music in people's lives.

The seventh in a family of nine brothers and sisters, he recalls winter evenings when the whole family gathered in the big kitchen and sang as they worked together or hooked rugs.

"One of us would conduct," he remembers. "We had a piano but only two of my sisters learned to play it."

Jack Barraclough is a man who is shy in the face of compliments or any personal recognition of his achievements, which have included significant contributions to welfare work.

"Yorkshire people are reticent when it comes to praise," he comments. "They rarely pass out compliments. They believe there is only one way to do things and that is to the utmost of your ability."

Their maxim is summed up in a phrase he quotes: "The best you can do is the least you should do."

He thinks that many of the people involved with the establishing of the Victoria Symphony lived by that maxim even though they may never have heard the phrase.

Nemetz Report Ready

Judge's Word On Thursday

The Nemetz report on the wood industry contract dispute is expected to be submitted to Labor Minister Leslie Peterson on Thursday.

It will contain recommendations designed to settle differences between the 26,000-member International Woodworkers of America and the 120-company Forest Industrial Relations.

NOT BINDING

The report, by industrial inquiry commissioner Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz, is not binding on either side.

Several IWA locals have scheduled meetings for the weekend to vote on the report. In Victoria, a spokesman said no decision has been made on a meeting but because all operations are working a vote could be taken on the job.

About 10,000 of the coastal woodworkers continued their strike. The other 16,000 heeded the call of the regional negotiating committee to wait for the Nemetz report.

POWER STRUGGLE

In the Duncan local, where 4,300 men are on strike against 30 operations, an IWA camp committee chairman said the strike is the result of a power struggle within the union for control of the regional council.

Howard Delmage of Youbou said the present situation was created deliberately and the forthcoming regional election was the main issue in the splinter strike.

NO ELECTION

The idea was dismissed by Fernie Viala, local vice-president, who said "there is no power struggle as no election is coming for quite a few months, November or December."

"Mr. Delmage is playing a little of his own brand of politics but we are not concerned. The men of Duncan Local 1-80 will definitely not go back to work until after the Nemetz report has been voted upon."

Shingle Men Reject Offer

A wage offer identical to that offered the International Woodworkers of America has been turned down by negotiators for shingle weavers at two mills.

The offer by Forest Industrial Relations, representing mills in Victoria and Vancouver, was for 22 cents over two years.

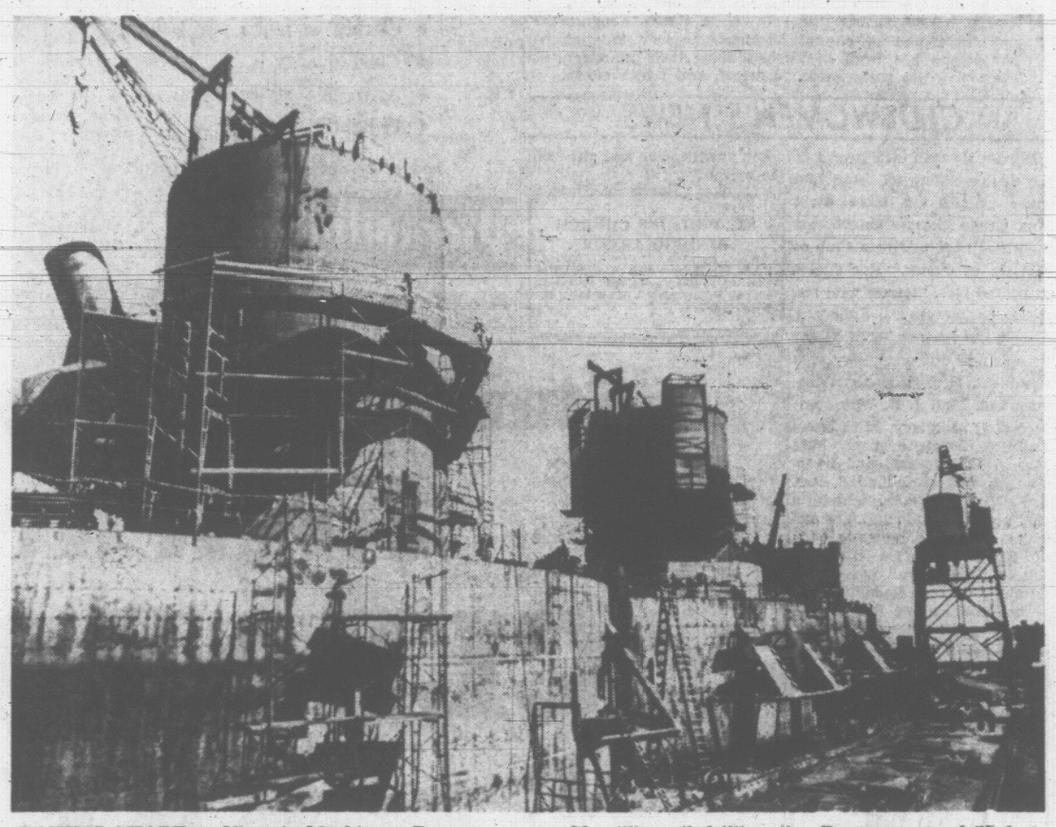
"It was not accepted," said Harold Reilly, business agent for the shingle weavers Local 2802 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

"They are waiting for the report of Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz in the IWA. That is why they made such a ridiculous offer."

Both the IWA and the shingle weavers are seeking an extra 50 cents over one year.

The two shingle mills involved are Smith Cedar Products in Victoria and Huntting-Merritt division of Canadian Forest Products in Vancouver.

About 110 men work at the Victoria mill and 215 in Vancouver.



TAKING SHAPE at Victoria Machinery Depot are the three pontoons and legs, part of what will be a $9 million oil drilling rig. Pontoons stand 25 feet high with legs now reaching 40 feet. (Times Photo.)

Councillor Favors Releasing Report On Esquimalt Probe

A member of Esquimalt's fire committee said today he favors public release of a report which considered the cost of a separate fire brigade.

"There is nothing to hide," said Coun. A. R. Mebs, who is also chief fire inspector with the national defence department here.

He had only received a copy of the report last Wednesday. The report would be discussed at the committee's next regular meeting in two weeks.

Coun. Mebs said consideration of the report was delayed pending the police commission's study of job analysis.

In Esquimalt, the policemen double as firefighters.

UP TO COUNCIL

Earlier, Reeve Ray Bryant said the police report will remain confidential but it will be up to council whether the fire report is made public.

The Esquimalt Policemen's Union has decided to seek a B.C. Supreme Court ruling on the legality of its double duties, and has asked for public release of both reports.

Tuesday, the regional vice-president of the International Association of Firefighters, Gordon Anderson, supported the police.

"Any survey dealing with the safey of the community must not be allowed to be kept secret," he said.

Coun. Mebs, who personally favors a single police-fire department said, fire losses across the country average $7 to $8 per capita.

In Esquimalt, it is 60 cents per annum.

"When we look at statistics, and we are supported by the navy in case of a major fire, it is rather silly to think we will now establish a fire department.

"It would be a terrific expense. The intent of the report is to give people an estimate of what the total cost would be. It does not mean we will necessarily buy it."

He declined to say what the cost of a separate fire department would be, although Reeve Ray Bryant has said it is between $200,000 and $300,000.

TOP PRIORITY FOR DISTURBED

Inability to handle emotionally disturbed children is a major problem in British Columbia, Health Minister Eric Martin said today.

"This situation is one of top priority," he told delegates to the annual B.C. Pharmaceutical Association's convention in the Empress Hotel.

"What do we do?" Mr. Martin asked. "There is treatment but, as it goes on, more and more children are born. There are now 600 beds for emotionally disturbed children in B.C. where there were no beds at all some time ago."

The minister said planning is well advanced on a $10,000,000 residential school for the mentally retarded at Colquitz.

"It is up to the local community to build hospital beds, and the cost of operation be paid by the provincial government.

"If they don't, the situation will become catastrophic. People are living longer now and this adds to the problem."

Mr. Martin told the pharmacists that terminal cases may occupy beds for a long time.

"You and your drugs will keep them there. This is not a criticism, it is praise."

The minister said there are forces at work in B.C. against the free enterprise system. But, he said, he could not name them because the situation was too "touchy."

"You must identify these forces and keep them in full view. At all costs, freedom of the individual must be maintained.

"It is the duty of others to see that your clients have money to buy your drugs."

PLANNERS TO ATTEND BARBECUE

Town planners from across Canada will be feted to a salmon barbecue in Gorge Park when they meet here in July.

Victoria - Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee this morning agreed to grant permission to local officers of the Town Planning Institute of Canada to smoke their fish in the park providing all necessary fire permits are obtained.

Members of the Songhees tribe will be chefs.

Following the barbecue delegates will return to their Empress Hotel convention headquarters via paddle wheeler.

Saanich Huddles On Low-Rental Housing Project

Saanich's health and welfare committee met for 90 minutes behind closed doors Tuesday night to discuss subsidized housing for low-income people.

Attending the meeting were deputy municipal affairs minister J. Everett Brown and Chris Dowling, local manager for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Mr. Brown said later he thought the committee will pursue the subject further.

300 Workers On Two Shifts Building Rig

Work is going "full steam ahead" on a $9 million oil drilling rig at Victoria Machinery Depot.

More than 300 workers on two shifts are pushing ahead on the pontoons and legs being assembled at the Dallas Road yard.

The pontoons are 25 feet high and the legs, now reaching 40 feet, will eventually be 140 feet above the pontoon and below the deck.

The three pontoons and semi-completed legs will be moved separately into the water and then linked. The rest of the legs will built in the fitting-out basin beside the VMD yard.

The first pontoon-leg is expected to be moved into the water in three weeks. Completion date for the rig is next January or February.

About eight feet of the pontoons will be submerged when the rig is afloat.

WORK OFF V.I.

The rig, first of its kind to be made here, is being built for Southeastern Commonwealth Drilling Company Limited of Calgary which will charter it to Shell Oil for work off Vancouver Island.

The three legs between the pontoons and the deck are 35 feet in diameter.

A VMD spokesman said there have been many changes in the structure and design of the rig, but no significant ones.

About one-third of the workers on the project are welders.

Summer School Deadline Now

Thursday is the last day students may register for the University of Victoria's 1966 summer session, Dean Robert Wallace said today.

Registration takes place at the registrar's office on the Lansdowne campus.

So far 975 students have registered for credit courses in the summer session, which runs from July 4 to Aug. 19.

Strachan Demands Session

Socred Regime Blamed For 'Present Turmoil'

Opposition Leader Strachan today called for "an immediate legislative session" to review labor laws and curb rising prices.

The New Democratic Party leader told a press conference he was "shocked and disturbed" by the present series of labor-management breakdowns.

"The present turmoil is a direct result of government policy and government inaction," he said.

He charged Social Credit labor legislation has seen the government "come down" on the side of management.

The implementation of present labor laws have put the courts, management and the government opposed to the labor movement, he said.

EQUALITY

Mr. Strachan said the NDP wants the immediate legislative session to seek amended labor legislation to give "equality in bargaining power" and "increase minimum wage rates."

He said his party would press for a "full-time labor minister" establishment of a prices review board, ask for a B.C. economic council to develop manpower, a review of the vocational training program and an increase in supplementary old age pension allowances.

Mr. Strachan said unions are preparing strike action "because they have been deliberately manoeuvred in that position through the collusive action of B.C. employers under the recently-formed commercial industrial research foundations."

He said the foundation was formed by B.C. companies to plan strategy against unions.

He charged "loaded laws" and "smart lawyers" were causing a reduction in B.C. living standards through "inflated production and inflated prices."

Employers were not providing adequate on-the-job training causing insecurity among older workers, he said.

Mt. Douglas Trail Tangle To Be Studied

Hikers, horsemen and motorcycle riders may soon get their own trails in Mount Douglas Park.

Victoria parks administrator Herbert Warren told the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee this morning that the three groups now using the trails were "incompatible."

Mr. Warren made the statement when the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee met to discuss complaints that motorcycles in Mount Douglas Park were a regular weekend nuisance.

FOOT PATHS

"The first trails were foot trails," Mr. Warren said. "They are now being taken over by horsemen and bike riders. The three are incompatible and some effort must be made to separate them."

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis didn't agree.

"I dont think the complaints are justified, he said. "Saanich police have received no complaints.

Saanich parks administrator Bert Richmond said the only answer to the problem was to build more trails and reserve them for a specific use.

MEETINGS SET

The committee decided Mr. Warren should meet with motorcycle enthusiasts to see what part they would be prepared to play in the building of additional trails.

Next week Mr. Warren meets with riding club representatives to attempt to resolve a clash between nature lovers and horse riders in Thetis Lake Park.

Thieves Steal Doctors' Bags From Parked Cars

Two doctors' bags, one containing drugs, have been stolen in the Greater Victoria area in the past 24 hours.

Central Saanich police said one of the bags was taken from a car belonging to Dr. J. Scott Groves, parked outside his home, 1539 Mt. Newton Cross Road, about 1 this morning.

The bag contained a half bottle of demerol and doctor's equipment.

A bag belonging to Dr. Jack Patterson was stolen from his car in St. Joseph' Hospital parking lot about 11:25 a.m. Tuesday.

It contained $250 worth of instruments.

By Penny Saver

Over the back fence the other day, my neighbor decided that a summer camp for her toddler would be the ideal thing. Personally, I don't think they have camps for one-year-olds. Nor do I imagine that my neighbor would let the baby out of her sight for a whole two weeks. She was thinking, I'm sure, that she would be free from trying to find him the ideal summer play suit. Summer camp is not the answer to that, but one shop has perfect outfits just made for your youngster.

Imported from West Germany, there are cotton knitted play suits that stock the shelves in one shop. These little wonders feature the buttons at the shoulder and a cord around the middle. Colors are blue or pink on a white background.

The suits are made with legs with the stocking foot. They are perfect for early evening when the weather is getting a little cooler. Sizes range from very small to the one-year-old size and prices are from $1.85 to $3.50, depending on the size.

Little shirts in cotton knit, also German-made, sell for $2. These are striped and feature little appliqued birds and animals. The pastel blue and pink shades are color-fast, so that washing them in your regular wash is no problem.

A good supply of sweaters is excellent for baby's wardrobe. One jacket-style sweater with button-down front is ideal for cool, rainy days or for evening wear. These have pink decorations, and sell for $2.99.

Some tiny, nimble fingers are always eager to see how much strain a button will take. Supplement his wardrobe with a pull-over style sweater. Cotton knits in this type, with long sleeves and color-fast patterns, sell for $3.25. No more worries about missing buttons with these, or the chance that your youngster will catch a chill.

Do you want to know where Penny found these necessities for babies? Give her a call at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Floating on Your Back Will Ease Your Tensions

There is something so restful about water, whether it be the pounding of the surf on the beach or the gentle lapping of lakes and rivers against boats or shores. And there is nothing so completely relaxing as floating on your back with the water for a couch and the sky for an umbrella. One can feel every frazzled nerve end relax as worries drift away. This is literally true. It's almost impossible to worry.

Lowman

Floating on your back is important because it gives you this relaxation and it is also valuable because it can provide rest periods during a long swim or should one become suddenly tired.

This is how you learn. Sit down in knee-deep water. Straighten your arms straight out from the shoulders on the water's surface. Fill your lungs with air, drop your head backward and straighten your entire body from toe to head. If your feet sink, bring them up with a lazy crawl kick.

It is really easier to float in deeper water. Try it waist-deep. Take a deep breath and give a push from your feet as you straighten your body out toward the water's surface. Lower your head backward. Do not be afraid to do this. The water should come almost to the eye brows. Remember, you breathe through your nose, not the rest of your head.

Tenseness will make you sink. Try to relax when you float. When you want to stop floating bend your knees and drop your feet toward the bottom as you pull back your hands.

Scullling is a lazy, easy stroke, which anyone can do who can float. This is how. Float on your back. Start kicking the crawl in a lazy manner. Kick from your hips with your knees more relaxed than when swimming the regular crawl. The push does not come from the soles of your feet but from the insteps, ankles and legs, as they go down.

Bend your elbows and draw your hands back as far as the lowest rib, close to your sides, fingers trailing. Raise hands so that the palms are parallel to your feet. Straighten elbows and push with your hands toward your feet. Continue.

If you would like to teach yourself or your children to swim or learn some new strokes, you will want my leaflet "Learn to Swim." If so send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BE SMART—

Vacation time's almost here and you'll need an oversized travel handbag in which to carry absolute essentials with you on plane or train. This one's in kangaroo, carries its own lock and key for safety. An idea: Tie a huge silk square to a handle, use it for a hair cover-up when needed.

Fresh air and freshly barbecued salmon proved to be a winning combination when citizens of Alert Bay staged a salmon barbecue during the weekend visit of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes. Seen tasting the delicious morsels are, left to right, Mrs. Dan Campbell, wife of the provincial minister of municipal affairs; Mrs. Pearkes, Mrs. Myrne Rosback, wife of a prominent Alert Bay merchant, and Mrs. Moses Alfred. Fur Stole and Budgie Bird Vie For Top Billing at OES Party

There was nothing really "cagey" about the budgie bird who stole the show, Saturday afternoon at the raffle stall at the garden party sponsored by the Oak Bay Chapter No. 42, Order of the Eastern Star. A fur stole, grocery hampers, and a lavishly decorated cake were among the other items at this stall, which was convened by Mrs. S. E. Meiss, Mrs. G. Williams, Mrs. J. Davies, Mrs. G. Medd, Mrs. J. Nellans, and Mr. J. C. Howell.

Mrs. S. H. Watson was hostess of the affair, which was held on the lawns of her home at 2567 Estevan Avenue. Guests enjoyed tea and a selection of sandwiches and cookies on the grounds, which were bordered with geraniums, shasta daisies and calla lilies. Small arrangements centred each table.

Mrs. Bert Tradewell, past matron, opened the affair. Guests were greeted by Mrs. R. Hawkes, worthy matron, and Mrs. G. Marchment, general convener.

A rock garden and baskets of fuchsia hanging from an apple tree formed the setting for the penny stall, convened by Mrs. J. Clayton and Mrs. J. C. Howell.

The home-cooking stall, convened by Mrs. J. Ilott and Mrs. Amy Hopley, was forced, by popular demand, to wear a "sold out" sign midway through the afternoon.

Many guests waited patiently for their lucky number at the bingo tables. Mrs. S. McAlister and Mrs. F. Edmonds were in charge of this event.

Convening the kitchen arrangements were Mrs. S. Blanchard and Mrs. Bert Beacom. Serviteurs were Mrs. J. S. Hunter, Mrs. H. Gableman, Mrs. S. L. Anderson, Mrs. J. Green and Mrs. J. Horne. The candy stall was convened by Mrs. O. Prescott and Mrs. F. Smethurst.

In charge of receipts, which totalled $286.95, was Mrs. E. McLagan.

Esquimalt Church Plans To Sponsor Strawberry Tea

The summertime favorite of young and old alike—strawberry shortcake—will be the star attraction, Saturday afternoon, of the strawberry tea, being sponsored by the Queen of Peace Council Catholic Women's League.

For adults there will be huge slices of the treat and special individual cakes in smaller sizes will be provided for the "younger set." Door prizes will be offered.

The affair begins at 2 p.m. and will be held in the garden of president and general convener Mrs. M. Kokran, 851 Old Esquimalt Road. If the weather is poor, the parish hall at 849 Old Esquimalt Road will provide the setting.

ALLEN-HALL VOWS

Gowns of Periwinkle Blue Chosen by Attendants

A wedding of interest to many in Victoria took place recently in Robertson United Church, Edmonton, when Dr. Clifford Elliott heard marriage vows exchanged between Linda Jean Sanford and Gary Alan Schofield, Edmonton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sanford, 4411 Shoreway Drive, Victoria, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Schofield of Nanaimo. Organist was G.D. Millson and soloist A. Querengesser.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a round neckline and lily point sleeves. The sheath skirt was accented with appliques of Alencon lace and styled en train. A jewelled coronet held her softly misted veil of silk illusion net and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Overblouses of white Guipure lace topped the yellow peau de soie gowns worn by the bride's sisters, matron of honor Mrs. J. G. Robinson and bridesmatron Mrs. R. I. Barrigan. They wore matching headpieces and carried nosegays of white daisy chrysanthemums.

Michael Heinz was best man and R. Ian Barrigan and B. Petrie ushered the guests.

C. W. Watson proposed the toast to his niece at the reception following in the Mayfair Golf and Country Club, Edmonton. Arrangements of yellow sweetheart roses flanked the tiered wedding cake and similar flowers topped it.

The couple is now making their home in Edmonton, following a honeymoon trip touring Vancouver Island. The new Mrs. Schofield chose a mint green knitted suit for travelling. She complemented the outfit with white accessories and Talisman roses en corsage.

SEEN AT MONTREAL SHOWING

Leather Used to Trim New Furs

MONTREAL (CP) — An elegant collection of furs that were youthful but never go-go was shown to the press Monday.

Designed by couturier Michel Robichaud for Jack Walkden of Montreal, the "figure-conscious" coats came in a variety of unusual furs and finishes.

Among the more sophisticated coats was a fleecy white Kalgan lamb with leather trimming.

A hooded jacket in the same fur was trimmed with black leather.

An unusual patchwork of beige and light brown horizontally seamed squares, made an indoor-outdoor jumper coat that was worn with a wide brown leather belt, black tards and jersey. An attractive car coat also came in this fur.

The coats generally looked collarless, although most had small contoured collars that grew out of the body of the garment.

A popular silhouette was the empire line. It was shown in three shades of silky beaver royale — oyster, black and brown.

The Four Belles, a ladies' barbershop quartet, will entertain when the Women's Guild groups of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hold a centennial garden party at Glenlyon School, 1701 Beach Drive, next Saturday at 2 p.m. Left to right, they are: Mrs. V. Atchison, Mrs. G. Moore, Mrs. P. Raike and Mrs. D. Clackson. The Will Deacon junior square dancers will also give a program. Helpers will be in old-time costumes and, carrying out the centennial theme, stalls will offer sasparilla (root beer), sourdough biscuits and other nostalgic items.

Wears Peau de Soie Bridal Gown Enhanced with Floral Appliques

Floral appliques trimmed the neckline and the front panel of the floor-length gown of peau de soie worn by Marilyn Joan Stewart, when she became the bride of Brian David Paul Moodie.

The sheath gown was styled on empire lines, with lily point sleeves and a full train sweeping back from a bridal bow at the waistline. A floral headpiece held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

St. Patrick's Church was decorated with white lilac for the service at which Fr. A. E. Leonard officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Stewart, 4225 Cedar Hill Road, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Moodie, 3002 Colquitz Avenue. Mr. Stewart gave his daughter in marriage.

During the ceremony, organist Mrs. L. Gill played "Ave Maria".

Matching empire-line gowns of Capri blue, fashioned with bodices of Guipure lace and chiffon skirts, were worn by the bride's attendants. They were matron of honor Mrs. G. Greenhow, bridesmatron Mrs. R. Creed, and bridesmaids, the Misses Diane Viggers and Frances Sadler. They accented their outfits with matching floral headpieces and cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Little Kathie Menu, the groom's cousin, was flower girl in a white brocade frock accented with a blue sash. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Ring bearer was the bride's nephew, Randy Creed.

Hughie Simpson was best man. Ushers were Dave Odgers, Len Kelly and Gordon Greenhow.

H. Deacon proposed the toast to his niece at the reception following in Holyrood House. Miniature figures of a bride and groom topped the three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table.

A cerise wool suit, with floral hat en tone and black accessories, was the choice of the new Mrs. Moodie for travelling on honeymoon. She completed the outfit with a pink orchid corsage.

To Celebrate Midsummer Night

The Brentwood Community Hall will rock with music, dancing and fun, this Saturday evening, when the Scandinavian Brotherwood of Victoria holds a dance to mark Midsummer Night.

This is in accordance with the day which is observed as a public holiday with dances, picnics and bonfires in most of the Scandinavian countries.

The dance begins at 9 p.m. and featured will be two orchestras, one providing folk music and the other, modern music. There will also be entertainment and refreshment. An open invitation is extended to all Scandinavians and their friends to attend.

DEAR ABBY...

Friendly Fella May Get Worked Over

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I think my husband is entirely too friendly to strange women. For instance, he will bury his nose in an elevator operator's hair and say, "My, you have pretty hair—and it smells nice, too." Or he will compliment a waitress on her "beautiful legs" or "school-girl figure." When I tell him that it shows a lack of respect for me when he does this in my presence, he says he is only trying to make a poor working girl feel good. How do you feel about this sort of thing, Abby? Am I wrong to resent it?

A FRIENDLY FELLOW'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It is ill-mannered and presumptuous for a man to make personal remarks (complimentary or otherwise) to strange women in (or out of) his wife's presence. Tell your husband if he doesn't cut it out one of those poor working girls is apt to work him over.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful man, and our wedding date has been set for Sept. 18. My fiance (I'll call him Marty) wants his brother (I'll call him Jack) to be his best man. Well, Jack lives out of town and his wife, Millie, is expecting around that time. Jack won't leave Millie, and Millie won't be able to travel then, so now I have a problem. Marty's mother thinks we should postpone our wedding until December. Do you think it is fair to centre our marriage around Jack and Millie? I always thought it was up to the bride to choose the wedding date. All my plans are set for September, and it would be a mess to change things now. What is your advice?

UNHAPPY BRIDE

DEAR UNHAPPY: The bride selects the wedding date with an eye to the most convenient time for both families. But now that your date has been set, I agree it would indeed be a mess to change things now. So proceed with your plans and ask your fiance to select the next-to-the-best man.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a sister-in-law who named their new dog after your son? And she let me know it, too. Her husband told her no, but she went ahead and did it anyway.

DOGGONE MAD

DEAR MAD: If she meant to be insulting, let her know you have a bone to pick with her. But if she was only trying to be "cute," don't banish her to the doghouse. I have had dogs, cats, mice, hamsters, pigs, parakeets, and monkeys named after me.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARRIED IN HASTE: It wasn't much of a marriage if your husband cheerfully paid a lawyer $1,500 for untying the knot he begrudged a minister $10 for tying. Yes, people are funny.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Music Alumni Group Holds Election of New Officers

Mrs. D. H. Kirkendale was elected president of the Victoria Chapter, Royal Conservatory of Music Alumni, at the recent annual meeting in the Oliver Street home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Abbott.

Also serving on the new executive are Mrs. C. Ratcliffe, first vice-president; Mrs. S. Bulman-Fleming, second; Mrs. C. Lamb, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. Preston, recording; Mrs. C. Y. Spratt, treasurer.

Retiring president Mrs. G. C. Warrack was presented with a gift. In her report, Mrs. Warrack mentioned that the major achievement of the year had been the institution of a scholarship trust fund for music students excelling in local music examinations.

Plans were discussed to show the films of Portugal by Maurice Chandler later this year. The films also include a sound-track of the country's music.

Following the meeting, well-known Victoria pianist Philip Adamson gave a recital. Refreshments were served and Mrs. C. Preston presided at the refreshment table.

East Hard Hit By Caterpillars

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials of the agriculture and forestry departments say Canada is afflicted with one of the worst infestations of tent caterpillars in a decade.

They say two principal species of caterpillars are chewing leaves of forest and ornamental trees and shrubs.

There's little that can be done except spraying with insecticides.

"Every caterpillar you can kill now will prevent the laying of 600 eggs for further infestation next spring," an agriculture department official said.

"The only way to really go after them is to get the whole community involved," said a forestry official. "One man can't do very much in his own garden alone because the pests just move to another tree in the neighbor's garden."

DENUDE WHOLE TREES

In some parts of Western Canada and the Ottawa Valley, the forestry official said, whole trees have been denuded of leaves.

The agriculture department said the infestations of American tent caterpillars and forest tent caterpillars has spread into Quebec, Ontario and the western provinces.

The official said the caterpillar infestations run in cycles of 10 or 11 years, and the department hopes 1966 is the peak of the cycle.

The American species attacks cherry trees, including wild cherry trees along fence rows, and apples, including the ornamental crab apples used in home gardening. The forest species attacks poplar, oak, willow and elm.

They do not attack evergreens. And the damage they do is only temporary. After two or three weeks the caterpillars turn into moths, which lay the eggs for next spring's hatching. The trees will grow new leaves.

The serious infestation afflicting the Prairie and eastern provinces doesn't apply to Vancouver Island, according to Dr. W. G. Wellington of the Burnside Road federal forest research laboratory.

He said tent caterpillars this spring were less numerous than last year.

"Since 1963 when infestation reached its peak, the caterpillar population has been on the decline," he said.

CS Pensions Discriminate —Veteran

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for retired Canadian forces personnel said Tuesday proposed changes to public service pension acts emphasize mediocrity.

Lloyd Walker made the comment outside the Senate-Commons special public service committee after telling senators and MPs the amendments follow "the basic principle of discrimination."

BASED ON SERVICE

Mr. Walker, spokesman for the Association of Canadian Forces Annuitants, said Revenue Minister Benson's proposed amendments are based on service, without considering merit.

Mr. Walker said in an interview the association wants dropped any reference to pensions when retired Canadian forces personnel are hired into the civil service.

"We have bought our pensions", from the six per cent of earnings deducted during service. "There is no more cost to the taxpayer when we work in the civil service."

Mr. Benson told the committee amendments would also provide a $4,218 minimum pension for officers with 35 years service.

Junior Wardens From Island Going Afield

Two Vancouver Island boys have been chosen from 5,500 B.C. junior forest wardens to attend conservation camps in other parts of Canada next month.

They are Don St. Pierre, 18, of 940 Falmouth Road, Victoria, and Tony Phillips, 16, Box 389, Lake Cowichan.

Only three other boys from other parts of B.C. have been chosen for the summer exchange plan.

Don will attend the Nova Scotia junior forest warden camp near Liverpool July 3 to 9 and Tony will attend the Alberta camp near Hinton July 17 to 28.

Purpose of the interchange is to encourage the youngsters to learn about the renewable natural resources of the country and the necessity of a national conservation program.

All expenses are paid.

Second Indian Named Magistrate

Robert Simpson of Port Simpson, B.C., is the second Indian to become a magistrate in British Columbia.

Under an order passed by the B.C. cabinet Tuesday he also will sit as a family and children's court judge.

The first Indian magistrate in the province was Edwin Newman of Bella Bella, who was appointed earlier this year.

LOGGING, FISHING

Port Simpson is a Pacific Coast community of about 600 Indians 30 miles north of Prince Rupert. Its logging and fishing industries are operated by Indians.

W. C. Gelling, formerly Victoria school board chairman, was sent there last year as B.C's first community development officer in a three-year experiment jointly financed by the federal and provincial governments at a cost of $50,000.

Aim of the development is to help the Indian community to improve local conditions.

. . . MUSIC MAN

"The quality of the orchestra from the beginning reflected the quality of people like Miss Sara Spencer, Sam Clack and some of the early members of the orchestra," he observes.

Jack attended the first Victoria Symphony concert at the Empress Hotel in May 1942 and almost immediately afterward both he and Mrs. Barraclough became members of the board.

After emigrating to Canada when he was 21, he spent three years farming with an uncle in Saskatchewan. In 1925 the young Yorkshireman came to Victoria on a visit and immediately decided that the prairie life was not for him any longer.

But jobs were few and after looking around unsuccessfully he made up his mind that he would take the first job advertised in the next day's paper.

COOKED IN CAMP

This turned out to be a job as cook in a lumber camp at Cowichan Lake where he cooked for 40 men, including making bread — "a knack I had learned at home in Yorkshire."

There were other similar jobs but this was not the life he was seeking, so eventually Jack went to Vancouver where he joined the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, later transferring to London Life, the company he was with for 37 years.

In Vancouver he became interested in the Little Theatre, serving as treasurer and falling in love with the pantomime's "principal boy," Kay Filtness, whom he married.

Both joined the Little Theatre when Jack was moved to Victoria to open the London Life office here, and again he was treasurer.

But his real interest began to emerge after that first symphony concert.

MUTUAL DEVOTION

For Jack and Kay Barraclough devotion to the symphony has been mutual.

In the early days Kay acted as secretary and ran the box office and after the women's committee was formed she played a consistently active part including serving several terms as president.

But, despite the fact a health problem has plagued him from time to time, Jack has had plenty of energy left over from symphony to devote to what he regards as another theme of the same composition.

"There is no escaping the social significance of music and theatre," says Jack when discussing his equally intense interest in social welfare.

From 1938 he served 12 years on the board of the and after its merger with the Children's Aid Society, was president for several years.

BUILT MODEL

In the meantime Jack had designed and built a model for a welfare centre. (Using his hands in this way is a favorite hobby which like everything else with Jack has a practical focus. He designed, made the model, and eventually built with the help of Kay and a couple of loggers, their former log ranch home at Alderley Road.)

Sara Spencer, also on the welfare board, arranged for her brother, Chris, to meet with Jack and view the model.

The upshot of this meeting was Spencerhouse on Cook Street and the founding of the Spencer Foundation, of which Miss Spencer is still president.

It is said that if you want something done find the busiest man or woman you know to do it and this is certainly true of Jack.

BUSINESS SUCCESS

During these years he was also garnering distinction in the world of insurance and developing business substantially for his company on the Island.

In addition he served several years on the board of the Community Chest.

But Jack's innate modesty forbids him talking about himself unless he gives due credit to other people who have worked with him.

"Anything I've done has been with good assistance from members of the boards," he tells you. He feels that the president too often gets the credit for work other people do.

"It's the effort it takes that is the measure of the service," he says, his eyes crinkling in a smile.

"Because it happens to be easy for me to speak to an audience about money, for instance, it is less of a service than someone else gives who does something against the grain."

25TH SEASON

Victoria Symphony tonight winds up its 25th season.

Its artistic standard is the highest it has ever been and per capita attendance is statistically the highest in Canada, probably the highest on the North American continent.

At least no amount of research has turned up a better record.

The retiring president gives much of the credit for this state of affairs to the "fine, dedicated musicians, our unbelievable good fortune in conductors and the cordial relations and co-operation of the musicians' union."

He also refers to the long guidance given by Miss Spencer and by Dr. J. F. K. English who served five years as president.

What of the future as the society embarks on its second quarter century?

"Well, we are faced immediately with the problem of finding new office and rehearsal quarters. But every season brings its major problem," says Jack calmly.

"One of my great satisfactions has been that in every financial emergency there was always someone willing to jump in. The greatest compliment ever paid me is that these anonymous emergency donors have never placed any restriction on their gifts."

That the long battle for adequate civic and municipal recognition and support is still not won, is his major disappointment.

Jack points to figures—Pasadena with a population of 900,000 chalks up an attendance at the regular series of symphony concerts of only 16,000. But the area gives grants of $27,250.

In Victoria, where 22,000 attend the regular series, the civic and municipal grants total less than $5,000.

"You can't starve a man and expect him to cut much wood," Jack points out.

"The time has come when we, as a community, must either give the orchestra our fullest support or attend its burial."

Murder Suspect Committed To Riverview

The B.C. cabinet has ordered that murder suspect Steve Malencich, 43, of Vancouver, be committed to Riverview Hospital until his "complete or partial recovery is certified."

The order stated that satisfactory evidence had been produced to show he was mentally ill.

Malencich was charged with capital murder in the June 3 shooting of Vladimir Pavelich, 59, in a Vancouver east end apartment.

Police said Pavelich was shot three times in the back with a .303 calibre rifle as he was reading in bed.

Homing Devices Offered Pilots

Provincial civil defence zone chief Joseph Howroyd said Tuesday battery-operated homing devices will be made available to airplanes taking off from the Central Saanich air strip.

The devices send signals which can be picked up by search aircraft if a plane is downed.

MUSICAL RIDE SET FOR ARENA

The world famous RCMP Musical Ride will perform in Victoria Sept. 8, 9 and 10.

The Greater Victoria Centennial Society announced Tuesday that the three performance swould be held in the Memorial Arena.

It had earlier been hoped that the event could be staged outdoors in Royal Athletic Park but the rebuilding of the park will not have been completed by that time.

Cheques Totalling $2 Million Submitted as Trial Exhibits

Worthless cheques totalling more than $2,000,000 were submitted as evidence in Victoria County Court during the two-day trial of Mrs. Gladys Naylor, 914 Sioux Place.

Mrs. Naylor is charged with four counts of dishonestly obtaining loans totalling some $12,214—some of them from total strangers—and to have repaid $178.

The trial was adjourned until 10 a.m. Monday when Judge Montague Drake will give judgment.

DEFENCE

In his defence of Mrs. Naylor, Dermod Owen-Flood said that witness after witness called by the Crown had "reluctantly admitted" hoping to make extra money in return for lending money to the accused.

"In every case Mrs. Naylor wrote cheques far in excess of the sums she borrowed," counsel said.

Crown prosecutor Louis Lindholm said Mrs. Naylor borrowed thousands of dollars from people on the ground she was expecting an inheritance of $750,000 from her uncle's estate.

But her uncle was destitute when he died.

Mr. Owen-Flood said it was not so much the mention of expected inheritance as the idea of making a handsome profit that induced the lenders to hand over the money.

Crown prosecutor Lindholm said the evidence showed the accused as "a clever woman of incredible guile, who artfully used a simple stratagem to defraud these unfortunate people."

Powell River Bid For Radio Outlet

OTTAWA (CP) — A bid to open the first radio station in Powell River, B.C., was put forward Tuesday at a public hearing of the Board of Broadcast Governors.

Brothers Robert and Donald Cartmell told the board the community of 16,000 needs and can support its own radio station. Isolation of the community on the Georgia Strait was listed as an added factor.

The BBG will make a recommendation on the proposal later.

500 MEDALS ORDERED TO HONOR CITIZENS

Medals for outstanding achievements during Centennial year will go to 500 Greater Victoria citizens during the next 12 months.

The Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee decided Tuesday to purchase 500 commemorative medals to honor the men, women and children bringing honor and recognition to the area.

"I would imagine that the medals would be given for something bigger than winning a race at a Sunday school picnic," said Reeve Allan Cox, Oak Bay.

"The medal carries the words for outstanding achievement," said city manager Dennis Young. "The award would be made for something outstanding."

Two Concerts Here By Harry James Band

Harry James and his Orchestra — one of the biggest name bands of the 1940s — will give two concerts in the Old Gymnasium at the Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt, Monday and Tuesday.

The concerts are open to all servicemen, dockyard staff and their guests.

Harry James' trumpet was featured in a series of films and phonograph records which caught the public imagination in the '40s.

But he got his first big break in 1936 when famed clarinetist Benny Goodman invited him to join his band. After three years, James was ready to strike out on his own.

In 1941 Harry James made a number of recordings but one with Dick Haymes really caught fire. This was the old favorite You Made Me Love You, which first came out early in the century as a vaudeville song.

Harry James married Hollywood glamor girl Betty Grable.

Pension Changes Almost Complete

Nine Controversial Clauses Still Under Consideration

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate-Commons public service committee Tuesday approved all but nine controversial clauses of a 94-clause bill integrating six federal pension plans with the Canada Pension Plan.

The committee, formed to study four complex public service bills, has until Thursday to report its recommendations on the pension bill to the Commons. It likely will end its study today.

Tuesday the committee reviewed briefs by the Civil Service Federation and Canadian Union of Postal Workers proposing a variety of changes in pension legislation.

The Civil Service Commission, the government recruiting agency, and the Association for Canadian Forces Annuitants also made presentations.

Federation President Claude Edwards said all 200,000 public servants involved in the pension changes must be told the details. There had already been a demoralizing effect by recent changes in civil service legislation.

OBJECT TO PROVISION

The federation and postal union objected to a proposed automatic lock-in provision in the pension bill. Public employees now may withdraw their own pension contributions to termination of employment up to age 60. The change would disallow this for some employees.

The federation accepts the principle of integrating the Publiv Service Superannuation Act and Canada Pension Plan. The postal organization wants to option of stacking the two plans, at higher contribution levels, left open.

The federation feels anyone with 35 years service should be able to retire on full pension. The postal group seeks this right at age 55 or after 25 years service. Pensions now start at age 65 for men, 60 for women and maximum payments of 70 per cent of salary require 35 years service.

The postal union sought benefits of 90 per cent of salary for maximum service and that widows receive 100 per cent of their husband's pension. Widows now get 50 per cent.

The Civil Service Commission proposed an amendment that would allow employees with disabilities that now are not pensionable to be retired at full pension. Civil Service Act regulations now detail the degree of disability required for retirement before age 65, including a medical certificate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Senate passed a bill Monday setting up a 12-mile exclusive U.S. fishery zone. The measure is aimed chiefly at keeping Russian and Japanese fishing fleets farther away from the American coast.

WIN EXPLAINS

Burma Avoids Drowning in Flood of Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Ne Win, Burma's chief of state, says the West is wrong in thinking his neutral regime is anti-Western or pro-Communist, the New York Times reports.

In a front-page interview with Assistant Managing Editor Harrison E. Salisbury, The Times quotes Ne Win as saying Americans had misunderstood Burma's sharp cutback in the use of U.S. foreign aid.

The general "observes some of his Southeast Asian neighbors staggering under a torrent" of U.S. military and economic aid, Salisbury writes.

Ne Win was then quoted as saying: "This kind of aid does not help. It cripples. It paralyses. The recipients never learn to do for themselves. They rely more and more on foreign experts and foreign money. In the end they lose control of their country."

"The general regards neutralism as the only viable policy for an Asian nation that wishes to avoid being sucked in — and probably under — the violence churned up by great-power conflicts," Salisbury says.

Salisbury says Ne Win has "the warmest regard and respect for the United States," that he is staunchly anti-Communist, and that he recognizes "the threat posed by Communist China to Burma."

Prospectors Found Safe

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP) — Two prospectors who attempted to hike out of dense bush and muskeg country after the helicopter they were riding in crashed June 14, were picked up Monday. A para-rescue team found Andy Moisey of Edmonton and Dick Wallingham of Mayo, Y.T. "walking and apparently in good condition."

LEADER of Soviet parliamentary delegation to visit Canada this summer will be high-ranking Dmitry Polyansky, one of two deputy premiers of the USSR. He is a leading candidate for future leadership of Russia.

Cincinnati Frightened By Rape-Killer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three women, all in their 50s, have been victims of brutal sex slayings here in little more than six months — and the killer still is at large.

Police believe all three crimes were committed by the same man.

They have set off a wave of fear over much of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Jeanette M. Messer — a 56-year-old widow whose body was found on the morning of June 10 in a park, where she had been walking her dog — was strangled with a man's necktie.

Mrs. Lois Dant, 58, was raped and strangled with a stocking in her apartment April 4. She had been doing the Monday wash.

Mrs. Emogene Harrington, 52, was found raped and strangled with a rope in the basement of her apartment building last Dec. 2.

Seat Gap Increased For Johnson

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (UPI) —Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson's National Union party saw its margin in the legislature increased to six Monday as the result of a recount of ballots from the June 5 election.

Judge Victor Chabot announced NU candidate Yvon Hamel had been elected by five votes over his Liberal opponent Francois Boulais in the Rouville riding, 20 miles southeast of Montreal.

On election night, Boulais had been declared the winner by two votes before Hamel asked for a recount.

As a result of the change, the standings in the legislature are now: National Union 56, Liberals 50, Independents 2.

MPs Approve $500 Million Fund for Medical Schools

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Tuesday gave approval in principle, second reading, to a measure to establish a $500,000,000 fund to build and equip facilities for medical research and training.

Approval was also given a government resolution proposing the Canada Assistance Plan to provide extra money beyond the $75-a-month old age pension for the needy.

NDP Leader Douglas charged the health resources fund was too small to do the job and was a year late.

The high objectives for more medical personnel laid down two years ago in the report of the royal commission on health services could not be accomplished by the fund, to be spent during a 15-year period.

However, the planned start of the national medical care program July 1, 1967, should not be delayed becaust of the inadequacies of the fund which was supposed to lay the groundwork for it.

Health Minister MacEachen said in the early years all the money available for projects would not be taken up by the provinces. The fund was certainly sufficient.

WILL ALLOCATE MORE

Of the $500,000,000, about $300,000,000 was earmarked for the provinces with population determining the share. Another $175,000,000 would be allocated by the cabinet and the Atlantic provinces would get a special gift of $25,000,000.

Opposition members renewed pleas for a $25 monthly increase in old age pensions to $100 rather than the selective Canada Assistance Plan.

The Canada Assistance Plan is a government proposal to bring together under one act the various welfare programs the federal government now is engaged in, alone or in conjunction with the provinces. Included are the old age assistance payments now paid to persons in need between the age of 65 and 69.

The qualifying age for the $75 monthly old age pension paid to everyone now is 69. This is being reduced annually until it reaches 65 in 1970.

Conservative Leader Diefenbaker said the plan will make needed changes in welfare legislation, but there is a unanimous demand across the country for a pension increase.

BONNER WANTS LABOR TO REPUDIATE NEALE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday he expects responsible labor spokesmen to rebuke secretary-treasurer Paddy Neale of the Vancouver Labor Council for saying that "judges are political hacks" and that "the law is an ass."

Mr. Neale made the charges Sunday at a B.C. Federation of Labor debate on the use of injunctions in labor-management disputes.

Mr. Bonner called Mr. Neale's attack on the judges and judiciary of the country "wholly unwarranted," and said that "the history of the Canadian court system is a complete answer to charges of this sort."

A third person in the visitors' car, Maureen Cumming, 21, of Morden, Man., remained in serious condition today in hospital here with head injuries and fractures.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Mary Louise McCraw, age 10, of Appomattox, Va., for her question:

Why were such names chosen for the planets?

No one knows when the human family arrived on this luxurious planet—but it was long ago. The folks made themselves at home and day by day they discovered more of its wonders. At night they looked up at the splendors of the sky and gave names to the bright heavenly bodies.

Some of the planets were named thousands of years ago when the human family was new and very young. The people had spread out and settled here and there on the earth. And because they were human beings, they loved to look up in awe and admiration at the sky. They watched and charted the paths of the sun and moon, the stars and planets moving over the heavens. Much later, the stargazers of the scattered families used to meet and talk over what each of them had learned.

This was before the dawn of history, before mankind learned to write down the events of the day. He was trying to solve the seeret wonders of the world, but he was just beginning. Some of his first simple ideas seem strange to us because we have outgrown them. Our ancestors of those days believed the world was run by superhuman beings who lived in the heavens.

These were the gods and goddesses that were supposed to run the lives of human beings. They were feared and worshipped and our ancient ancestors strived their best to please them. It seemed natural to name the brightest heavenly bodies in their honor. Jupiter was named for the king of the ancient gods and Venus for the goddess of beauty. Saturn was named for another god and Mars for the god of war. Mercury was named for the fleet-footed messenger of the gods and goddesses.

Named in Ancient Days

The ancient stargazers did not know that the wandering planets orbit the sun or that there were more planets too far away for their eyes to see. These three had to wait for the invention of the telescope. By this time mankind had outgrown his old ideas of gods and goddesses. But our astronomers had a deep respect for all the work done by stargazers of old. They kept the ancient names for the well-known planets and found names to match them for the newly discovered planets. Uranus was named for an ancient god of the sky and Neptune for a god of the sea. Little Pluto, farthest from the sun, was named for the ancient god who was supposed to rule an underworld of darkness.

Many of the stars and constellations were named in ancient days. Our early ancestors told legends of their gods visiting sacred animals and human heroes on earth. The constellation Taurus was named for a sacred bull; Perseus was named for a fearless hero and Andromeda for the maiden he rescued. We keep these old names because we are used to them and also because we respect our stargazing ancestors for starting us on the way to the Age of Space.

Slow Learner Gets Special Attention

By WALTER C. ALVAREZ

In the American Medical Association's journal Today's Health for January, 1966, there was a fine article on The Seaside Regional Centre at Waterford, Conn., a school for the mentally retarded.

Alvarez

This fall, three additional centres were opened in New Haven, Putnam and Bridgeport, and five more are in the planning or building stages. The huge old type of institution, holding 2,000 patients or so, was not ideal, and today more and more experts are advocating the building of small centres that will permit the retarded child to remain near his home, or even in it. The Seaside Institution has its doors always open to the parents of the children; they can walk right in, without a pass. They can go in and feed their children, or dress them, or do anything with them they want; they can even take them home for a while if they want to. The number of beds is limited to 300. Many volunteer workers come in to help. Everyone keeps trying to bring the children up to as high potential as they can reach. The average I.Q. (Intelligent Quotient) of the children is about 60 (a percentage of normal).

So far as possible the children are taught to do something for which they can get money. Getting money raises their morale tremendously. In fact, I think we can say that soon all patients in a "home" who can and will help around the place will get a little weekly paycheck, because it is the best medicine found so far.

From the very start of the program, the Seaside authorities have insisted that the trainee should be paid $10 a week for work done as a helper in one of the various departments. In this and other ways, "Seaside is bringing new hope and brightness into many lives."

The great idea with all retarded children is to teach them to go as far as they can toward a position of some usefulness in this world.

Usually, when a doctor, perhaps while X-raying the spinal column, notes that the patient has some gallstones, he is wise if he asks if they ever produced symptoms, because commonly he finds that they never did. The patient never had a severe colicky pain that needed morphine; he may even have the digestion of an ostrich, with never any flatulence or constipation.

I am sorry to say that under such circumstances, a hundred times I have seen a physician automatically, and without thinking, prescribe a fat-free diet.

In such cases, so far as I could see, the patient did not need any diet and I could not imagine what a diet could do for him with his perfect digestion. When I asked my friend the doctor why he prescribed the diet, he said perhaps that it was to keep the gallbladder from forming more stones.

Often this was not a good reason because the gallbladder was so packed with stones that not another one could have been put in.

★ ★ ★

Recently, a patient of mine with prolapsed and very annoying piles had a very pleasant surprise: at my suggestion she had gone to see my good friend, Dr. R. J. Jackman, head of the proctologic (rectal disease) section at the Mayo Clinic.

She had steeled herself to face an operation which often is very uncomfortable and sometimes painful. Usually it is performed in a hospital under "block anesthesia, with novacaine." To her great joy, Dr. Jackman told her he would get rid of her piles with the help of a new type of treatment described a few years ago by Dr. Paul C. Blaisdell of Pasadena and later modified by Dr. James Barron of Detroit.

Interestingly, along the way these men used an idea of Drs. Gravlee and Jones for tying the umbilical cord in a just-born infant.

With the help of a special instrument, a tiny but strong rubber band is slipped over the base of the pile, where it cuts off the blood supply, and as a result, the pile immediately shrinks up and in a few days drops off. There is seldom any pain or bleeding.

★ ★ ★

What is wonderful is that this work is done in a doctor's office, so that there is no hospital expense, and no loss of the patient's time from work. Also, the work can be done without anesthesia and without the production of pain. My patient stayed for a week in a hotel in Rochester and left cured, and very happy.

Case Against Prosecutors Dismissed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia Supreme Court judge Monday dismissed a bid that would have the effect of stopping RCMP officers from acting as prosecutors in magistrates' courts.

Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan dismissed applications from lawyer J. Raymond McLeod for writs of prohibition against North Vancouver magistrates A. D. Pool and W. H. Campbell.

Mr. McLeod had sought to prohibit the magistrates from hearing cases prosecuted by persons who were not members of the Law Society of B.C.

CHHARGES VIOLATION

The lawyer said such instances a matter of course in many B.C. courts, were in violation of the Legal Professions Act.

Mr. McLeod claimed that the two magistrates were going beyond their authority in allowing cases prosecuted by RCMP officers to proceed.

Mr. Justice Ruttan said instead of proceeding against the magistrates, Mr. McLeod should lay a charge against the persons acting as lawyers.

He said in a written judgment there is no suggestion a breach of the Act invalidates any decision by a magistrate or that a magistrate has a duty to satisfy counsel appearing before him.

The Act simply stated that it was contempt of court for a person who is not a member of the legal profession to commence or defend an action.

Schweitzer Foundation Charged

LIBREVILLE (Reuters) — A civil summons has been issued in Gabon against the Albert Schweitzer Foundation, which runs a jungle hospital at nearby Lambarene, in connection with the death of five patients from alleged overdoses of drugs in April.

Lambarene is the remote African jungle hospital made famous by Dr. Schweitzer, who worked there for more than half a century until his death last September.

Swiss pharmacist Lotti Schindler, who has been charged with causing the death of the five patients, is to appear before a court here Thursday.

Miss Schindler is accused of manslaughter by negligence, through mistakes in the dosage of a dangerous drug administered to the patients April 26.

The foundation has been summoned in the person of Dr. Walter Munz, chief physician of the Schweitzer Hospital, as being civilly liable.

23,000 Attend Graham Crusade

LONDON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham preached Monday night to 23,000 persons and persuaded more than 1,000—a record for his current London crusade—to commit themselves to a Christian life.

Speakers included the Archbishop of York, Dr. Donald Coggan, the Anglican Church's second ranking prelate. He assured the audience that the prayers of northern England, which is his spiritual responsibility, were backing the crusade.

In the congregation was Hollywood actor Joseph Cotton. Graham's sermon was based on the contest between David and Goliath, the latter representing sin.

17 Convictions Cited In Court Habitual Case

Steve Remington, 42, a Victorian serving a penitenitentiary term for breaking into a city store last September, has been sentenced to a total of 21 years five months imprisonment over the past 24 years.

The lengthy string of convictions, for theft, breaking and entering and narcotics charges, were detailed by 17 witnesses in central court Tuesday as proceedings to determine whether he can be classified as a habitual criminal got under way.

If Remington is classified as a habitual criminal, he can be jailed for an indefinite period, a sentence which would be subject to periodic review by a parole board.

The inquiry, being heard by Magistrate Ostler, continued today.

CONDITIONS

In order to prove its case, the Crown must produce evidence that Remington since the age of 18 has been convicted on three occasions of offences, each of which could have brought a five-year prison term or more.

In addition it must be shown that he is consistently leading a criminal way of life.

Among evidence presented Tuesday was a list of 17 convictions since 1942, not including a juvenile record, which detailed how Remington had been caught with a stolen sweater, with money taken from a vending machine, with explosives and with narcotics.

VANCOUVER POLICE

Five Vancouver police officers, three of them narcotics division detectives, told Tuesday how they had repeatedly seen Remington in the company of people with criminal records in the 100 block East Hastings near the Vancouver waterfront during his last period of freedom.

The area is "a known hangout for criminals, prostitutes and drug addicts," said one officer and estimated that during night hours nine of 10 people in this area are of this class.

A string of Victoria policemen from inspectors to constables also testified to encountering Remington over the past two decades, arresting him on several occasions and seeing him with known criminals on others.

Rites Thursday For Well-Known Saanich Woman

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie Pope, the last daughter of a pioneer Saanichton family, will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Sands Chapel.

Mrs. Pope died Monday, aged 87, at her home at 68 Cadillac.

She was the daughter of the late William and Emma Turgoose, a well-known name on the Saanich peninsula.

Mrs. Pope had been married to Raymond Pope, of Saanichton, who predeceased her by 14 years.

LIFE MEMBER

She was a life member of Ruth Chapter No. 22, O.E.S., Saanichton, and an honorary member of the Saanich Pioneer Socity.

Surviving her are a son, John Raymond, of San Francisco, California, a daughter, Mrs. James (Loretta) Sutherland, 69 Burnside West, six grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and nieces and nephews.

Youngsters May Have Death Gun

VANCOUVER (CP) — City homicide detectives said Sunday they fear youngsters may be in possession of a pistol used in the shooting of a man on a city beach.

A police spokesman said they are almost positive that Charles John Whitehead, 43, of Vancouver, who died of two bullet wounds in the stomach, shot himself with a .380-calibre semi-automatic pistol. However, the weapon has not been found.

Police believe that children, thinking Whitehead to be only asleep, picked up the weapon.

They said the pistol is likely loaded with one or more bullets.

The body was discovered by a woman Sunday as she strolled along the beach.

Divers using mine detectors unsuccessfully combed the nearby water for the gun.

Raiders Seize Radio; Owner Shot

MYSTERIOUS BOARDING party of 10 men and a woman seized this pirate station, Radio City, which operates from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, in the Thames estuary, 12 miles off the British coast. The incident occured Monday and became known today shortly before its owner, Reg Calvert, was found slain at the home of another pirate station owner, Maj. William Smedley, who has been charged with murder. (AP Wirephoto.)

U.K. Businessman Charged in Murder

LONDON (AP)—A leading British politician-businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice-president of the Liberal party and a private radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Smedley, 54, is chairman of Project Atlanta, an organization associated with the pirate radios which broadcast from just outside British waters to evade the government ban on commercial radio broadcasting.

A few hours before police announced Calvert's death, it was learned that a boarding party of 10 men and a girl had taken over his station Monday and were still holding it.

The raiders and the station's seven-man staff stood on the deck of the fort early today and talked to reporters in a tug below. Said one bearded raider:

"We were hired to do a job and we are doing it. After that ask the bosses."

Paul Elvey, electrical engineer in charge of the station, said:

"I was awakened by their torches (flashlights) flashing. I got up and asked 'What the hell is going on?' It looked all set for a right old punch up.

SMEDLEY

"The raiders had grappling irons and rocket lines. They looked as though they were ready to take us apart."

"There was nothing we could do. They were a tough-looking crowd and it's frightening to have men running all over the place when you don't know what it's all about.

"One of the pirates pushed me, saying, 'We're in charge now.'

"They took the crystals out of the transmitters and we haven't been able to send out a bleep since."

The raiders were believed to have been sent by a businessman claiming to have supplied transmitting equipment to the station.

Calvert bought the station from Screaming Lord Sutch, a pop singer who started it more than a year ago. It was supposed to merge next month with station UKGM (United Kingdom Good Music).

MARTIN INVOLVED

Hanoi Rejects New Viet Peace Drives

NEW YORK (AP)—The Times says today that North Viet Nam is reported to have rejected a U.S. proposal to open peace talks while both sides reduce military activities in Viet Nam.

Communist officials have told foreign diplomats in Hanoi that the U.S. bid was another "peace offensive fraud" perpetrated by the Johnson administration, the newspaper says in a dispatch from Hong Kong.

The Times dispatch, which quotes reliable reports reaching American sources in Hong Kong, said:

As prerequisite to negotiations, Hanoi is demanding that the United States unconditionally stop bombing North Viet Nam, but the Communist regime is not prepared to commit itself to diminish the number of troops and supplies it sends to the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

HOPE FOR COLLAPSE

"The impression of diplomats stationed in Hanoi is that the North Vietnamese are still determined to prosecute the war, in the hope that the Saigon government will collapse politically or that President Johnson's administration will be compelled to withdraw U.S. troops under pressure from public opinion at home."

The Times says the U.S. offer was conveyed to North Viet Nam through the ambassadorial talks in Warsaw between the United States and China, through Eastern European channels, and presumably, by Chester Ronning, the special Canadian envoy who recently had three days of talks with North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh in Hanoi.

Ronning returned to Ottawa during the weekend and Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy flew to the Canadian capital Tuesday, presumably to be briefed on Ronning's report.

Canadian officials said Bundy met with External Affairs Min-

No Progress In Ottawa Says U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. state department made clear today that recent peace overtures to Hanoi—including one by Canada—have made no progress.

A spokesman said as far as the U.S. government is aware, North Viet Nam's attitude continues to be the harsh line expressed last Jan. 24 in a letter from President Ho Chi Minh to various world leaders.

This discouraging statement was issued by the department after William P. Bundy, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far East affairs, returned from talks with Canadian officials in Ottawa.

Buddhist Chief Ends Fasting

SAIGON (UPI) — South Viet Nam's political crisis took a sharp turn for the better today.

Militant Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang ended his 15-day-old hunger strike, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky temporarily lifted his four-day siege of the Vie Hoa Dao Pagoda and Tri Quang made up with moderate Buddhist leader Thich Tam Chau in a sea of smiles.

NEW CHIEF of Canadian defence staff as of July 16 will be Lt.-Gen. Jean Victor Allard, 53, left, it was announced in Ottawa today. He will succeed Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, 58, right, head of the defence staff since it was integrated Aug. 1, 1964, who will retire. Gen. Allard, a native of Quebec, will be the first French-speaking defence chief in Canada's history. He will be promoted to general when he takes over command.

National Crisis Stage in Britain

LONDON (CP) — Britain's maritime strike has brought the country to a state of national crisis, Prime Minister Wilson told Parliament today. The strike is in its 38th day.

Wilson was explaining the government's use of emergency powers in 12 major ports to relieve congestion and keep exports moving.

At the same time, he promised to back up, in a statement to the House of Commons next week, his charges Monday that an exclusive group is putting pressure on leaders of the National Union of Seamen to keep the strike going. It has been assumed almost universally that Wilson was pointing the finger at British Communists.

The government took its first action under emergency powers today by setting up emergency committees at 12 ports to ensure the movement of essential supplies.

The committees' powers initially will be confined to diversion of ships from one port to another to ease growing congestion caused by the seamen's strike.

The emergency powers, assumed by the government a month ago to deal with effects of the strike, expire at midnight tonight. But Prime Minister Wilson has announced he will seek their extension today, with slight technical modifications.

RCMP Raid SIU Offices

MONTREAL (UPI) — RCMP investigators, armed with a court order, today entered Montreal offices of the Seafarers International Union, seizing records and searching other union papers.

Superintendent J. R. R. Carriere said the dozen plainclothesmen "were making an investigation into a certain matter" of the union. He refused to elaborate, but indicated other SIU locals also may be involved in the probe.

Florida City Hit By Negro Rioters

Police Stoned; Windows Smashed

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes rioted early today, throwing rocks and bottles at police, stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set afire and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the over-all damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were three reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes.

The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10 - year - old Negro boy. The store owner, Arthur M. Marks, 42, was charged with assault and battery and released on $50 bond. The boy was unidentified.

IN COURT BEFORE DAWN

Municipal Judge Harry Fischer, called out of bed, held court at 3:30 a.m. for the 24 arrested Negroes and the store owner, Marks. He increased Marks' bond to $500 and ordered him to appear in court next Monday for arraignment on charges of assault and battery.

Twenty-two Negroes charged with unlawful assembly and disorderly conduct were released on bonds of $80 for married men and $160 for single men.

Another Negro, who identified himself as Rev. Ernest Thomas, was released on his own recognizance after claiming to be a part-time preacher. Thomas, a full-time laborer, said he was awakened by the noise of the riot, went outside to investigate and was arrested.

There has been occasional rock throwing in this area, but the riot was the first serious trouble. There are huge vegetable farms in the vicinity and Negro laborers make up a large percentage of the population.

Muttering crowds gathered at the store at closing time and the owner asked for police protection. Civic leaders asked the Negroes to leave. Most did, only to return later.

The crowd grew to 600 late in the evening and the mood worsened as the number of police grew.

Teen - agers jeered officers, cracked jokes and swigged soft drinks, pitching the bottles at passing cars when they finished.

By midnight, a six-block section of the main street, Hammondville Road, was solid with patrol cars, their red and blue lights flashing.

Reinforcements from the highway patrol, the sheriff's office and the Fort Lauderdale riot squad built the police force to 100.

The serious trouble began when the officers were given the order to break up the crowds.

'GO HOME'

"Go home before you get hurt," officers yelled from beneath the plastic face masks on their riot helmets.

The Negroes banded together in small groups.

As police moved in with billy clubs and tear gas guns ready, the Negroes disappeared into the shadows of the dimly lit street. Then a shower of rocks and bottles sailed out of the darkness.

Viet Withdrawal Not Vital to Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government said today it is not insistent on the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam as a precondition for an agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons' ownership.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the Soviet Union has never made an American troop withdrawal a prerequisite for an agreement.

It said American news agencies had put such an interpretation on a speech made in Geneva, Switzerland, June 4 by the chief Soviet delegate to the disarmament conference, Alexei Roshchin.

N.B. DOUBLES SALES TAX

FREDERICTON (CP)—A bill doubling New Brunswick's sales tax to six per cent from three per cent received third reading in the legislature Tuesday amid a bellow of nay votes from the Progressive Conservative opposition.

"The people will not swallow this $18,000,000 tax pill," declared Opposition Leader C. B. Sherwood as the opposition voted against final reading for the bill, an amendment to the Social Services and Education Tax Act. It is expected to receive royal assent today.

Premier Louis J. Robichaud said earlier the tax increase will go into effect Jan. 1, along with other major phases of the Liberal government's municipal reform program.

The province raised an estimated $14,500,000 from the three per cent sales tax last year. The six per cent tax is expected to bring in $18,000,000 to $32,000,000.

The tax will be applied to children's clothing and footwear for the first time and the government will pay a rebate of at least $4 a year for each child up to the age of 18 eligible for family allowances.

Two in Helicopter Down in North B.C.

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—RCAF planes from Winnipeg and Comox searched today for a helicopter with two men aboard in northeastern B.C. The two-passenger Hiller Helicopter, owned by Okanagan Helicopters, was reported overdue Tuesday night on a two-hour, 15-minute flight from here to a camp 180 miles northeast.

On board were pilot Paul Csupor of Toronto and engineer Wally Boyle of Burnaby, B.C.

CO-OPERATION IN SPACE

France, Russia to Sign Agreements

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP)—France and the Soviet Union will sign two agreements next week for co-operation in space and in other scientific fields, high French sources said today.

They said the agreements will be signed by Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Maurice Couve de Murville of France. The decision to sign the two agreements was taken today at a meeting between President Charles de Gaulle and top Soviet leaders.

The French president arrived here Monday and began formal talks in the Kremlin Tuesday.

The French sources said one agreement refers to co-operation in space and the other to scientific and technical co-operation in other fields. They gave no details and refused to say whether the space agreement would involve the launching of a French rocket from a Soviet pad.

It was understood that the two sides in their talks today noted their convergence of views on Vietnamese problems.

Informants said de Gaulle was critical of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, while Soviet Communist chief Leonid Brezhnev accused the United States of savage aggression.

Earlier French sources said differing viewpoints had slowed up the opening round Tuesday.

Today's talks are the last before de Gaulle leaves Thurs-

Negro Area Closed Off After White Man Wounded

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) A small Negro neighborhood where Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire Tuesday night remained closed to outsiders today.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price said the area was closed to the press and other non-residents. Price said it was uncertain how long the restriction would continue. First reports had been that the off-limits restriction would be lifted at daybreak today.

"We're not going to have any more of this shooting on either side," Price said.

Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the headquarters of the Freedom Democratic party, a Negro organization.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital and sent home.

Negroes inside the headquarters relayed a report to their offices that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them. They said they returned the fire and thought they hit at least two cars.

At Yazoo City, Dr. Martin Luther King said he would lead the Mississippi civil rights marchers back to Philadelphia armed with "the ammunition of justice . . . the armor of righteousness." A King aide said they probably would return to Philadelphia Thursday.

A hostile crowd of cursing whites hurled firecrackers and insults at King Tuesday when he stood on the Neshoba County courthouse steps here.

It was to commemorate the second anniversary of the slayings of civil rights workers James Chaney, Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner that King came to Philadelphia Tuesday with a contingent from the group continuing the march through Mississippi begun by James H. Meredith.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price—one of the 17 men the federal government claims participated in the slayings of Chaney, Goodman and Schwerner June 21, 1964—tried to block King from mounting the courthouse steps.

"I'm not afraid of any man," King shouted as the heckling and disorder mounted. "Before I will be a slave, I will be dead in my grave."

"We'll help you," screamed several white men.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1966—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

The strong man of France is up to something in Russia, and like most of President Charles de Gaulle's moves, this one will bear close watching.

As usual, the old general marches like a hero. His announced intent is to break the "harmful spell" which has kept East and West in Europe eyeing each other distrustfully these many years.

"Long Live Russia!" cries de Gaulle; and while it is not reported that his hard-headed hosts returned the sentiment, his welcome has been reasonably warm.

What will come of the embrace remains to be seen, and in these troubled times, it's nice to learn of friendly exchanges between nations.

However, I doubt that Charles de Gaulle's presence at the Kremlin will be cheered in London and Washington, and hope we are not trading one harmful spell for another.

Cultural exchanges are to be courted; but a Franco-Russian power bloc is something else again, and would pose new problems for the West.

★

De Gaulle, the bitterly-proud, autocratic old man who made himself virtual dictator of France, has walked a long road since he emerged as a professional soldier from St. Cyr Military Academy.

He led one of the few successful French counter-attacks against the Nazi panzers of 1940. France fell, but he scorned surrender, and in London raised the double-barred cross of Lorraine as a rallying symbol for his countrymen.

Winston Churchill, whom the prickly Free French leader irritated profoundly, did not regard him as a friend of England, and noted in him the qualities which were later to emerge very strongly.

These included utter arrogance, towering ego, and a fanatical devotion to his country. His declared mission was and is "to serve the higher interests of France", and this he has done with an iron hand. He has kept the democratic shell, but within it, he rules alone.

This is de Gaulle at 75, as he attempts in his Russian adventure to expand his role. By charming the Soviets, he will fulfil his dream of making a restored France the spokesman for non-communist Europe.

It's a neat trick if he can bring it off. At this distance, however, it seems highly doubtful that he will achieve the purpose to which he committed himself after his exclusion from the Teheran and Yalta conference of an earlier era.

★

To de Gaulle—vain, humorless and dedicated—those affronts were unforgivable. They undoubtedly shaped his attitude toward and his future relations with Britain and the United States.

We have the exclusion of Britain from the Common Market in 1963, and the determined coolness toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which has culminated in his demand that the United States give up her bases on French soil.

The counterpoint of de Gaulle's love for France is the dislike (hatred might not be too strong a word) which he holds for the U.S.

So we have here an astute leader of considerable power who has turned his back on Britain and has now made what may prove to be a new move in his attempt to force the U.S. out of Europe.

He is unlikely to succeed, and I find it equally improbable that de Gaulle's France will become the agent by which the long East-West confrontation is ended.

That calls for a peace-making between great powers. Despite the general's efforts, France is not included among these.

No one can deny that this extraordinary man has served his country well in the past. But today he may be leading her into dangers from which she can save herself only by a renewed entente with the West from which Charles de Gaulle seeks to separate her.

RETIRING SYMPHONY SOCIETY PRESIDENT IS GOOD LISTENER

Victoria's Own Music Man Has Never Played a Note

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Fifty years ago, in Yorkshire, England, a young lad, the son of a Yorkshire farmer, made his way into the nearby town of Middlesbrough.

In his pocket were some carefully hoarded coins and in his heart was curiosity and anticipation as he headed for the town's main concert hall.

He was about to hear his first symphony concert and while he didn't think of it that way at the time, he was also to take the first step on what would become a lifelong interest.

That boy was Jack Barraclough.

At tonight's annual meeting of Victoria Symphony Society he will retire from the office of president which he has held for 10 years, but he has no intention of ceasing to work for the organization.

As past president he remains a member of the board and plans to concentrate on fund-raising activity for the Symphony Foundation and School of Music.

Jack has never played an instrument or studied music but he has always been a good listener and believed in the power and importance of music in people's lives.

The seventh in a family of nine brothers and sisters, he recalls winter evenings when the whole family gathered in the big kitchen and sang as they worked together or hooked rugs.

"One of us would conduct," he remembers. "We had a piano but only two of my sisters learned to play it."

Jack Barraclough is a man who is shy in the face of compliments or any personal recognition of his achievements, which have included significant contributions to welfare work.

"Yorkshire people are reticent when it comes to praise," he comments. "They rarely pass out compliments. They believe there is only one way to do things and that is to the utmost of your ability."

Their maxim is summed up in a phrase he quotes: "The best you can do is the least you should do."

He thinks that many of the people involved with the establishing of the Victoria Symphony lived by that maxim even though they may never have heard the phrase.

Nemetz Report Ready

Judge's Word On Thursday

The Nemetz report on the wood industry contract dispute is expected to be submitted to Labor Minister Leslie Peterson on Thursday.

It will contain recommendations designed to settle differences between the 26,000-member International Woodworkers of America and the 120-company Forest Industrial Relations.

NOT BINDING

The report, by industrial inquiry commissioner Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz, is not binding on either side.

Several IWA locals have scheduled meetings for the weekend to vote on the report. In Victoria, a spokesman said no decision has been made on a meeting but because all operations are working a vote could be taken on the job.

About 10,000 of the coastal woodworkers continued their strike. The other 16,000 heeded the call of the regional negotiating committee to wait for the Nemetz report.

POWER STRUGGLE

In the Duncan local, where 4,300 men are on strike against 30 operations, an IWA camp committee chairman said the strike is the result of a power struggle within the union for control of the regional council.

Howard Delmage of Youbou said the present situation was created deliberately and the forthcoming regional election was the main issue in the splinter strike.

NO ELECTION

The idea was dismissed by Fernie Viala, local vice-president, who said "there is no power struggle as no election is coming for quite a few months, November or December."

"Mr. Delmage is playing a little of his own brand of politics but we are not concerned. The men of Duncan Local 1-80 will definitely not go back to work until after the Nemetz report has been voted upon."

Shingle Men Reject Offer

A wage offer identical to that offered the International Woodworkers of America has been turned down by negotiators for shingle weavers at two mills.

The offer by Forest Industrial Relations, representing mills in Victoria and Vancouver, was for 22 cents over two years.

"It was not accepted," said Harold Reilly, business agent for the shingle weavers Local 2802 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

"They are waiting for the report of Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz in the IWA. That is why they made such a ridiculous offer."

Both the IWA and the shingle weavers are seeking an extra 50 cents over one year.

The two shingle mills involved are Smith Cedar Products in Victoria and Huntting-Merritt division of Canadian Forest Products in Vancouver.

About 110 men work at the Victoria mill and 215 in Vancouver.

Councillor Favors Releasing Report On Esquimalt Probe

A member of Esquimalt's fire committee said today he favors public release of a report which considered the cost of a separate fire brigade.

"There is nothing to hide," said Coun. A. R. Mebs, who is also chief fire inspector with the national defence department here.

He had only received a copy of the report last Wednesday. The report would be discussed at the committee's next regular meeting in two weeks.

Coun. Mebs said consideration of the report was delayed pending the police commission's study of job analysis.

In Esquimalt, the policemen double as firefighters.

UP TO COUNCIL

Earlier, Reeve Ray Bryant said the police report will remain confidential but it will be up to council whether the fire report is made public.

The Esquimalt Policemen's Union has decided to seek a B.C. Supreme Court ruling on the legality of its double duties, and has asked for public release of both reports.

Tuesday, the regional vice-president of the International Association of Firefighters, Gordon Anderson, supported the police.

"Any survey dealing with the safey of the community must not be allowed to be kept secret," he said.

Coun. Mebs, who personally favors a single police-fire department said, fire losses across the country average $7 to $8 per capita.

In Esquimalt, it is 60 cents per annum.

"When we look at statistics, and we are supported by the navy in case of a major fire, it is rather silly to think we will now establish a fire department.

"It would be a terrific expense. The intent of the report is to give people an estimate of what the total cost would be. It does not mean we will necessarily buy it."

He declined to say what the cost of a separate fire department would be, although Reeve Ray Bryant has said it is between $200,000 and $300,000.

Oriana Carrying Record Group Of Immigrants

Over 320 immigrants—some of them bound for Victoria — will be among 874 passengers disembarking from the P & O-Orient liner Oriana when she arrives in Vancouver tonight.

TOP PRIORITY FOR DISTURBED

Inability to handle emotionally disturbed children is a major problem in British Columbia, Health Minister Eric Martin said today.

"This situation is one of top priority," he told delegates to the annual B.C. Pharmaceutical Association's convention in the Empress Hotel.

"What do we do?" Mr. Martin asked. "There is treatment but, as it goes on, more and more children are born. There are now 600 beds for emotionally disturbed children in B.C. where there were no beds at all some time ago."

The minister said planning is well advanced on a $10,000,000 residential school for the mentally retarded at Colquitz.

"It is up to the local community to build hospital beds, and the cost of operation be paid by the provincial government.

"If they don't, the situation will become catastrophic. People are living longer now and this adds to the problem."

Mr. Martin told the pharmacists that terminal cases may occupy beds for a long time.

"You and your drugs will keep them there. This is not a criticism, it is praise."

The minister said there are forces at work in B.C. against the free enterprise system. But, he said, he could not name them because the situation was too "touchy."

"You must identify these forces and keep them in full view. At all costs, freedom of the individual must be maintained.

"It is the duty of others to see that your clients have money to buy your drugs."

Saanich Huddles On Low-Rental Housing Project

Saanich's health and welfare committee met for 90 minutes behind closed doors Tuesday night to discuss subsidized housing for low-income people.

Attending the meeting were deputy municipal affairs minister J. Everett Brown and Chris Dowling, local manager for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Mr. Brown said later he thought the committee will pursue the subject further.

PLANNERS TO ATTEND BARBECUE

Town planners from across Canada will be feted to a salmon barbecue in Gorge Park when they meet here in July.

Victoria - Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee this morning agreed to grant permission to local officers of the Town Planning Institute of Canada to smoke their fish in the park providing all necessary fire permits are obtained.

Members of the Songhees tribe will be chefs.

300 Workers On Two Shifts Building Rig

Work is going "full steam ahead" on a $9 million oil drilling rig at Victoria Machinery Depot.

More than 300 workers on two shifts are pushing ahead on the pontoons and legs being assembled at the Dallas Road yard.

The pontoons are 25 feet high and the legs, now reaching 40 feet, will eventually be 140 feet above the pontoon and below the deck.

The three pontoons and semi-completed legs will be moved separately into the water and then linked. The rest of the legs will built in the fitting-out basin beside the VMD yard.

The first pontoon-leg is expected to be moved into the water in three weeks. Completion date for the rig is next January or February.

About eight feet of the pontoons will be submerged when the rig is afloat.

WORK OFF V.I.

The rig, first of its kind to be made here, is being built for Southeastern Commonwealth Drilling Company Linited of Calgary which will charter it to Shell Oil for work off Vancouver Island.

The three legs between the pontoons and the deck are 35 feet in diameter.

A VMD spokesman said there have been many changes in the structure and design of the rig, but no significant ones.

About one-third of the workers on the project are welders.

Summer School Deadline Now

Thursday is the last day students may register for the University of Victoria's 1966 summer session, Dean Robert Wallace said today.

Registration takes place at the registrar's office on the Lansdowne campus.

So far 975 students have registered for credit courses in the summer session, which runs from July 4 to Aug. 19.

Strachan Demands Session

Socred Regime Blamed For 'Present Turmoil'

Opposition Leader Strachan today called for "an immediate legislative session" to review labor laws and curb rising prices.

The New Democratic Party leader told a press conference he was "shocked and disturbed" in the present series of labor-management breakdowns.

"The present turmoil is a direct result of government policy and government inaction," he said.

He charged Social Credit labor legislation has seen the government "come down" on the side of management.

The implementation of present labor laws have put the courts, management and the government opposed to the labor movement, he said.

EQUALITY

Mr. Strachan said the NDP wants the immediate legislative session to seek amended labor legislation to give "equality in bargaining power" and "increase minimum wage rates."

He said his party would press for a "full-time labor minister" establishment of a prices review board, ask for a B.C. economic council to develop manpower, a review of the vocational training program and an increase in supplementary old age pension allowances.

Mr. Strachan said unions are preparing strike action "because they have been deliberately manoeuvred in that position through the collusive action of B.C. employers under the recently-formed commercial industrial research foundations."

He said the foundation was formed by B.C. companies to plan strategy against unions.

He charged "loaded laws" and "smart lawyers" were causing a reduction in B.C. living standards through "inflated production and inflated prices."

Employers were not providing adequat on-the-job training causing insecurity among older workers, he said.

Mt. Douglas Trail Tangle To Be Studied

Hikers, horsemen and motorcycle riders may soon get their own trails in Mount Douglas Park.

Victoria parks administrator Herbert Warren told the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee this morning that the three groups are now using the trails were "incompatible."

Mr. Warren made the statement when the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee met to discuss complaints that motorcycles in Mount Douglas Park were a regular weekend nuisance.

FOOT PATHS

"The first trails were foot trails," Mr. Warren said. "They are now being taken over by horsemen and bike riders. The three are incompatible and some effort must be made to separate them."

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis didn't agree.

"I dont think the complaints are justified, he said. "Saanich police have received no complaints.

Saanich parks administrator Bert Richmond said the only answer to the problem was to build more trails and reserve them for a specific use.

MEETINGS SET

The committee decided Mr. Warren should meet with motorcycle enthusiasts to see what part they would be prepared to play in the building of additional trails.

Next week Mr. Warren meets with riding club representatives to attempt to resolve a clash between nature lovers and horse riders in Thetis Lake Park.

Thieves Steal Doctors' Bags From Parked Cars

Two doctors bags, one containing drugs, have been stolen in the Greater Victoria area in the past 24 hours.

Central Saanich police said one of the bags was taken from a car belonging to Dr. J. Scott Groves, parked outside his home, 1539 Mt. Newton Cross Road, about 1 this morning.

The bag contained a half bottle of demerol and doctor's equipment.

A bag belonging to Dr. Jack Patterson was stolen from his car in St. Joseph' Hospital parking lot about 11:25 a.m. Tuesday.

It contained $250 worth of instruments.

Ask The Times

Q. "Honeymoon." What is the derivation of the name and the custom? L. B.

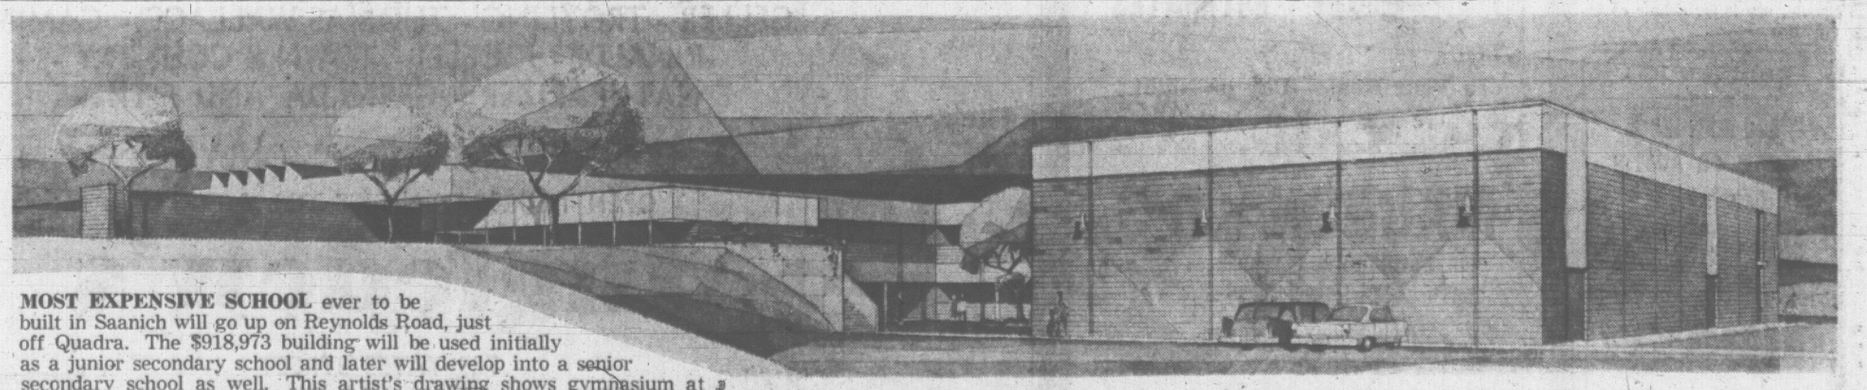
A. "Honeymoon" comes from an old Norse custom of drinking mead (made from honey) from the same cup. Every day for one lunar cycle after the wedding, the Norse bride and groom observed this custom, which was referred to as their "honey month" or "honeymoon."

Q. Who was director of the film The Seven Samurai? L. O.

A. Akira Kurosawa, according to Pauline Kael's "I Lost It at the Movies."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.



MOST EXPENSIVE SCHOOL ever to be built in Saanich will go up on Reynolds Road, just off Quadra. The $918,973 building will be used initially as a junior secondary school and later will develop into a senior secondary school as well. This artist's drawing shows gymnasium at right, administration office in centre and in back at left the shops. Classrooms, at rear, are not shown. An open quadrangle is situated in the centre of the structure. The school, to be built by Farmer Construction, will have 25 rooms. Architects for the latest project in busy school building program are Peterson and Lester of Victoria.

GO TO POLLS THURSDAY

New Candidates Seeking To Hold Manitoba Seats

WINNIPEG (CP) — A major suspense ingredient in Manitoba's provincial election Thursday will be the vote-getting appeal of new candidates seeking to retain seats their respective parties held the last time around.

There are new defenders in 12 of the 56 ridings.

For a grabbag of reasons, seven of them belong to Premier Duff Roblin's Progressive Conservative party which, 36 seats strong in the last legislature, is seeking a fourth consecutive term in office.

The New Democratic Party has new men in four of the seven seats it captured in the last election, Dec. 14, 1962, and the Liberals have a new standard bearer in one of their 13 seats.

While there are 57 seats in the legislature, voting has been deferred two weeks to July 7 in northern Churchill riding. The standing at dissolution May 18 was Conservative 36, Liberal 13, NDP five, Social Credit one and vacant two.

Polling hours Thursday will be 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. CDT.

Three members of the Roblin cabinet did not seek re-election. They are Agriculture Minister George Hutton, in Rockwood-Iberville; Provincial Secretary Maitland Steinkopf, in the Winnipeg riding of River Heights, and Minister Without Portfolio Abram Harrison, in Rock Lake.

After an assignment in Turkey with the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, Mr. Hutton will enter the Lutheran ministry. Mr. Steinkopf is leaving politics for personal reasons —he wants more time with his family—and Mr. Harrison, 68, stepped down for reasons of age and health.

Kieth Alexander, 1962's victorious Conservative in Roblin, will study for the United Church ministry. Other Tories going into political retirement are Fred Groves, St. Vital, and George Martin, St. Matthews.

Emil Moeller sought Conservative renomination in Fisher, which he won with an 87-vote plurality in 1962, but was passed over by his constituency organization.

Lost to retirement by the NDP were Arthur Wright, Seven Oaks, and Steve Peters, Elmwood. NDP-held Inkster became vacant with the death of veteran socialist Morris Gray and Brokenhead was vacated by Ed Schreyer who won a Commons seat for the NDP in last November's federal election.

The retirement-bound Liberal is M. N. Hryhorczuk in Ethelbert Plains. He is a former Manitoba attorney-general who won last time with a 554-vote plurality.

Pluralities in the other new-face constituencies were: Rockwood-Iberville, PC 1,338; Rock Lake, PC 429; River Heights, PC 490; Fisher, PC 87; Roblin, PC 625; St. Vital, PC 1,021; St. Matthews, PC 728; Seven Oaks NDP 460; Elmwood, NDP 209; Inkster, NDP 577 and Brokenhead, NDP 586.

15 Planes Aloft In Quebec Search

BAGOTVILLE, Que. (CP)—A spokesman for RCAF search and rescue centre here said Tuesday that 11 aircraft covered a total of 24,500 square miles during the day searching for a missing C-46 cargo aircraft with two men on board.

The C-46 disappeared Monday night on a flight from Montreal to Fort Chimo near Ungava Bay in northern Quebec.

FO Len Dent said the search was to resume today with 15 aircraft. The planes will search both north and south of Chute des Passes, 200 miles north of Quebec City, where the plane was last heard from, he said.

The missing plane belongs to Nordair Ltd. of Montreal.

In Montreal, the operations office of Nordair identified the pilot as Winnipeg - born Gil Mergny, 43, who now lives in Dorval, Que., site of Montreal International Airport.

Identification of his co-pilot was delayed because company officials were unable to communicate with his next-of-kin.

Mergny, father of three, was described as a seasoned northern pilot. He joined Nordair when the company took over the operations of Wheeler Airlines in 1960. He also flew the northern route with Wheeler.

While the search for the missing C-46 continued Tuesday, another ended happily when four Montrealers and their missing light plane were found safe by RCAF search aircraft near Lac de Dix Milles, 216 miles northwest of Montreal.

They were spotted by the pilot of an RCAF plane from the search and rescue centre at Trenton, Ont. The men were on a gravel road apparently trying to hitch a ride.

The Piper Cherokee-180 was slightly damaged in the forced landing in a field, an RCAF spokesman said.

The plane took off Monday on a scheduled five - hour flight from Montreal to Val d'Or, Que., 300 miles northwest of Montreal.

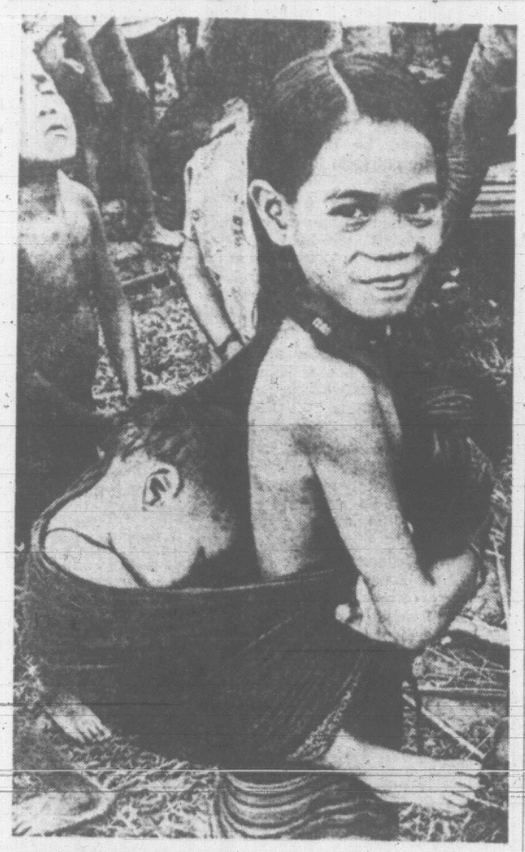
U.K. PROFESSOR

War on Poverty Demeans People Who Need Help



BRIGHT-EYED Montagnard girl from a mountain village in the South Vietnamese highlands continues her baby-watching job, carrying a sleeping sister in a sling, while waiting for treatment by a medical team of the U.S. special forces during a visit to her area, near Dak To, last weekend. (AP Wirephoto.)

VANCOUVER (CP)—A leading British welfare expert says he is not optimistic about the chances of success of the U.S. war on poverty.

Prof. Richard M. Titmuss of the London School of Economics and Political Science said in an interview he has the impression "that in some sectors, the Canadian war on poverty is a pale imitation of the American policy."

Prof. Titmuss, 59, speaks today at the Canadian conference on social welfare on recent developments in United Kingdom welfare legislation — much of which he helped to shape.

Prof. Titmuss said the way the American anti-poverty legislation is drafted, it requires people to admit they are poor in order to qualify for assistance.

"This is an affront to human dignity, especially in a society which believes so strongly in success, work and money."

LED TO FRICTION

He also said distribution of poverty benefits has circumvented government and has led to friction between those in charge of the program and elected officials.

Turning to the Canadian war on poverty, Prof. Titmuss said he wishes the federal government every success in its two-year $500,000,000 attack on depressed areas.

Prof. Titmuss said he believes that full utilization of elected government representatives to "push, prod and encourage the poor to accept social responsibilities" is vital to the success of any large-scale welfare undertaking.

OFFERS A WARNING

The social administration professor also had some words of warning about distribution of poverty funds on the basis of race or color.

"It won't work when discrimination is involved. It's that simple."

One of Canada's major problems, he said, is treatment of the nation's 220,000 Indians.

"I find a reluctance on the part of Canadians to admit that there is a problem," he said. "I'm somewhat dismayed by this because there most assuredly is discrimination involved.

"It reminds me of the self-fulfilling prophecy: If you treat people as second-class citizens long enough, they will eventually come to think of themselves as second-class citizens.

"And then they'll start to break the laws set up by the first-class citizens."

OVER NORTH VIET NAM

Losses Even at One In Jet Dogfight

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. Navy pilot flying a jet fighter damaged by enemy fire and running critically low on fuel shot down a Communist MiG-17 jet over North Viet Nam Tuesday.

One other MiG was damaged and possibly destroyed as four Navy F-8 Crusaders and four MiG-17s tangled 65 miles northeast of Hanoi. But the MiGs shot down one Crusader, and ground fire brought down a navy reconnaissance plane in the same area.

In all, five American planes were reported lost in the last 24 hours in Viet Nam. The others were an air force F-105 Thunderchief shot down Tuesday 30 miles northeast of Hanoi, an air force F-100 Supersabre hit by Viet Cong ground-fire 75 miles southwest of Saigon today and a C-123 transport downed on a defoliation mission over the south Tuesday.

The crews of both planes lost in South Viet Nam were rescued.

In the ground war, U.S. paratroops and air cavalrymen battled a battalion on the eastern flank of South Viet Nam's strategic Central Highlands for the third day, and a spokesman said the enemy toll had risen to 144 killed.

No major action was reported elsewhere in the south. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky eased his political war against his militant Buddhist opponents by briefly lifting the five-day blockade of Saigon's Buddhist Institute. During the hour's respite, 203 persons quit the encircled compound, but several hundred remained behind.

Child-Chasing Car Cossack Lanced by Court

A Belmont woman who became so angry at some school children she chased them about a school yard in her car was fined $40 in traffic court Tuesday when she was convicted of dangerous driving.

Ida Mae Amos, 182 Virago, was also barred from driving anywhere in Canada for the next two years.

Court was told that on May 22 the accused drove her car over the curb near John Stubbs Memorial School behind a fleeing boy. The car was stopped four feet short of a house and the woman then chased the boy on foot.

A short time later she was seen chasing other boys in the school yard with her car.

There is a power that surpasses all human might. This power is capable of helping man on each step of his journey to eternity. It can calm a troubled heart and lift a weary spirit. For centuries, unbelieving men have denied this power exists... but they have passed on, and the power remains. It is still the hope of a meaningful life for every man.

WHY YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY MORE FOR DAIRY FOODS

Each year, Canada's dairy farmers get a smaller return for their investment and efforts. Increasing costs of operation, equipment and virtually everything a farm needs, plus a very serious shortage of farm labour, are putting dairy farmers out of business at the rate of about 10,000 each year.

Returns to the dairy farmer have not kept pace with increased costs of farm operation.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase to the dairy farmer was only 2 cents per quart for standard homo milk.

Consumer prices of dairy foods have not increased as much as most other food products.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase in home delivered milk (standard homo) was only 5 cents a quart.

Canada's dairy industry is vital to our economic and nutritional health. If dairy foods cost a little more than they used to, they'll still be your best food buy.

MYSTERIOUS BOARDING party of 10 men and a woman seized this pirate station, Radio City, which operates from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, in the Thames estuary, 12 miles off the British coast. The incident occured Monday and became known today shortly before its owner, Reg Calvert, was found slain at the home of another pirate station owner, Maj. William Smedley, who has been charged with murder. (AP Wirephoto.)

11 Raiders Seize Station; Radio City Owner Slain

LONDON (AP)—A leading British politician-businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice-president of the Liberal party and a private radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Smedley, 54, is chairman of Project Atlanta, an organization associated with the pirate radios which broadcast from just outside British waters to evade the government ban on commercial radio broadcasting.

A few hours before police announced Calvert's death, it was learned that a boarding party of 10 men and a girl had taken over his station Monday and were still holding it.

The raiders and the station's seven-man staff stood on the deck of the fort early today and talked to reporters in a tug below. Said one bearded raider:

"We were hired to do a job and we are doing it. After that ask the bosses."

Paul Elvey, electrical engineer in charge of the station, said:

"I was awakened by their torches (flashlights) flashing. I got up and asked 'What the hell is going on?' It looked all set for a right old punch up.

"The raiders had grappling irons and rocket lines. They looked as though they were ready to take us apart.

"There was nothing we could do. They were a tough-looking crowd and it's frightening to have men running all over the place when you don't know what it's all about.

"One of the pirates pushed me, saying, 'We're in charge now.'

"They took the crystals out of the transmitters and we haven't been able to send out a bleep since."

The raiders were believed to have been sent by a businessman claiming to have supplied transmitting equipment to the station.

Calvert bought the station from Screaming Lord Sutch, a pop singer who started it more than a year ago. It was supposed to merge next month with station UKGM (United Kingdom Good Music).

N.B. DOUBLES SALES TAX

FREDERICTON (CP)—A bill doubling New Brunswick's sales tax to six per cent from three per cent received third reading in the legislature Tuesday amid a bellow of nay votes from the Progressive Conservative opposition.

"The people will not swallow this $18,000,000 tax pill," declared Opposition Leader C. B. Sherwood as the opposition voted against final reading for the bill, an amendment to the Social Services and Education Tax Act. It is expected to receive royal assent today.

Premier Louis J. Robichaud said earlier the tax increase will go into effect Jan. 1, along with other major phases of the Liberal government's municipal reform program.

The province raised an estimated $14,500,000 from the three per cent sales tax last year. The six per cent tax is expected to bring in $18,000,000 to $32,000,000.

The tax will be applied to children's clothing and footwear for the first time and the government will pay a rebate of at least $4 a year for each child up to the age of 18 eligible for family allowances.

MARTIN INVOLVED

Hanoi Rejects New Viet Peace Drives

NEW YORK (AP)—The Times says today that North Viet Nam is reported to have rejected a U.S. proposal to open peace talks while both sides reduce military activities in Viet Nam.

Communist officials have told foreign diplomats in Hanoi that the U.S. bid was another "peace offensive fraud" perpetrated by the Johnson administration, the newspaper says in a dispatch from Hong Kong.

The Times dispatch, which quotes reliable reports reaching American sources in Hong Kong, said:

As prerequisite to negotiations, Hanoi is demanding that the United States unconditionally stop bombing North Viet Nam, but the Communist regime is not prepared to commit itself to diminish the number of troops and supplies it sends to the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

HOPE FOR COLLAPSE

"The impression of diplomats stationed in Hanoi is that the North Vietnamese are still determined to prosecute the war, in the hope that the Saigon government will collapse politically or that President Johnson's administration will be compelled to withdraw U.S. troops under pressure from public opinion at home."

The Times says the U.S. offer was conveyed to North Viet Nam through the ambassadorial talks in Warsaw between the United States and China, through Eastern European channels, and presumably, by Chester Ronning, the special Canadian envoy who recently had three days of talks with North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh in Hanoi.

Ronning returned to Ottawa during the weekend and Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy flew to the Canadian capital Tuesday, presumably to be briefed on Ronning's report.

Canadian officials said Bundy met with External Affairs Min-

CO-OPERATION IN SPACE

France, Russia to Sign Agreements

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP)—France and the Soviet Union will sign two agreements next week for co-operation in space and in other scientific fields, high French sources said today.

They said the agreements will be signed by Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Maurice Couve de Murville of France. The decision to sign the two agreements was taken today at a meeting between President Charles de Gaulle and top Soviet leaders.

The French president arrived here Monday and began formal talks in the Kremlin Tuesday.

The French sources said one agreement refers to co-operation in space and the other to scientific and technical co-operation in other fields. They gave no details and refused to say whether the space agreement would involve the launching of a French rocket from a Soviet pad.

It was understood that the two sides in their talks today noted their convergence of views on Vietnamese problems.

Informants said de Gaulle was critical of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, while Soviet Communist chief Leonid Brezhnev accused the United States of savage aggression.

Earlier French sources said differing viewpoints had slowed up the opening round Tuesday.

Today's talks are the last before de Gaulle leaves Thurs-

Negro Riots Hit Florida

Police Stoned; Windows Smashed

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Another mob of about 600 Negroes stormed into the streets of Pompano Beach again today, renewing the riots that broke out here during the night.

"It's started again," said a dispatcher at police headquarters.

The police radio said people were climbing up on tops of cars and that some fist fights had broken out. Rocks were thrown at police.

Earlier today, hundreds of Negroes rioted, throwing rocks and bottles at police, stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set afire and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the over-all damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were three reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes.

The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10 - year - old Negro boy. The store owner, Arthur M. Marks, 42, was charged with assault and battery and released on $50 bond. The boy was unidentified.

IN COURT BEFORE DAWN

Municipal Judge Harry Fischer, called out of bed, held court at 3:30 a.m. for the 24 arrested Negroes and the store owner, Marks. He increased Marks' bond to $500 and ordered him to appear in court next Monday for arraignment on charges of assault and battery.

Twenty-two Negroes charged with unlawful assembly and disorderly conduct were released on bonds of $80 for married men and $160 for single men.

Another Negro, who identified himself as Rev. Ernest Thomas, was released on his own recognizance after claiming to be a part-time preacher. Thomas, a full-time laborer, said he was awakened by the noise of the riot, went outside to investigate and was arrested.

There has been occasional rock throwing in this area, but the riot was the first serious trouble. There are huge vegetable farms in the vicinity and Negro laborers make up a large percentage of the population.

Muttering crowds gathered at the store at closing time and the owner asked for police protection. Civic leaders asked the Negroes to leave. Most did, only to return later.

The crowd grew to 600 late in the evening and the mood worsened as the number of police grew.

Teen - agers jeered officers, cracked jokes and swigged soft drinks, pitching the bottles at passing cars when they finished.

By midnight, a six-block section of the main street, Hammondville Road, was solid with patrol cars, their red and blue lights flashing.

Reinforcements from the highway patrol, the sheriff's office and the Fort Lauderdale riot squad built the police force to 100.

The serious trouble began when the officers were given the order to break up the crowds.

"Go home before you get hurt," officers yelled from beneath the plastic face masks on their riot helmets.

As police moved in with billy clubs and tear gas guns ready, the Negroes disappeared into the shadows of the dimly lit street. Then a shower of rocks and bottles sailed out of the darkness.

He will succeed Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, 58, right, head of the defence staff since it was integrated Aug. 1, 1964, who will retire. Gen. Allard, a native of Quebec, will be the first French-speaking defence chief in Canada's history. He will be promoted to general when he takes over command.

Viet Withdrawal Not Vital to Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government said today it is not insistent on the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam as a precondition for an agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons' ownership.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the Soviet Union has never made an American troop withdrawal a prerequisite for an agreement.

It said American news agencies had put such an interpretation on a speech made in Geneva, Switzerland, June 4 by the chief Soviet delegate to the disarmament conference, Alexei Roshchin.

National Crisis Stage in Britain

LONDON (CP) — Britain's maritime strike has brought the country to a state of national crisis, Prime Minister Wilson told Parliament today. The strike is in its 38th day.

Wilson was explaining the government's use of emergency powers in 12 major ports to relieve congestion and keep exports moving.

At the same time, he promised to back up, in a statement to the House of Commons next week, his charges Monday that an exclusive group is putting pressure on leaders of the National Union of Seamen to keep the strike going. It has been assumed almost universally that Wilson was pointing the finger at British Communists.

The government took its first action under emergency powers today by setting up emergency committees at 12 ports to ensure the movement of essential supplies.

The committees' powers initially will be confined to diversion of ships from one port to another to ease growing congestion caused by the seamen's strike.

The emergency powers, assumed by the government a month ago to deal with effects of the strike, expire at midnight tonight. But Prime Minister Wilson has announced he will seek their extension today, with slight technical modifications.

RCMP Raid SIU Offices

MONTREAL (UPI) — RCMP investigators, armed with a court order, today entered Montreal offices of the Seafarers International Union, seizing records and searching other union papers.

Superintendent J. R. R. Carriere said the dozen plainclothesmen "were making an investigation into a certain matter" of the union. He refused to elaborate, but indicated other SIU locals also may be involved in the probe.

Negro Area Closed Off After White Man Wounded

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) A small Negro neighborhood where Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire Tuesday night remained closed to outsiders today.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price said the area was closed to the press and other non-residents. Price said it was uncertain how long the restriction would continue. First reports had been that the off-limits restriction would be lifted at daybreak today.

"We're not going to have any more of this shooting on either side," Price said.

Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the headquarters of the Freedom Democratic party, a Negro organization.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital and sent home.

Negroes inside the headquarters relayed a report to their offices that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them. They said they returned the fire and thought they hit at least two cars.

At Yazoo City, Dr. Martin Luther King said he would lead the Mississippi civil rights marchers back to Philadelphia armed with "the ammunition of justice . . . the armor of righteousness." A King aide said they probably would return to Philadelphia Thursday.

A hostile crowd of cursing whites hurled firecrackers and insults at King Tuesday when he stood on the Neshoba County courthouse steps here.

It was to commemorate the second anniversary of the slayings of civil rights workers James Chaney, Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner that King came to Philadelphia Tuesday with a contingent from the group continuing the march through Mississippi begun by James H. Meredith.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price—one of the 17 men the federal government claims participated in the slayings of Chaney, Goodman and Schwerner June 21, 1964—tried to block King from mounting the courthouse steps.

"I'm not afraid of any man," King shouted as the heckling and disorder mounted. "Before I will be a slave, I will be dead in my grave."

"We'll help you," screamed several white men.

NEW YORK—They say you can judge a woman by the company she keeps. And for that reason, Zsa Zsa Gabor is glad she was snubbed by the social register.

ZSA ZSA

"I'm delighted they didn't include me," the Hungarian-born actress said when informed she received the cold shoulder in the summer edition of the publication.

"If people knew some of the things I know about women in the social register," she said, "they wouldn't be listed either.

"At least I marry the men I have love affairs with. Some of the social females in the register don't bother to marry their lovers."

The summer edition of the register took no notice of Miss Gabor's recent marriage to Joshua Cosden, a listee in the New York edition of the register who now lives in Dallas.

The summer register normally lists all marriages of listees during the preceding six months. Failure to take note of such marriages usually means the couple will not receive a future listing.

VANCOUVER — The first male residence at the multi-million dollar Simon Fraser University, which opened only last September, has been stolen.

Donald Koenig, a first-year science student, reported the loss of his tent Tuesday.

Koenig said he had been living in the tent hidden in the bushes near the university, built atop nearby Burnaby Mountain.

He "had a ball" living in the bush and attending classes, he said. He estimated the cost of his living at about $1 a day, including meals.

"I definitely recommend camping for students. I hope we can get a regular camp going."

MOSCOW—A Russian dog has survived two and a half years with a transplanted hind leg, it was announced today.

But the leg is furless and too weak to stand on, due to "biological incompatibility of tissues," scientists said. They added, however, that it is still "alive," with blood circulation and nerve sensitivity.

The dog, Bratik (little brother), is believed to have lived longer with a transplanted limb than any other being.

Although scientists stressed that the experiment cannot be tried on humans yet, its partial success appeared to bring closer the day when human transplants can be made.

HALIFAX — Alan Ruffman, an oceanographer who used the ocean to find a wife, said Tuesday he was surprised his novel way of proposing succeeded—but he's going ahead with the marriage anyway.

Alan, a 26-year-old Richmond Hill, Ont., native studying at Dalhousie University, dropped four bottles into the sea last year while working aboard a ship in Hudson Bay.

All contained letters proposing marriage to Linda Christiansen of Mamaroneck, N.Y., working toward a doctorate in sociology at Columbia University in New York.

One of the bottles turned up 11 months later at Cornwall in England, where it was found by Elizabeth Singleton, wife of a Birmingham architect. She passed it on to Linda and received letters June 13 from Alan and Linda saying they were to be married.

NEW CONCORD, Ohio — The mail brought relief, a smile, and tears for Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Boetcher.

The couple, who live near here, received a letter Tuesday from their son, Marine Lance Cpl. Harold E. Boetcher, 19, stationed in Viet Nam.

"I'll be going on an operation," he told them. "It's a pretty good one."

Another letter was from his local draft board, asking his whereabouts and saying he was suspected of dodging induction.

Later, the couple was notified by the defence department that Boetcher had been killed Monday at Chu Lai.

TOKYO—A search by a Honolulu organization for eligible brides has turned up a virtual bonanza in Hiroshima.

James C. Nishi, a prominent Honolulu businessman, contacted Hiroshima officials earlier this month in an attempt to find brides for bachelor members of a Japanese-American organization in Hawaii.

The city officials turned the assignment over to the Hiroshima tourist bureau and the bureau has been swamped with calls, letters and telegrams from eager females ever since.

ARLINGTON, Va.—Bathroom windows in the public health service's rented quarters here are supposed to let those inside look out but keep outsiders from looking in. Employees were embarrassed to discover Tuesday the one-way glass had been installed backwards.

ALDERMAN ASKS STUDY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alderman Reg Atherton said Tuesday there is "feather-bedding" among civic outside workers staff. He recommended a study be made of the efficiency of the 1,500-member staff as well as a review of city services like garbage collecting and street cleaning. His comments came the day the workers returned to their jobs after a 44-day strike.

Murder, Kidnapping Charge in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—A race-track worker was arraigned Tuesday on first-degree murder and kidnapping charges in the shooting death in Renton of Glen S. McDonald, 42, of Port Angeles and Renton, a Longacres owner-trainer.

The worker, Jay T. Elkins, 23, Bothell, was arrested shortly after the Monday shooting. Elkins is charged with McDonald's death and kidnapping Lawrence Verle Frantz, a cab driver.

FIRST CALL with Bowlks

"Oh, dear . . . !"

New Ferry Staff Association Stays Silent

The newly-formed B.C. Ferry Authority Employees Association held a three-hour meeting in Victoria Tuesday.

The only statement issued afterwards said another meeting will be held in Vancouver later today.

Thirty-three representatives of the 500 unlicensed personnel aboard B.C. Ferries attended the meeting, sparked by the employees' rejection of a report last week recommending improved working conditions.

The report was accepted by the cabinet but there has been no comment on the employees' rejection and their call for full collective bargaining rights.

Dominicans Seek Troop Withdrawal

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican government is seeking an urgent meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers to set the date for the inter-American peace force to start leaving.

Official sources said Foreign Minister Carlos Federico Perez summoned the Latin American diplomatic corps Tuesday night to ask for a meeting in Washington Friday for the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic sources expressed doubt the ministers could or would meet on such short notice. They believed that Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy knew this but wanted to put his effort on the record.

The decision by the provisional government was believed to have the approval of President-elect Joaquin Balaguer.

The six-nation peace force was created in May, 1965, by the foreign ministers of the OAS after the United States sent 18,000 troops to the Dominican Republic to stop the April, 1965, rebellion. The United States has about 6,800 men in the force, and there are about 1,200 Latin Americans.

It is known that Balaguer is not anxious for full immediate withdrawal of the force.

Rotary Giving Cardioscope To Royal Jubilee

A $1,066 cheque to purchase a cardioscope unit for Royal Jubilee Hospital will be presented to hospital administrator George Masters Thursday by Victoria Rotary Club.

The money, to be turned over at the club's annual installation meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel ballroom, was raised as one of several club projects this year.

At the same meeting the club gavel will be presented to incoming president Dr. Carron Jameson by this year's president Jack Housez. Dr. Jameson takes office July 1.

ister Paul Martin Tuesday night, but would not say what was discussed or who else attended the meeting.

Martin told the House of Commons Tuesday that Canada is involved in Ottawa "and elsewhere" in discussions with other governments on the Viet Nam situation. In a message to a convention in Honey Harbour, Ont., he said that his government was carrying out "quiet soundings" to find a basis for a negotiated peace.

WON'T STATE STAND

Martin declined to say whether Canada supports proposals by UN Secretary-General U Thant that bombing raids be scaled down toward a ceasefire and that all sides actually fighting agree to enter into direct discussions.

He said he discussed these proposals with Thant two weeks ago but felt that it would not help current diplomatic efforts if Canada took a public position on them.

Canada, with India and Poland, is a member of the International Control Commission assigned to Viet Nam by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina.

Meanwhile, it was announced in New York that Thant plans to visit Moscow this summer, probably before the general assembly meets Sept. 20. The Viet Nam war is one of the topics he is expected to discuss with Soviet leaders.

day on a week's tour of four Soviet cities. He will meet once more with the Kremlin leaders in formal talks after returning to Moscow June 29.

The French informant said of Tuesday's conference, "When we talked about detente, they talked about security."

This was understood to apply to de Gaulle's suggestion that other West European states, notably West Germany, hold bilateral talks with the Russians to ease East-West tension in Europe.

The Russians replied that East bloc security was the paramount consideration for them.

HEADS TEAM

Once again today the Russian team was headed by Communist Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev.

The French source said, "when they talk to us about a European conference we reply that this must be an end, not a beginning."

This was a reference to a proposal by Gromyko in April in Rome. He called for a conference of states of Eastern and Western Europe on security questions. His proposed parley would exclude the United States.

It has been opposed in the West, notably in West Germany, because of this exclusion.

The French have said they favor such a conference but have left the question of U.S. participation vague, saying the United States should play its proper role.

There is also a problem of what voice East Germany should have in such a conference. The Russians are expected to insist on a full vote for East Germany.

The French have said East Germany should be included, but not with a full vote.

U.K. Press Demands PM Name Names

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson today received a curt invitation from British newspapers to name the men he says are behind the seamen's strike.

The Sun, which generally supports Wilson's Labor government, says in an editorial Wilson was right in arranging briefings for Tory Leader Edward Heath on the strike Tuesday and today.

"But why should it be confined to him?" asks The Sun.

"The prime minister should tell Parliament — and through Parliament, the nation and the seamen—what the evidence is for his grave charges.

SHOULD POINT

Wilson should "point the finger at the men he has in mind," says the Conservative Daily Express.

"If, on reflection, he finds that the testimony falls short of proof, then he should say so."

Outdoor Lesson For 50 Pupils

A party of 50 pupils from Keating Elementary School will receive on-the-spot nature lessons when they visit Francis Nature Park, Munn Road, on Friday at 10 a.m.

They will be taken on a conducted tour of the trails where they will be shown native plant and ferns.

They will also visit the nature house with its live exhibits of snakes, mice, insects and spiders.

The tour will be conducted by naturalist Freeman King and Nancy Chapman, University of Victoria biology student.

Two in Helicopter Down in North B.C.

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—RCAF planes from Winnipeg and Comox searched today for a helicopter with two men aboard in northeastern B.C. The two-passenger Hiller Helicopter, owned by Okanagan Helicopters, was reported overdue Tuesday night on a two-hour, 15-minute flight from here to a camp 180 miles northeast.

On board were pilot Paul Csupor of Toronto and engineer Wally Boyle of Burnaby, B.C.

NATO COMMANDS

France Withdraws 1,700 Personnel

PARIS (Reuters)—More than 1,700 French military personnel already are withdrawing from NATO commands in France in line with France's decision to quit the alliance's integrated military system July 1.

NATO sources said today the withdrawal had already begun in Allied Forces Central Europe (AFCENT), to which the majority of the French personnel are attached.

Sources said French officers at the headquarters at Fontainebleau, about 40 miles from Paris, formally eased duties Monday in preparation for returning to purely French posts.

AFCENT, whose responsibility until July 1 includes France's 70,000 troops and 60 combat aircraft stationed in West Germany, has hitherto had 1,700 French military out of a total strength of about 5,000.

Under agreement with France, however, about 30 French personnel of all categories will remain with AFCENT until Oct. 1 to assist in the transition.

At Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE) 60 officers and 70 other ranks formally cease their duties July 1, when France will automatically be excluded from all military planning and training within the integrated commands.

Countries represented in AFCENT are Canada, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Britain and the United States.
